PILES OF

TWENTY YEARS STANDING

CURED.

Below will be found a certificate from one of the most respectable citizens of Wilkins township in regard to Dr. Keyser's Lindsay' Blood Searcher. The Doctor's certificates are within reach, and no one need be deceived in regard to his preparations.

DR. GEO. H. KEYSER:—I became afflicted with Piles about twenty years ago, and every year they were growing worse, so as to trouble me very much, so much, so at times as to unfit me or work. Sometimes I was so bad that I could not do anything on account of them, they came out on me as large as a hickory nut. I had tried a great deal of medicine for them. I used to buy and take whatever I could hear of or read of in circulars and pamphlets that fell in my way, but I could not get cured, sometimes they would do me some good for a little while, but afterwards they would return again as bad as ever. I also applied to two Doctors who visited me at my house and gave me some medicine but it would not do, I could not get well. Over a year ago I got an advertisement of your Lindsay's Blood-Searcher, made by yourself—when you sold it to me you told me one bottle would not cure me, and that my whole system would have to be renewed by the medicine before I got well. I bought one bottle and took it home with me and used it according to your directions. I then called to see you again, when you said I could n expect much benefit from one bottle. I bought it on, one bottle at a time, until I had used fiv bottles. After this quantity had been used, I was entirely well of the Piles, which had tortured me for twenty years. In other respects my health is improved, and I am as well as could be expected for one of my age, being sixty years past. I have been well now for six months, and there is noappearance of a return of the disease; I can do any kind of farming work now without the Piles coming down and hurting me. I can pitch hay, chop wood, lift, or do any kind of work which before used to hurt me. When I found out your Blood-Searcher I kept on taking it until I got entirely well. I consider it my duty to make my case known to the country for the benefit of others who may be suffering as I was and do not know the value of your medicine. You may publish this if you like—I live in Wilkins Township, and will be pleased to satisfy any one of the truth of this certificate if they wish to call

December, 24th, 1863.

☞Look out the name of DR. GEORGE H. KEYSER on the cover of the bottle and pasted over the cork; also for his stamp on the United States stamp on the top of the bottle to prevent being imposed upon by a spurious article which is in the market.

NOTICE TO ALL CONCERNED.—Among a certain class of self-important people there is a peculiar feeling of contempt attached to all physicians that advertise and treat diseases named in this card, (PRIVATE DISEASES,) why, they should be; they not no one else can tell. Are they not aware that all physicians treat diseases of every denomination, in fact solicit just the very diseases that are so obnoxious to these very refined parties. I suppose they would not let one of their family go to a party that had devoted years for their benefit, because he advertises the fact, and their family physician says he is a humbug so he can get the case. Office by line almost deprived the party of his life. He comes at last to the physician that advertises—how else are they to know? Are they not aware that Sir Astley Cooper, Sir Benjamin Brodie, Sir Charles Ball and M. Paul Ricord devoted years in the treatment of these diseases? These men are held up as shining lights in the medical world. I don't assert that all men are worthy that publish, still there are a great number of them that are. I have devoted myself to the study and treatment of PRIVATE DISEASES upwards of 46 years, and without egotism can say I have saved hundreds from years of misery and untimely death. My treatment is confined to the vegetable alterative as I think it is the best and most certain. It is in my power to bring hundreds of certificates if I thought it necessary to certify to my several successes; but my long residence in this city is sufficient proof without adding more. Specifics, chemicals and all diseases arising from the same cured in a much shorter time than heretofore. It is to be hoped every young man and woman to be careful in selecting a physician. The different advertisements that are seen in our papers are of no worth, and no benefit will arise from answers than only loss of health and money. Hundreds are cured annually by my new remedies. Extracts from the Speech of the Hon. John Law, of Indiana, and Delivered in the House of Representatives, July 1st, 1864.

Connected with this subject I have been treating Kentucky and her loyalty as a State within the Union, I wish to say a few words in reference to a charge made by H. J. Raymond, esq., one of the editors of the "New York Times," in a work recently published by him, entitled "President Lincoln's Administration," in which, with a view of aiding Mr. Lincoln, and damaging General McClellan, he makes in a few lines in the appendix to his work, these covert remarks—noticed hereafter—wholly uncalled for, and in my judgment wholly untrue. I have the slightest acquaintance, sir, with General McClellan. I doubt whether I should know him were I to meet him on the avenue. His father, Dr. George McClellan, of Philadelphia, and myself were educated together at Yale, we were bosom friends, until the day of his death. We started in life professionally at the same time. He was a surgeon and physician, I a lawyer. We went to Philadelphia together in the fall of 1872; he remained there to practice his profession, in which he became pre-eminent, while I followed the "Star of Empire," west. It is due to his memory dead, as it is to his son living, who appears to inherit the best qualities of his ancestor, that I should endeavor to show the accusation made against General McClellan false in every particular. What is the charge? I give it as it is written in the book. "General McClellan, while in command of the Department of the Ohio, had entered into an agreement with General Buckner, by which the substantial neutrality of that State was recognized and respected." Buckner, in June, 1861, professed to be a loyal man, his letter in reference to General McClellan's proposition was addressed to the Governor of Kentucky, June 10th, 1861, Buckner now is a traitor, as he probably was in 1861, a hypocrite-false to his State which trusted and honored him, as to his country which he betrayed. He does not profess to show a scrap of memorandum or writing entered into with General McClellan on this most important arrangement by which the "substantial neutrality" of Kentucky was to be "recognized and respected;" while on the other hand, General McClellan in a letter which was addressed to a naval officer in Cincinnati, dated June 26, 1861, (published in the Cincinnati papers, and which Mr. Raymond must have seen at the time he penned the remarks alluded to), expressly and emphatically denies the charge made by Buckner. Which of them should we believe? A man who is the "soul of honor," whose character for truth and veracity never has been impeached, or the double-dyed traitor who made the charge. I leave it to every honorable member of the House to say. Sir, without reference to General McClellan's political opinions, or the position which his friends in several states of the Union have thought proper to place him, with regard to the presidential election in November, but simply as a military man, I think great injustice has been done him.

