CHEROKEE REMEDY,
AND
CHEROKEE INJECTION

Compounded from Roots, Barks and Leaves.

CHEROKEE REMEDY, the great Indian Diuret ic, cures all diseases of the urinary organs; such a Incontinence of the Urine, Inflammation of th Bladder, Inflammation of the Kidneys, Stone in th Bladder, Stricture, Gravel, Gleet, Gonorrhœa, an is especially recommended in those cases of Fluo Albus (or Whites in females) where all the old nau seous medicines have failed.

☞ It is prepared in a highly concentrated form, the dose only being from one to two teaspoonfuls three times a day.

☞ It is diuretic and alterative in its action; purifying and cleansing the blood, causing it to flow in all its original purity and vigor; thus removing from the system all pernicious causes which have induced disease.

CHEROKEE INJECTION is intend as an ally or assistant to the Cherokee Remedy, and should be used in conjunction with that medicine in all cases of Gonorrhœa, Gleet Fluor Albus or Whites. Its effects are healing, soothing and demulcent; removing all scalding, heat, and pain, instead of the burning and almost unendurable pain that is experienced with nearly all the cheap quack injections.

☞ By the use of the Cherokee Remedy and Cherokee Injection—the two medicines at the same time—all improper discharges are removed, and the weakened organs are speedily restored to full vigor and strength.

☞ Price Cherokee Remedy, $2 per bottle, or three bottles for $5.

☞ Price Cherokee Injection, $2 per bottle, or three bottles for $5.

☞ Sent by Express to any address on receipt of price.

☞ The Cherokee Remedy, Cherokee Injection, and Cherokee Cure, are sold by all enterprising Druggists in the civilized world. Some unprincipled dealers, however, try to sell worthless compounds in place of these; those which they can purchase at a cheap price, and make more money by selling, than they can on these medicines. As you value your health, aye, the health of your future offspring, do not be deceived by such unprincipled Druggists, ask for these medicines, and take no others. If the Druggists will not buy them for you, enclose the money in a letter, and we will send them to you by Express, securely sealed and packed free from observation.

Ladies or Gentlemen can address us in perfect confidence, stating fully and plainly their diseases and symptoms, as we treat all diseases of a chronic nature in male or female. Patients need not hesitate because of their inability to visit us, as we have treated patients successfully in all portions of the civilized globe, by correspondence.

Patients addressing us will please state plainly all the symptoms of their complaints, and write Post Office, County, State, and name of writer, plain, and inclose postage stamp for reply.

We send our 32 page Pamphlet free to any address. Address all letters for Pamphlet or advice to the proprietors,

It treats on the evils of Youthful Indiscretion, Self-Abuse, Seminal weakness, Emissions, Sexual Diseases, Genital Debility, Loss of Power, Nervousness, Premature Decay, Impotence, &c., &c., which unfits the sufferer from fulfilling the OBLIGATIONS OF MARRIAGE, and illustrates the means of cure by the use of

DR. BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS,

and other treatment necessary in some cases, and which never fails to cure, and can be relied on. They do not nauseate the stomach, or render the breath offensive, and they can be USED WITHOUT DETECTION.

They do not interfere with business pursuits, and are speedy in action. No change of diet is necessary. They are warranted in all cases to be effectual in removing and curing the disease. Upwards of two thousand cases are on record that have been cured by using BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS, and certificates can be shown from many that have used them.

No Case of Failure Occurs.

Upwards of a Hundred Physicians use them extensively in their practice, and they cannot effect cures without them.

IMPORTANT NOTICE,

BELL'S SPECIFIC PILLS

Are the original and only genuine Specific Pills. There are a host of imitators—BEWARE OF THEM.

These are Warranted.

They are adapted for male or female, old or young, and are the only reliable remedy known for the cure of all diseases arising from

YOUTHFUL INDISCRETION.

In all Sexual Diseases, as Gonorrhœa, Strictures, Gleet, and in all Urinary and Kidney complaints, who will take all risk if properly directed, and will send the Pills, secured from observation, by return mail, post Paid.

SOLD BY DRUGGISTS GENERALLY.

