COMMITTEE ON MEETINGS. The Sorghum Crop.—The sorghum crop of this valley has been quite large and it is estimated that the farmers have produced enough this sesson to furnish all the molasses aweetening necessary for the entire farm consumption. In nearly every community the farmers have united in the purphase of boilers and grinders, which are used in common. As this crop will probably engross the attention of the farmers more than formerly, on account of the immense benefits derived from it, we give the following prescriptions for harvesting it in a proper manner:

prescriptions for harvesting it in a proper manier:

In the first place remove all the blades by hand, stripping or otherwise. The tops should then be cut off above the upper joint, that is those that are fully beaded out, and more taken off such as are not. The small, unripe stalks of three to four feet in height are usually of little value; by tasting and exercising a little judgment their value may be determined; and what is too green should be cut out entire and thrown in small heaps and bound up separately, or with the blades in small sheaves and set up singly or in loose double rows for support and fed to stock green, or left to dry for several days or a week, and then loosely housed in an airy shed so as not to mould. The blades, unripe seed heads and refuse stalks make excellent fodder if well cured. The ripe seed should be tied in sheaves of convenient size and hung up to dry in an open shed, or better by parting the tops and shanging across the top rails of a fence until well dried out. The ripest and best seed should be selected for planting, and none but that of undoubted purity. When oane of different varieties or broom corn have been grown in close proximity a hybrid of some sort may be expected next season. Urossing any of the varieties with broom corn produces, a monstrous growth containing little or no accharine matter at all.

The cane having been divested of the heads and tops should now be cut up close to the

The oane having been divested of the heads and tops should now be cut up close to the ground as soon as convenient, so as not to stand over eight or ten days at the farthest. After being bladed and tied in convenient sized bundless something like hoop-poles, bound twice with blades or straw bands, partially wilted blades twisted together make a deat and convenient tie, it will now be ready to take to the manufactory, or can be set up in large shocks in the open air or housed under cover if convenient. If kept under cover any length of time it should be set up and covered with hay or straw. It will be found to keep much fresher and nicer exposed to the dews and rain, but should be protected by outside covering upon the apprehension of a sharp frost.

The proper time to out the crop will depend upon its maturity. When about one-half of the seed heads are ripe, or when mogt of the seed has passed the mith state, some cultivators recommend to out it, others prefer leaving it to full maturity, but in our latitude, and especially this season, the crop is generally late, and should be left as long as the weather will safely permit, only be careful not to leave thill frost occurs, if unexpectedly caught by frost it should be cut down at once and removed to a cool, shady place, timmed with as little delay as possible and taken to the mill at once. The freezing itself does no harm, but no sconer than the sun gets on it, or the temperature gets on it, fermentation commences, the juice sours, a chemical change has taken place, and the syrup will be worthless.

Procure new syrup barrels, or good molasses or whicky barrels will do. Old cider and vinegar barrels cannot be cleaned to keep syrup in without a good chance of its spoiling.

increasing every day to such an extent, that all men of capital are anxious to make investments. A good opportunity to invest money in a safe and lucrative speculation is now selzed with avidity by all, but more especially by those who by experience have ascertained the immense profits that can be realized by making a good investment. We have a fair illustration of this fact in the Ross Oil Company of Venango county, which has already become so popular and which through the superior inducements which fact in the Ross Oil Company of Venango county, which has already become so popular and which through the superior inducements which it ofters to persons wishing to make investments, is selling off its shares with a rapidity scarcely equalled in the annals of the petroleum trade. Presentation.—On Saturday evening the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company connected with the Duquesne depot presented Mr. D. A. Stewart with a beautiful pitoher, two goblets and a saiver, all of sofid silver and beautifully fitted in a mahogany case. The presentation took place at Hubley's ice cream saloon on Fourth street, and was attented by all the employees of the road, together with several other distinguished gentlemen. Mr. C. A. Carpenter delivered the presentation speech in a few appropriate words, and was respected in a few appropriate words, and was respected in a few appropriate words, and was respected in a few appropriate words, and heartfelt thanks to his fellow-laborers, bidding them a last farewell, and expressing a confident hope for their future welfare under his successor, Mr. C. A. Carpenter. Each single piece contained the following insortpition: "Presented to D. A. Siewart, eaq., as a tertimonial of estrem by the employees of the Pennsylvania Railroad connected with the Duquesne depot on his rettring from the agency, October 1st, 1881." After the presentation was over the guests sat down to a sumptuous repast, and having partaken of the refreshments, several geathern were called upon and delivered some appropriate speeches, among others Mr. Thomas T. O'Reilly, who acted as master of ceremonies during the evening. The whole affair was highly pleasing and satisfactory to all conderned.