The battles of "Malvern Hills," "South Mountain," and "Antietam" prove his conduct and courage as a commander beyond all question. Never was there a greater truth expressed than at the close of his campaign when superseded he said, speaking of the conduct of his troops, "no man can justly charge upon any portion of that army from the commanding general to the private, any lack of devotion to the service of the United States government, and the cause of the Constitution and the Union. They have proved their fealty in much sorrow suffering, danger, and through the very shadow of death. Their comrades dead on all the fields where they fought, have scarcely more claim to the honor of a nations reverence than their survivors to the justice of a nation's gratitude."

Sir, I ask, but ask in vain, why has not that justice been awarded them? Faction, fanaticism, folly, seem to have ruled the Administration, and simple justice, all that was asked for, was denied to these brave men and their leader. When his military qualifications were called in question, General McClellan might answer his accusers in the language which Shakespeare, in the play of "Troilus and Cressida," put in the mouth of Ulysses, in reply to Nestor at the siege of Troy, who informs him that Ajax "grows self will'd," all his (Ulysses') mode of carrying on the war, "bold as an oracle;" and Thersites, "a slave whose gall coins slanders like a mint," joins in the abuse of him. Might not General McClellan make the same reply to these modern "Thersites," hounded as they are by their masters "to coin slanders like a mint" against him, as Ulysses does—

"They tax our policy, and call it cowardice!
Count wisdom as no member of the war;
Forestall prescience, and esteem no act
But that of hand: the still and mental parts
That do contrive, how many hands shall strike
When fitness calls them on! and know by measure
Of their observant toil the enemy's weight,
Why, this hand lies!
They call this bed-work, mappery, closet war,
So that his ramm that batters down the wall
For the great swing and rudeness of his poise
They place before his hand that made the engine!
Or those that with the fineness of their soule
By reason guide, his execution."

Sir, there is one consolation; if the present Administration will not do him and his noble and gallant followers justice for their gallantry, courage, and skill in the campaign in Virginia in 1862, his country will.

"For more true joy, Marcellus exiled feels
Than Cæsar with a senate at his heels."

* * * * Sir: I have heard the cry here and elsewhere, from the hangers-on of the government, from the "shoddy contractors," from those who are making fortunes out of this internecine contest, that the Democratic party were disloyal to the government, sympathizers with the rebels, and other opprobrious phrases too low and vulgar for repetition. But let me ask, sir, if this is so, what chance have you of subduing the South? The election of 1860 shows that there were a million and a half of Democratic votes given in the Union States in that year—a pretty good nucleus to rally around in 1864. Take the Democratic young men who are fighting the battles of the country out of the field, and how large an army would you have in it? Your defeat would be as certain as fate. Burke said, and with great truth, "You cannot draw an indictment against a whole people." I care not what is said here or elsewhere, history, past and present, teaches the fact that the Democratic party now, as at all times, have been loyal to the government of the country. They will, as is their right to do, argue the question whether the war might not have been prevented by a settlement upon terms fair and honorable to both parties before its commencement. They may, and they will, argue the question whether the policy of the administration has been right or wrong in carrying it on. It is right and proper they should do so; none but a despot would prevent it.

Sir, it is said, by way of sneering at the loyalty of the Democratic party, by those who never "put foot in the tented field," and never mean to as long as they can cheat the government out of money enough to procure a substitute, that the Democratic party is the "peace party" of the country, while they will "spend the last dollar, sacrifice the last man, die in the last ditch," to put down this "accursed rebellion." They are for war, "war to the knife, the knife to the hilt."

When Cato called his little senate together at Utica, at a time when Cæsar was marching upon the city, the fiery Semphronius proclaimed in ferocious and indignant eloquence, such as we frequently hear in this hall:

"My voice is still for war!
Gods! can a Roman Senate long debate,
Which of the two to chose—slavery or death?
No, let us rise at once, gird on our swards,
And at the head of our remaining troops
Attack the foe, break through the thick array
Of his thronged legions, and charge home upon him,
Perhaps some arm more potent than the rest,
May strike his heart, and free the world from bondage."

The conservative Lucius replied, "my thoughts I must confess, are turned on peace." This counsel of Lucius was the especial object of the warrior's indignation. The "loyal" Semphronius, who "seemed to submit to mediation," and could not brook the idea of peace, whispered in Cato's ear, "beware of Lucius, he is a traitor." The very next night, Semphronius deserted Cato, and joined Cæsar, while Lucius, the advocate of peace, remained, and bravely fought for the liberties of Rome. There is a moral in this, "that the wayfaring man, though a fool, cannot misunderstand." Instead of being the "enemies of their government," as their enemies charge, they are its truest and best friends. Errors may and will be avoided where reason is left free to combat them." The worst and most violent enemies of the government, are those who blindly and willfully "throw up their caps and cry, long live King Richard," who blindly and willfully yield to the "sic volo, sic jubeo," of presidents or kings.

Sir, I know full well the effect of power and patronage wielded as it is in a government like ours. I have seen its effects, they are apparent in those who "crook the pregnant hinges of the knee that thrift might follow fawning." Sir, no party that ever existed but the Democratic party, could stand the recreancy and renegadism of the men to whom they "have given power and wealth, who are now their worst enemies, and most bitter defamers. We need not go out of the ten miles square which makes this District, to furnish more than one example.