NOTICE TO ALL CONCERNED.—Among a certain class of well-informed people there is a peculiar feeling of contempt attached to all physicians that advertise and treat the diseases named in this card. (DISEASES.) why this should be, they nor no one else can tell. Are they not aware that all physicians treat diseases of every denomination, in fact solicit just the very diseases that are so obnoxious to these very refined parties. I suppose they would not let one of their family go to a party that has devoted years for their benefit, because he advertises the fact, and their family physician says he is a humbug so he can get the case. Often he has almost deprived the party of his life. It comes at last to the physician that advertises—how else are they to know? Are they not aware that Sir Astley Cooper, Sir Benjamin Brodie, Sir Charles Hall and M. Paul Ricord devoted years to the treatment of these diseases? These men are held up as shining lights in the medical world; I don't assert that all who advertise are worthy, but still there are a great number of them that are. I have devoted myself to the study and treatment of PRIVATE Diseases this past 40 years, and without egotism can say I have saved hundreds from years of misery and untimely death. My treatment is confined to the vegetable altogether, as I think it is the best and most certain. It is in my power to bring hundreds of certificates if I thought it necessary to certify to my general success: but my long residence in this city is sufficient proof without adding more. Spermatorrhea and all diseases arising from it are cured in a much shorter time than heretofore. It behooves every young man and woman to be careful in selecting a physician. The different advertisements that are seen in our papers are of no worth, and no benefit will arise from answers than only loss of health and money. Hundreds are cured annually by my new remedies. Attention of persons engaged in navigation is called to this provision of the second section of the Act of Congress, "and the officers and crews of all vessels and boats navigating said river, are required to regulate the use of their said vessels and boats and of any pipes or chimneys belonging thereto, so as not to interfere with the elevation construction and use of said Bridge."

All persons are also notified that the span next west of the channel span is erected at an elevation of 66 feet above low water, and there is a water-way exceeding two hundred feet, between the piers; and that the water-way between the piers next east of the channel span also exceeds two hundred feet, and that the headway here will be clear, as the company does not intend to proceed with the erection of this span until the channel span is completed, and the obstructions necessary to its erection removed.

All persons are notified further, that this Bridge is erected without a draw, and that all the requisitions of the Act of Congress have been complied with, by the company

The erection of the channel span will be proceeded with as rapidly as possible, and due notice will be given as to the time when the obstructions will be removed.

STRONG INDORSEMENT

Of the Most Eminent Pianists.

The most eminent of the musical profession of New York city, after frequent and thorough trials of my New Scale Piano Fortes, have given me the most emphatic and unqualified testimonials. The following is a specimen of the voluntary testimony I am constantly receiving from gentlemen entirely disinterested, and all will acknowledge most thoroughly qualified to judge of the merits of a Piano Forte.

"We have examined with much care Mr. WM B. BRADBURY'S NEW SCALE PIANO FORTES, and it is our opinion that, in power, purity, richness, quality of tone, and thorough workmanship Mr. Bradbury's instruments excel. "We find great brilliancy and a beautiful singing quality of tone most happily blended. We have rarely seen a square Piano Forte combining so many of these qualities essential to a perfect instrument."

IN HAVEN.

The ruddy convolvolus grows,
In its place by the brink of the sea;
But no one can learn where it blows
Except from my Minnie and me.

The wrinkles are smooth'd on the sand
And the weeds in deep water lie clear;
But no one may view them at hand,
For I and my Minnie are here.

There are caves in the lily-white rock;
There are agates and shells on the shore;
But the timber's not hewn from its block
That would build you a boat to come o'er.

For faith is so scarce in the world,
And the love is so dim in the heart;
And the goodness that might waft you he curl'd
Too close for a whisper to start;

A whisper of malice said here—
A whisper of greed and death—
Ah, well might our voices abate,
If spectres like these should come nigher!

They are nigh—but they listen in vain;
They are close but they never shall hear,
Though the music we make is so plain,
It is mute to an enemy's ear.

The music we make is our own,
Like our secret, is safe as by grave,
We sing it, we hear it, alone;
Because we are christin and love.

'Tis a tender, a trembling delight—
Pathetic, and full of sweet woe;
We learn it far up on yon height,
Yet 'tis next for these valleys below.

We learn it when hope was but new,
When passion was sacred as yet,
And it is it sounds solemnly true,
Now I and my Minnie are one.

Execution of the Girondist.

BY JOHN S. C. ABBOTT.

During the progress of the French Revolution, there were two parties which arose, and for a long time contested for the supremacy, the Girondist and the Jacobins. The latter soon was at the disposal of the Jacobins, and sustained them in their most atrocious measures. "We must," said Murat, one of the leaders of the Jacobins, "strike into the hearts of our foes. It is our only safety." The Girondists attempted to arrest the progress of the frightful massacres in which the Jacobins were engaging. They thus exposed themselves to the dangerous charge of being in sympathy with the aristocrats. The strife which ensued, a strife involving life or death, was one of the most terrible recorded in history.

Madame Roland was one evening urging Vergniaud to rally the Girondists party at every hazard to arrest the massacres. "The only hope of France," said she "is in the sacredness of the law. This atrocious carnage causes thousands of bosoms to thrill with horror. All the wise and good in France, and in the world, will rise to sustain those who expose their own hearts as a barrier to arrest such enormities."

"Of what avail," was the sad reply of Vergniaud, "can such exertions be? The assassins are supported by all the power of the street. Such a conflict must necessarily terminate in a street fight. The cannon are with our foes. The prominent of the friends of order massacred. Terror will restrain the rest. We shall only provoke our own destruction."

