"OUR VISIT TO RICHMOND," Already the Abolition papers themselves, are compelled to pronounce the late story of Jacques & Co's., pretended Visit to Richmond, and their interview with JEFF. DAVIS, a base and brazen . sasidan fabrication. This candor upon the part -acrimi of the Abolition press has been extorted noite no it because the glaring absurdigaind to dies of the romance in question are enand in direly indefensible, and yet, up until yesoterday, the sayings of JACQUES & Co., were quoted triumphantly to prove that JEFF. Davis would listen to no terms of wage peace, that did not only acknowledge the Bouthern Confederacy but otherwise humiliste the North in the terms of separstion. The Cincinnati Times an Abolition paper of influence, remarking upon this late imposition, ridicules it in this manner : At last the world has been favored with elaborate account of this sensational affair is the pages of the Atlantic Monthly. As all official position or authority is expressly disavowed, it is difficult to imagine the object of such an exis difficult in imagine the object of such an expectation, unless it be the gratification of person-divisity or the furnishing an account of the visity to the great emolument of the proprietors of that, suterprising periodical. It is not by any means a violent supposition to suppose that the visit was made expressly to procure sensational details to gratify the surject with a visit with a constitution of the property of the surject with a visit with a constitution of the procure sensational details to gratify the surject with a visit with a visi the details to grathly the curiosity or the public and the public and the very piquant and highly colored a count of the journey of these Quinctic individuals we derive a knowledge that Mr. Benjani.

This exploded fabrication, is not louisquality more improbable than a thousand of the arrother stories, which the Abolition press and are constantly parading before the peotown, district, ward, or State, by reason of being in said service, and not enrolled prior to February 25, 1864, shall be en this save those which give them absolute in-CE. 111 dependence of our government. In this m like outrageous manner they are constantly white imposing upon their readers. That the "Southern people desire independence . Laine "there is no question, but that they are determined upon final separation from the North we do not believe. All the independence they need or require, is the same which the balance of the nation enjoys the right to control their own do mestic institutions. This is the independence which would be acceptable to ATEXANDER STEPHENS and the great mass of the Southern people, and this they will have or suffer all the rigors and terrors of continued war. But this local, State independence, which is the right of every State in the Union, Mr. Lincoln with not grant, and hence he is responsible for prolonging the war. He says "to whom it may concern," abandon slavery and I will listen to negotiations for peace; but not before. Now, Mr. Euncoln has no more right to make such a demand, than JEFF. DAvis has to ask our people to abandon their system of common schools. But even if he had, consider its absurdity. Asking the Southern people to immediately emancipate three or four millions of slaves, the great bulk of whom are according to Abelition testimonysteeped in utter barbarism, is to propose an impossibility. Gradual emancipation is feasible, but the letting loose of milthe fions of degraded beings, to jostle white labor in its efforts to secure a livelihood, and felted goods, and has patented a or failing in that, to fill Southern jails process for making paper stock from flax, wool, or other fibrous materials, and noor houses, is a request, which no - in . one but a knave or a fanatic would think of. Moderating a Little.

The Gazette, yesterday, instead of call ing upon the Union Leaguers to organs ize, preparatory to injugurating domest tic war, in which they would "laye to hang draw and quarter innumerable Copperheads, very sensibly devoted its editorial column to the discussion of economy in our mode of living. How much more sensible this is than fussy talk about indiscriminate and wholesale hanging? We congratulate our neighbor upon its return to reason as evinced in the following opening paragraph from its yesterday's leader, in which the eader will perceive that even the rank. est Abolitionists are beginning to "com prehend, the situation." Says our neighbor: "Joffee is 56 cents a pound, brown sugar 23 and 50 cents, butter 40 and 50 cents, hams 22 and 25 50 cents, butter 40 and 50 cen. f. hams 22 and 25 cents; beel 20 cents; muslin 63 cents per yard; prints 45 cents; beol; muslin 63 cents per yard; prints 45 cents; beol; muslin 63 cents per yard; and shoes for the children $1 50 and $2 00; coal is 14 cents per bushel; and likely to go higher. Your newspaper coats you double the old price, and your druggist doubles the price of your cod liver oil. Your failor says he can't afford to make your new suit for anything like the same number of dollars he clarged for the oil. The bounty committee want firty dollars or so just to keep you out of the draft, and the internal tax collector has a little memorandum against you, which, he informs you, can be paid now or at a more convenient newson with ten per cent, added. Your doctor charges as much now for one more convenient secson with ten per cent, addeed. Your doctor charges as much now for one visit as he formerly did for two, and you feel that, should you dee under his hands, the undertaker would step in for what he would leave. It is war time, and all these are war prices and war incidents. The rien don't mind them, but those who are not righ think of them daily and hourly. How to make both ends meet is now a difficult problem in every household. The economy which was once a virtue is now a necessity, and all hope of laying by something for a rainy day is summarily dismissed. Why should it be asked to stay! We are having the rainy day now!

The Chicago Convention. Whatever may be contained in the coming Chicago platform or omitted from it will be little reason among sensible persons for either supporting or opposing the man who may be nominated by the Convention. The people will look to the man himself, not to the declarations of those who nominate him, when they search for the grounds of their confidence as to the principles on which he will administer the Government. What would a "platform" add to the stature of a Washington, or of an term of a Washington, or of a washingto Adams, or of a Jefferson, or of a Madi son, or of a Monroe? On this point we tions made to the Chicago Convention by the Boston Courer:

"The Convention ought not to be an arena for devate, or for any personal dis. play on the part of any or its members, however eminent or however able. We hope there will be no speech made there, except of a strictly business character, or the elucidation of matters directly before the assembly. We hope that the session will not be long. There is no good reason why a single day should not the nomination of candidates, and the ration of principles which may be accepable to the Convention. "In truth the people want no claborate amplification of political principles for.

not, they will be sufficiently dwelt upon in the course of the canvass.
"We desire to see nothing proposed by the Convention about which men with the same honest object in view can reasonably differ. That object with all such men will be simply the restoration of the Union upon the basis of the Constitution; and all details as to the method by which this purpose is to be effected may properly be deterred, as they cannot be acted upon, until the new officers are chosen and the Administration is actually inaugurated."
