TWENTY YEARS STANDING

CURED.

Below will be found a certificate from one of the most respectable citizens of Wilkins township in regard to Dr. Keyser's Lindsay' Blood Searcher. The Doctor's certificates are within reach, and no one need be deceived in regard to his preparations. Dr. Geo. H. KEYSER :-- I became afficted with Piles about twenty years ago, and every year they were growing worse, so as to trouble me very much, so much so at times as to unfit me or work. Sometimes I was so bad that I could not do anything on account of them, they came HAVING BOUGHT OUR GOODS out on me as large as-a hickory nut. I had tried a great deal of medicine for them. I used to buy any where in the East, a large and well ass and take whatever I could hear of or read of in stock of seasonable circulars and pamphlets that fell in my way, but me some good for a little while, but afterwards they would return again as bad as ever. I also applied to two Doctors who visited me at my Bugle Gimps, Silk Tassels, Ornaments, Vells, house and gave me some medicine but it would not do. I could not get well. Over a year ago Bugie Crimps, SMX Trassers, Ornaments, 1cm, 1et. Stilk and Bugie Dress Buttons, a very good assortment of Searcher, made by yourself-when you sold it to me you told me one bottle would not cure me, and that my whole system would have to be renewed by the medicine before I got well. I Umbrellas, Gentlemen's Furnishing Goods, and the largest and best Stock of Fancy Goods, bought one bottle and took it home with me and used it according to your directions. I then call ed to see you again, when you said I could no expect much beneat from one bottle. I bought it on, one bottle at a time, until I had used fly bottles. After this quantity had been used, I was entirely well of the Piles, which had tortured me for twenty years. In other respects my health, is improved, and I am as well as could be expected for one of my age, being sixty years past. I have been well now for six months, and hare is nosppearance of a return of the disease; Lean to any kind of farming work now without the Piles coming down and hurting me. I can pitch hay, chop wood, lift, or do any kind of work which before used to hurt me. When I found our your Blood-Searcher I kept on taking it until I got entirely well. I consider it my dubenefit of others who may be suffering as I was and do not know the value of your medicine. You may publish this if you like—I live in Wilkins | Tobbasto, and will be pleased to satisfy any one of the truth of this certificate if they wish to call December 28th, 1865

A veto, is a legitimate exercise of authority conferred by the Constitution; but a veto, when the two houses do not over-rule it, is supposed merely to arrest the action intended by Congress, not to substitute the will of the executive for the joint will of the Senate, House, and President, as Mr. Lincoln assumes to do by this as the civil claw covers the world was the civil claw. strange proceeding. The subject matter of the bill which Mr. Lincoln refuses to sign, is clearly within the domain of the legislative department of the government. Mr. Lucoln himself virtually admits that Congress has power to prescribe the method of reconstruction. By what right, then, does he not assume merely arrest the will of the two houses (which he may,) but to substitute his single will in such a way as to clothe himself with the whole legislative authority? Gentlemen may think that Democratic newspapers should be restrained. be-cause stringent criticism upon the Adment of the government. Congress proval of the President's unauthorized reconstruction measures, and he proclaims to the country his purpose to persist in those measures in defiance of their disapproval.

Mr. Lincoln does worse even than this, he superadds insult to usurpation. After vetoing an act of the two houses by communicating his objections, not to them, as the Constitution requires, but to the country (which looks like a supercilious appeal from the agent to the principal,) he graciously condescends to adopt the pian of Congress in States where it may not interfere with his own, and where the people may chance to prefer it. That is to say, that while it shall have no force anywhere as being the will of Congress, it may prevail in some States as having the permission of the executive. It is a bad plan, why does he permit its adoption at all? If it is a good plan, why does he veto it? Whether it be bad or good, what right has he to substitute a different and inconsistent one which the representatives of the people have offile.

We deny that the policy and atms of the new construction players of permits and plancy of leemocratic plants and time of that this cause the promocratic plants and inconsistent one which the representatives of the proclaims the promocratic plants and inconsistent one which the result of the promocratic plants and inconsistent one which the removation of safety or restore the Union, at all? wars and struggling factions. If now we trample on the counsels of Hashington—disregard the examples of the better days of the republic—over-throw the Constitution and allow a dominant party to suppress by power everything adverse to their views, and tending, as they may sincerely believe, to injure the country, then our republic's history will show but a desperate straggle of fierce and bloody factions—to-day Democratic journals are suppressed by Democratic journals are suppressed, but to morrow the abolition sheets will be silenced, and thus we sink to a tumultu-ous and bloody anarchy.

stride loward despotism. To partially permit as an act of concession what Congress had commanded as a general law, is of a piece with Cromwell's driving out Parliament at the point of the bayonet. The mildness of the method merely marks the difference between a man of cunning and a man of courage. If Mr. Lincoln is so independent of Congress that the two houses cannot obstruct his will, Congress has ceased to be anything but a sham. His virtual veto is nothing; but his persistence in his own unauthorized plan when Congress has condemned it, and his affecting to permit on his authority, in some cases, what Congress intended to command, in all cases, on their authority, are ominous indications of the determination of Mr. Lincoln to release himself from all congressional, as he has already done from all constitutional control of the whole country would have been spared the terrible sacrifice of thirty or forty thousand large the country would have been spared the terrible sacrificed of the whole country would have been spared the terrible sacrificed of thirty or forty thousand of her most gallant citizens and an incalculable amount of property.

The next most extraordinary thing to work up Lincoln's electoral vote, was bringing into our Union of States, several Territories,—none of them with a population as large as a New York ward—whereby, such great states as New York, Pennsylvania and Obio were to be equalized in the United States Senate with these now unsetled Territories, which
