GLAD NEWS FOR THE UNFORTUNATE!
THE LONG SOUGHT FOR DISCOVERED AT LAST.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, AND
CHEROKEE INJECTION

Compounded from Roots, Barks and Leaves.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuretic, cures all diseases of the urinary organs, such as Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of the Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Stone in the Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, Gleet, Gonorrhœa, and is especially recommended in those cases of Fluor Albus (or Whites in females) where all the old nauseous medicines have failed.

☞It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two teaspoonfuls three times a day.

☞This diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intended as an ally or assistant to the Cherokee Remedy, and should be used in conjunction with it in all cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleet, or Albus or Whites. Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat, chordee and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack Injections.

☞By the use of the Cherokee Remedy and Cherokee Injection—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

☞For full particulars get our pamphlet from any drug store in the country, or write to us and we will mail free to any address a full treatise.

☞Price Cherokee Remedy, $2 per bottle or three bottles for $5.

☞Price Cherokee Injection, 50 per bottle, or three bottles for $5.

☞Sent by Express to any address on receipt of price.

☞Sold by all druggists everywhere.

☞This medicine is a simple vegetable extract, and one on which all can rely, as it has been used in our practice for many years, and with thousands treated, it has not failed in a single instance. Its curative powers have been sufficient to gain victory over the most stubborn case.

☞To those who have trifled with their constitution, until they think themselves beyond the reach of medical aid, we would say: Despair not! the CHEROKEE CURE will restore you to health and vigor, and after all quack doctors have failed.

☞For full particulars get a circular from any drug store in the country, or write the Proprietors, who will mail free to any one desiring the same, a full treatise in pamphlet form.

NOTICE TO ALL CONCERNED.—Among a certain class of self-important people there is a peculiar feeling of contempt attached to all physicians that advertise and treat the diseases named in this card, (PRIVATE DISEASES,) why this should be they have no one else can tell. Are they not aware that all physicians treat diseases of every denomination, in fact solicit just the very diseases that are so obnoxious to these very refined parties. I suppose they would not let one of their family go to a party that has devoted years for their benefit, because he advertises the fact, and their family physician says he is a humbug so he can get the case. Often he has almost deprived the party of his life. He comes at last to the right point that advertises—how else are they to know? Are they not aware that Sir Astley Cooper, Sir Benjamin Brodie, Sir Charles Ball and M. Paul Record devoted years in the treatment of these diseases? These men are held up as shining lights in the medical world; I don't assert that all men are worthy that publish, still there are a great number of them that are. I have devoted myself to the study and treatment of PRIVATE DISEASES upwards of 40 years, and without egotism can say I have saved hundreds from years of misery and untimely death. My treatment is confined to the vegetable altogether, as I think it is the best and most certain. It is in my power to bring hundreds of certificates if I thought it necessary to certify to my general success; but my long residence in this city is sufficient proof without adding more. Spermatorrhœa and all diseases arising from it are cured in a much shorter time than heretofore. It behooves every young man and woman to be careful in selecting a physician. The different advertisements that are seen in our papers are of no worth, and no benefit will arise from answering them only loss of health and money. Hundreds are cured annually by my new remedies. WORDS OF TRUTH AND SOBERNESS

Signs of the Times.

From the New York Journal of Commerce.

There is something to us very hopeful in the increased disposition manifested by the people of all parties, to reason together. It is a ray of brightness amid the general gloom, and it appears at a time when it was least expected. On the eve of a Presidential election, party lines are usually drawn with the greatest distinctness; and intolerance of opposing views, which had lain smouldering during months of political inaction, is apt to burst into a fiercer flame, as it finds vent in the progress of the campaign. Old weapons are then brought out and sharpened for the conflict; old war-cries serve to refresh the blood of the combatants; and each encounter quickens the relish for the struggle, and fires anew the thirst for the victory. So uniform has been this periodical excitement, that it has been expected as a matter of course; and many had looked forward to the coming election with peculiar dread, lest the ordinary differences of opinion should become intensified by the circumstances likely to furnish fresh fuel for partisan zeal, and the conflict overleap the bounds within which it has heretofore been restrained.

How far this may be realized in the future, we cannot say, but if we are not mistaken, there is much less reason to fear it now than there was some weeks ago. Whatever may be the cause, the hearts of the people have been softened, and the bitterness which was carried by many even within the limits of the social circle, is much abated. The bitter, severe sneer, the biting taunt, or the sharp retort, which, according to the temperament of the individual, marked every attempt to discuss, even the gravest questions of principle, or public policy, are less frequently on the lip, and have given place to a willingness to hear without rebuke the views of others. Epithets may still appear profusely in the columns of partisan newspapers, but they do not furnish, as they did, the chief reply to searching questions into the political future of the country. Criticism of the measures of those in power is not forbidden under the pretende that it weakens the Government; and it is admitted on all sides that a man may desire a change of administration without being in the interest of the rebellion.

The change has been very rapid within the last two weeks, and it is not confined to any particular locality. The people are everywhere talking together across the old party lines, and they no longer think it necessary to speak in whispers. It is not so much an angry, accusing spirit, as a desire to question and reason together. Men who have been long estranged have had a yearning for renewed fellowship, and have found as the crust of old prejudices cracked fall away beneath the warmth of friendly contract, that their aims and wishes were not so diverse as they had supposed. Faces that appeared sour as they were turned to each other at a distance it is now seen where only solemn with care or trouble. Brows that were beat as if with scowls of hate, when they came a little nearer, reveal only lines of grief. The averted eye, which marked the alienated friend, was only turned to hide a tear; and the restless hand, whose gestures had been likened to the grasp of inanimary weapons was but impatient for the old clasp of affectionate sympathy.

The change has come because the people are communing together in a softened spirit. The reaction is so great that it is difficult to realize how bitter the hatred has been. How different now is the construction of motives. You can ask your neighbor after his health without provoking the suspicion that you long for his death. If you have fears for the future you can express them without being accused of desiring the things you dread. And your hopes for the county, if they stop short of absolute perfection, will not render you liable to the charge of desiring good only for the sake of the evil you would tolerate to obtain it. In their homes, their fields, their counting-houses, their work-shops, in the cars and ferry-boats, and along the streets, instead of the old angry recrimination, the people are actually interchanging their views upon topics of common interest. And they talk not alone of present trials, and fears and burdens. They even forget causes of excitement at times as they take in the extremest of past and future. The old stories of the way in which the Fathers settled their differences, and mingled their counsels of wisdom in the Union they have bequeathed to us, are repeated with a new application. The memory of all which the country has enjoyed while the people were true to the trust that legacy imposed upon them, kindles a longing for the return of those golden days, while hope leaps to the future that it may repeat the vision and realize the yearning.

This is a propitious week for the interchange of such thoughts and feelings. The nation is called by its Chief Magistrate to penitence and prayer, and there is hope that the hearts of the people may flow together, and their supplications be heard and answered, when the old leaven of malice and uncharitableness gives place to returning sympathy and brotherly kindness. We hear from all parts of the land the evidence of this change. It is, no doubt, very distressing to the leaders of political factions, as it robs them of their capital, and loosens their hold upon their former followers. But it must result in good, and we regard it as the most encouraging sign of the times. When the people come together, and take council with each other, then the Government, which has its real strength in the popular heart, will once more re-establish its authority on all the land.