For several days the strife raged in the Convention with the utmost intensity, between the Girondists and the Jacobins. The party which could obtain the majority would surely consign the other to the scaffold. M. Roland, the Girondist Minister of the Interior, was a man of great power, but Madame Roland, with a brilliancy of genius seldom surpassed, prepared for him his speeches in the Convention. France recognized her marvelous abilities; the one party regarded her with adoration, and the other with hate. Probably never before in the history of the world has a woman occupied such a position. It soon became evident that the rage of the Jacobins would descend upon Madame Roland, and she was urged to escape from Paris. The heroic woman replied:

"I am ashamed to resort to any expedient. I will neither disguise myself nor make any attempt at street escape. My enemies may find me always in my place. I owe my country an example of firmness, and I will give it."

She remained in Paris, and soon perished upon the guillotine. The Convention consisted of eight hundred men. Twenty-one of the most illustrious men of France were considered leaders of the Girondists. The Jacobins accused them of treason, and overawing the members of the Convention by a mob, carried the accusation, and condemned them to death. It was then voted that all Paris should be illuminated in view of the triumph of the people. At midnight the whole Convention, in procession, traversed the brilliant streets, leading, to grace their triumph, the doomed Girondists. They were all then consigned to the Conciergerie, there to await the final trial. Summer came and went, while illustrious men lingered in their dungeons. With fortitude, the record of which has enshrined their memories, they struggled to sustain each other to meet that fate which they knew could not be doubtful.

At length the hour of final triumph came. With the most imposing military array of infantry, cavalry, artillery, to guard against the possibility of any counter revolution, the prisoners were conducted in a long procession, two by two, to the judgment hall. It was the 30th of October, 1793. At eleven o'clock at night the verdict was brought in, and they were doomed to be led the next morning to the guillotine. As the sentence was pronounced, one of the Girondists, Valaine, plunged his dagger to his heart, and fell lifeless to the floor. Another in the delirium of enthusiasm, shouted, "This is the most glorious day of my life!" It was midnight when the victims were conducted back to the Conciergerie. As they marched along, their voices burst into the Marseilles Hymn, in tones which reverberated through the corridors of the prison, and echoed through the streets:

"Come children of your country, come,
The day of glory dawns on high,
And tyranny has wide unfurled
Her blood-stained banner in the sky."

They were placed in one large hall, and the lifeless body of their companion was deposited in one corner. By decree of the assembly the remains of Valaine was to be taken with the rest, to the guillotine, and the axe was to sever the head from the lifeless body, and all the headless trunks were to be interred together. Some friends of the Girondists immediately sent to them a sumptuous banquet, their final funeral repast. A large oaken table was spread. Servants entered with brilliant lamps. The richest viands of meats and wines were brought in. Vases of flowers smiled where flowers never bloomed before and the costly dishes appeared one after another, until the board was covered with luxury and splendor.

In silence they took their places at the table. They were all men of brilliant intellect, and most of them eloquent. A priest, Abbe Lambert, who had gained admission, with his pencil noted down their words, their actions, their indications of heroism. The repast was prolonged till the dawn faintly entered the grated windows. When the cloth was removed, and the fruits, the wine, and the flowers alone remained, the conversation became animated, with occasional burst of gayety. A few of the unbelievers in immortality enavored thus to meet their doom. But it was hiarity unnatural, and unworthy of the men and their condition. Death is not a rest, and he who attempts so to regard it does but dishonor himself.

"What shall we be doing at this time to-morrow," asked Dacos.

"We shall sleep," responded one, "after the fatigues of the day, to wake up no more. Death is but an endless slumber."

"No," rejoined Fonchet, "annihilation is not our destiny. These bodies perish. These thoughts never die. To-morrow, in other worlds, we shall think, feel, and act. We shall have solved the problem of the destiny of the human mind."

All turned to Vergniaud as by a common impulse. His discourse was long, and has been described as the most eloquent which was ever uttered by human lips. "Death," said he, in conclusion "is the greatest act of life. It introduces us to a noble existence. Were it not so, there would be something greater than God. It would be just man inflating himself uselessly, and hopelessly for his country. No! Vergniaud is greater than God. God will not suffer. Vergniaud to-morrow will ascend the scaffold but to justify and avenge him in future ages."

As the light of day penetrated the dungeon, and unwilling sluggard sleep, others wrote a last line to friends, while others gathered in groups for conversation. At four o'clock the gens d'armes entered with the executioners. The hair was cut from their necks, that it might not impede the axe. Gensonne picked up a lock and sent it to his wife, saying:

"Tell her that it is the only memorial of my love, which I can transmit to her; and that my thoughts in death were hers."

Vergniaud scratched upon his watch a few lines of tender remembrance, and sent it to the young lady to whom in a few days he was to be married. Five rude carts conveyed them to the scaffold. Each cart contained five persons. The streets through which the sad procession passed were thronged with countless thousands. It was one of the most splendid of October mornings. As the cars moved, the Girondists sang the Marseillaise Hymn. At the end of each verse there was a moment's silence, and then the strain was renewed, lend, and sonorous. Arrived at the scaffold, they all embraced. They then resumed their funeral chant.

One after another ascended the scaffold
