

The Daily Post.

PITTSBURGH: WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 20, 1864. FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND MORE.

PITTSBURGH: WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 20, 1864. FIVE HUNDRED THOUSAND MORE.

Grant Doesn't Want Another Man.

It is scarcely a month since our popular President, in a vein of meeting hilarity, announced to the Union Leagues of Philadelphia that he had just returned from visiting our Virginia army, which he found in admirable condition; the rebel capital, he assured his hearers, was about to fall, and Grant's army was being re-organized, and he had a splendid army of men...

Abolitionists.

The Black Republican journals, for the last two years, have rarely alluded to the Union or dwelt upon the prospect of its reconstruction, or upon the political relationship that formerly existed between the two nations, and have now ceased almost entirely, but allusions to slavery have become more frequent and more im-

The Necessity Still Existing.

There is danger now that the fear of a rebel invasion is over, that the people are being lulled into their former indifference or apathy, only to be aroused again by another sense of danger, spasmodic efforts like those of late, but not in earnest, steady, persistent effort, exerted in the future, will be necessary to bring about the permanent abolition of slavery.

A Specimen of Abolitionists.

The Gazette of this city is a very fair specimen of genuine Abolitionism, being an admixture of malignity and falsehood. On Saturday it said that: "It is a fact worthy to be placed on record, and to be remembered, that on the 19th of the present month, the rebels in Maryland and the district of Columbia, had a single captured letter in this State which was addressed to the call for volunteers to the army."

Every day we receive new accounts explaining the manner in which Gen. Franklin was captured.

At first it was a lady who betrayed him, then it was reported that Gen. Franklin himself declared who he was the guerrillas and that it is stated on reliable authority that the General denies all this, and that he was pointed out by a disguised confederate officer. Which account shall we believe?

Politeness is the outer garment of good will.

A JOKE.

Our interesting neighbor, the Comar, sending to Maximilian, the new Emperor of prostrated Mexico, in the following bit of jocular Administration:

It is my duty to appoint a minister to the United States, but in doing so I am obliged to select a man who will bring with him the people who are so much in need of the country. Let the Mexican Republic send me a man who will bring with him the people who are so much in need of the country.

This is pretty good, after what we have seen of the Administration's conduct regarding Mexico.

Alluding to the resolution passed unanimously by Congress, against the erection of a monument in Mexico, the Administration would not heed it. And even though the President, in his letter accepting the nomination, took exceptions to the part of the platform which condemns the usurpation of Napoleon in Mexico. In view of these facts our neighbor must be poking fun at us readers when it talks about being "plunked" in Washington.

Grant Doesn't Want Another Man.

It is scarcely a month since our popular President, in a vein of meeting hilarity, announced to the Union Leagues of Philadelphia that he had just returned from visiting our Virginia army, which he found in admirable condition; the rebel capital, he assured his hearers, was about to fall, and Grant's army was being re-organized, and he had a splendid army of men...

Abolitionists.

The Black Republican journals, for the last two years, have rarely alluded to the Union or dwelt upon the prospect of its reconstruction, or upon the political relationship that formerly existed between the two nations, and have now ceased almost entirely, but allusions to slavery have become more frequent and more im-

The Necessity Still Existing.

There is danger now that the fear of a rebel invasion is over, that the people are being lulled into their former indifference or apathy, only to be aroused again by another sense of danger, spasmodic efforts like those of late, but not in earnest, steady, persistent effort, exerted in the future, will be necessary to bring about the permanent abolition of slavery.

A Specimen of Abolitionists.

The Gazette of this city is a very fair specimen of genuine Abolitionism, being an admixture of malignity and falsehood. On Saturday it said that: "It is a fact worthy to be placed on record, and to be remembered, that on the 19th of the present month, the rebels in Maryland and the district of Columbia, had a single captured letter in this State which was addressed to the call for volunteers to the army."

Every day we receive new accounts explaining the manner in which Gen. Franklin was captured.

At first it was a lady who betrayed him, then it was reported that Gen. Franklin himself declared who he was the guerrillas and that it is stated on reliable authority that the General denies all this, and that he was pointed out by a disguised confederate officer. Which account shall we believe?

Politeness is the outer garment of good will.

MACAULAY'S DESCRIPTION OF THE PURITANS.

A brilliant and life-like picture. From the first volume of Macaulay's History of England.

They mistook their own vindictive feelings for emotions of religion. They were not so much religious as hypocrites. They were not so much hypocrites as Pharisees. They were not so much Pharisees as hypocrites. They were not so much hypocrites as Pharisees. They were not so much Pharisees as hypocrites.

England and Denmark.

The determination of the Palmetto Cabinet not to give any assistance, except "mild sympathy," to Denmark in its war with Prussia, is a notable feature of the case, and of course, is simply this, that in 1852 Lord Palmerston negotiated a treaty whereby the succession to the throne of Denmark should be peacefully provided for, that Lord Granville and Lord Malmstrey, as foreign ministers in that year, each "plunked" in the eye of his successor, Prince Christian of Glücksburg, that there was a question of the rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

England and Denmark.

The determination of the Palmetto Cabinet not to give any assistance, except "mild sympathy," to Denmark in its war with Prussia, is a notable feature of the case, and of course, is simply this, that in 1852 Lord Palmerston negotiated a treaty whereby the succession to the throne of Denmark should be peacefully provided for, that Lord Granville and Lord Malmstrey, as foreign ministers in that year, each "plunked" in the eye of his successor, Prince Christian of Glücksburg, that there was a question of the rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

THE PRINCIPLE OF DENYING RIGHTS.

The rights of the House of Ansburg to the Duchy of Holstein, that right was committed for a pecuniary indemnity to the Duke of Ansburg, but that right had been in rebellion against the King of Denmark upon a former occasion, and his estates having been confiscated, the value of those estates was to be paid to the Duke of Ansburg by the King of Denmark.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

Advertisement for Sewing Machines, featuring the Grover & Baker Sewing Machine.

TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS. TO-DAY'S ADVERTISEMENTS.