Escaped Again.—The notorious deserter Thomas Whittaker has again made his escape from the guards, and has not as yet been recap-tured. It appears that officer J. B. Sarber had made every preparation to take Whittaker to Nashville on the Wastern Lord Hitchick tured. It appears that officer J. B. Sarber had made every preparation to take Whittaker to Nashville on the Western train, which leaves this city at one o'clock a. m. He had been heavily iroued, and with a number of other prisoners was contined in the guard room of the Girard House to await the departure of the train. At twelve o'clock on Friday night the officer went to the Girard House for the purpose of taking Whittaker to the depot, whe purpose of taking prisoner was gone. The handcuffis, a half inch in thickness, including the hobble, had been sawed in two, thus leaving the prisoner comparatively free. One of the iron bars across the window of the guard room had also been removed, through which he descended to a porch in the rear part of the building. From this he readily reached the ground, and pasing through the cellar, made his way to Smithfield street, without detection. He was assisted in his cape by the other prisoners confined in the guard at the door knew nothing of it. The escape was and though a vigilant search was made, he could not be found.

Meeting at Johnson's Station.—An enthusiastic meeting of the friends of McClellan and Pendieton, was held at Johnson's Station, on the A. V. H. R., on Friday evening, Sept. 30, which was presided over by Joseph Skillen, as President, and Capt. A. Jack, and Mr. Wilson as Vice Presidents. The meeting being-called to order, the President introduced W. T. Tish Stewart, who addressed the audience in a few well timed and pointed remarks, and was followed by Jas. H. Hopkins, Esq., in his usual forcible and eloquent manner. His speech was one of lucid argument and cogent reserving. lowed by Jas. H. Hopkins, Esq., in his usual forcible and eloquent manner. His speech was one of lucid argument and cogent reasoning. He illustrated the principles of government as enunciated by the fathers, and explained the platform of the party in such a way as would admit of no cavil. The most encouraging part of it was, that several men who here-tofore acted against us, came out and openly declared their intention of supporting the nominees of the Democratic Party.

Soldier Shet.—On Saturday hight a soldier, while trying to make his escape from the guard, was shot in the hand, the ball passing through it. He was supposed to be a deserter and was captured at the circus. He broke away from the guard and ran to Cecil alley when he was fired upon and wounded as above stated.

Pole Raising in the 6th Ward.—A fine hickory pole was raised on Saturday evening, in the 6th Ward, opposite the Iron Oity Hotel, by the Democratic citizens of the Ward. A numerous attendance was present, and the pole was lioisted amidst enthusiastic cheers.

Desertors from Camp.—We understand that over five hundred recruits have deserted from Camp Vopeland within the past few months. The military authorities are making an effort to recapture some of them, and guards nightly patrol our streets and visit all places of public, amusement in order to hunt them up. On Friday one of these skulkers named Robert Balley was arrested, and upon being searched, a considerable amount of money was found in the lining of one of his boots. He emiliated in Col. Gallupe's regiment some weeks since, but deserted after receiving his bounty jumper, was turned over to Major McCandless, commander of the post.

Meeting in East Birmingham.—The eystone McClellan Club of East Birmingham Miceting in East Birmingham.—The Keystone McCleilan Club of East Birmingham held another meeting on Friday night last, which was largely attended both from this city and vicinity, Several able and patriotic addresses were delivered on the occasion, and a more enthusiastic audience was rarely witnessed. Dr. Kerr, Col. Sweitzer and John Roth. esq., were the principal speakers, who entertained the audience for a considerable length of time amid cheers of applause. A large mass meeting will be held in the market square. The Club, which was organized only a tiew weeks ago, has grown in numbers in a manner truly astonishing, and the names of four hundred members are now on the roll.

Postponed.—The pic-nic that was advertised to take place last Saturday, under the auspices of St. Vincent de Paul Society of Birmingham, was postponed on account of the inclemency of the weather. It will be held on Tuesday evening, in the market hall, Birmingham. The computes have made water account. mittee have made every arrangement for the comfort and pleasure of the visitors. The proceeds will go to the benefit of the poor.

Severely Injured.—Last evening about ten o'clock a boy named James Sidelds, while playing on the balcony in front of the Democratic Headquarters, fell down on the street and was severely injured. It appears that he was trying to bend the orab over the railing when he lost his balance and fell over. He was badly hurt in the arm, but fortunately did not sustain further highries.

Theatre.—To-night a crowded house is expected at the Theatre, in consequence of the announcement that Edwin Adams will appear in his unrivalled character of Hamlet. Mr. Adams through his acknowledged ability as an artist has acquired a wide-spread reputation, and is beyond controversy the favorite artist of this city.

Notice.—There will be a meeting held this (Monday) evening at Lang's Hall by the citizens of the Fifth Ward, for the purpose of organizing a McOlellan Club. All the citizens of the Ward are invited to attend the meeting, as the organization of clubs is becoming one of the most prominent features of the campaign.

Ordered Back.—The 201st regiment, says the Harrisburg Patriot of Thursday, Uol. Awi, ordered to Pittsburgh this morning, were stoped at Huntingdon by an order from General Douch and ordered to report to Washington immediately. They will pass Harrisburg at 4 o'clook on the Nothern Central Railroad.

Pole Raising.—The Democrats of the 5th Ward raised a splendid pole 130 feet long, on Saturday morning at seven o'clock. A large crowd of people were in attendance at the time.

More of Fisher's Hill Battle. NEW YORK, October 1 .- A Herald orrespondent with Sheridan gives the ollowing account of the Fisher Hill engagement: At four o'clock on the aftercoon of the 21st the 19th Corps suc-eeded in driving the rebels from a line of rifle pits on the right of the pike between Strasburg and Fisher's Hill, and the corps was set to work immediately to convert them into regular earthwork The 6th and 7th corps had generally been working around to the right, with a view of flanking the rebels. Between four and five o'clock P. M. a rapid ad vance of these two corps was ordered They advanced so far to the right as to be out of range of the rebel batteries they had flanked, the enemy being upon his right flank and rear.

The line was then formed with General Crook's command upon the right, and Getty's division of the Sixth Corps in the centre, while the third division of that corps formed the left, and the western division was held in reserve. In this order they advanced upon the enemy's works, and after several brillians charges up the steep side of the hill and through the woods and open fields the rebels were driven back into thei intrenchments, and in spite of the fu-rious fusilide of the infantry, and the shot and shell of the artillery, the posi-

NEW YORK, October 1 .- A Herald's Fortress Monroe correspondent of September 20th says: Rumors of a heavy battle near Petersburg have been rife for the past two days, and have caused great excitement; but all inquiries into the facts prove that nothing more than the usual amount of picket firing has disturbed the quiet spell in the vicinity of the city. I am getting from 25 to 40 prisoners daily, who come from the mountains on each side and deliver themselves up. From the most reliable accounts Early's army was completely broken up and is dispirited. Kersaw had not reached Richmond, but was somewherein the vicinity of Gordonsville when received orders to return to Early. The destruction of grain and forage from here to Staunton, will be a terrible blow to them all. The grain, forage, &c., in the vincinty of Staunton was retained for the use of Early's army. All in the lower part of the valley was shipped to Richmond for the use of Lee's army. The country from here to Staunton still everything is preparing for a most sanguinary conflict, and the time is not was abundantly supplied with forage,

P. H. SHERIDAN, Maj. Gen. HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF POTOMAC September 29th. -Reports from General Butler's department say that the 10th and 18th army corps crossed the James River at Deep Bottom, and advanced against the enemy's works at Chafin's Farm, taking the front line of rifle pits without resistance, and at 10 the enemy's strong position at Chafin's Bluff was carried by assault and 300 prisoners taken, with 16 pieces of artillery, flags, &c. A division of the 18th corps suffered considerable, but to what extent is not known. Our troops hold the position, which is about seven miles from Richmond. Heavy firing was heard late this afternoon on our extreme left. It is be lieved to be Gregg's cavalry engaging he enemy. They went out on a recon-noisance in the direction of the South Side Railroad, but the report of their trip has not been ascertained. The rebels have been back and forth to day in every direction, at one time marching off towards our left and again returning towards Petersburg, as if going to Richmond, then appearing in ome other place, and finally going out of sight altogether.

Some deserters came in to-day who say that the defeat of Early in the Valley has caused great depression throughout the rebel ranks and thousands were ready to leave on the first opportunity, having lost all faith in their final success. Brisk firing was kept up along the centre of the line all last night between the pickets. This morning the utmost quiet prevails. Reports prevail that the rebels are evacuating Petersburg are again in circulation here.
