Oil Excitement.—The oil excitement has sched a fever height in this city and vicinity during the past few weeks. Oil stocks are purith the greatest avidity, and new companies have but little difficulty in finding purchasers for their stock. Speculators are every where to be found, all making bargains for eith er buying or selling stocks. The present excitement will cause an immense increase in the oil business, and whatever it was heretofore, it is certain that this business will assume imse proportions in the future. The demand for oil is far greater than the supply in the market, and this, doubtless, will be another inducement to speculators to make investments. The only thing that could possibly dampen the present excitement would be the fear of a collapse in prices in proportion as the supply in the market increases. But under existing cirnumstances there is no foundation for this fear. Dealers in oil can soon find purchasers for as much oil as they are able to supply, and the demand is unlimited. The veins of oil hidden beneath our soil seem also inexhaustible, and from every side we hear the announcement that new wells have been bored with success, and that soon additional quantities of the oily treasure will be sent to market. Under such circui proportions which the oil trade must one day reach and which will throw all other trades in

Dwelling Houses.-The scarcity of dwelling houses which prevails in our city now is renarkable. It is very difficult to find a house to let within the limits of the city, and consequent ly men who would otherwise wish to keep house themselves are obliged to betake themselves to the boarding house as their only refuge. Even the latter are so utterly crowded that they can provide but very limited accommodation, so that those who are in business here are forced to put up with what they get in the act of attempting to pick the pocket of an old lady named Snyder. It seems that no less than four persons had been previously robbed in the market, and it is thought that Mrs. Fitzger. ald is the guilty party. She had a female accomplice with her who succeeded in making her escape, and concerning whom Mrs: Fitzgerald is unwilling to give any information. The accused was conveyed to the Mayor's office, where she was searched and a considerable amoney found on her person, besides a piece of gold chain which, it is alleged, had been broken off some lady's watch-guard. The police are or the lookout for the other party.

Coroner's Inquest.—An inquest was held yesterday morning by Coroner Clawson on the body of a lad named John G. Cloutz, aged five years, who was killed on Thursday after at Pine creek, a short distance above Sprang's rolling mill. The father of the boy was employed at the mill, and had sent some brick up to his house in one of the empty coal cars Just as the car was approaching the gate the boy ran out, with the intention, it is supposed, of climb ing upon the cars. The driver saw him fall, but e he could check up the horses one of the car wheels had passed over his head at the temples, crushing the skull and causing i death. The jury found a verdict of acc crushing the skull and causing instant

Frozen to Death .- The Johnstown Democrat says: On Tuesday night a Welsh farmer from the neighborhood of Ebensburg, named Eyan Davis, while under the influence of liquor lay down in one of the alleys of the Fourth ward of this place, in what is commonly known as Hornerstown, and was so badly frozen that he died on Wednesday evening. It is said that the neighbors heard his cries all night, but inhumanely left him to perish without attempting to remove him. He was not even removed until Capt. Rutledge went to his assistance about 8% o'clock on Wednesday morning.

The Minersville Passenger Railway. -We informed our readers a few days ago that the above line of railway was up for sale. On Tuesday night the line, together with its rolling stock, buildings, &c., was offered for sale a McIlwaine's auction rooms, but as only $19,600 was bid for it Mr. Herron withdrew it. Although we are by no means under the impression that this line is worth a treasure, we would think that it could command a higher price than that which was offered for it on Tuesday eve-

Man Drowned.—A man named John Rolay, employed as a deck hand on board the steamer Petrolia No. 2, on the Allegheny wharf, was drowned on Monday evening about seven o'clock. It appears that he was under the in fluence of liquor at the time, and fell overboard Those on board the steamer made several efforts to rescue him from his sad fate, but owing to the darkness of the night and the presence of several coal flats alongside of the steamer, which prevented his rising again to the surface, their efforts proved usele Probable Infanticide. - On Saturday morning the dead body of an infant was found lying upon the bank of the Ohio river at Wheeling. The child was perfectly naked, and it is supposed that the little walf was first killed and Dry Goods! Dry Goods! then thrown from a passing steamer. The core ner's jury rendered a verdict in accordance with

Owing to the absence of important with lesses the jury adjourned until two o'clock to-lay, when an inquest will be held. The physicians in attendance say that the deceased came to his death from the effects of his wounds. Mr. eeson, as soon as he ascertained that Frank Ott was dead, immediately surrendered himself fore the Mayor this morning. Grand Vocal Concert and Tour de Physique.—The celebrated and world renowned Professor and Madame Millar have kindly consented to give one more of their highly consented to give one more of their highly popular entertainments of song, mirth and magic for the benefit of the poor of this, the native city of the highly accomplished Madame Millar, in Concert Hall on Thursday evening. The entertainment will embrace the most popular ballads of the day, interspersed with feter of magic that approach the supernatural. Their efforts in behalf of the poor and dis ressed of our icty should be liberally seconded by our chatitable community, and they should be greeted by a large and overdowing house. Tickets 60 cents, which can be had at the music stores and at the box office.

Theatre.—A splendid programme is offered at the theatre on Friday evening, which has been set spart for the benefit of Mr. Sefton, the accomplished comedian. The beneficiary has long been a great 'favorite of the public, and a crowded house is anticipated The beautiful three-act comedy of the Heir at Law will be represented, in which Mr. Sefton will appear in the character of Dr. Pangioss. Miss Annie Eberile will recite Murdock's poem of Sheridan's Ride. The beautiful and accomplished sisters, Millie and Clars Fowler, will appear for this night only. Miss Burt sings "Greenbacks.' The entertainment will conclude with Dick Turpin, the Bold Highwayman. Mr. Sefton will appear in two favorite characters.

Gottsohalk's Comcerts.—Both press and public are unanimous in their praise of the eminent cantartice, Miss Lucy Simons, whose services have been engaged by Signor Muzio for Gottschelk's farewell concerts. As a musical artiste and concert singer she is a great favorite, and no doubt the community will be glad of the opportunity which will soon be offered them to judge of her musical accomplishments for themselves.

Notwithstanding the advance in the price of gold, the recent importation, during its late depression, has brought down the price of many imported goods. Myers, Schoyer & Co., No. 89 Fifth street, have recently purchased quite an assortment of Eagle, Faber and other pencils, colored, Carpenter and school pencils. They have also a fine assortment of photograph abums, gold pens, pocket books, &c., &c., which they offer at low cash prices. Oall and examine.

hopes of better times. If any of our wealthy capitalists could be induced to build a lot of small comfortable houses in the immediate neighborhood of the city they would find it a most lucrative speculation.

Masonic Hall.—The spiculid entertainment now given at Masonic Hall continues to draw crowded houses every night. The view of some of the engagements on land and sea is truly wonderful, and everything is performed to perfectly in the property of the masket the representation appear a reality. The performance of hir. D. C. La Rue is amusing in the extreme.

Musical.—We call the attention of our readers to the large and varied assortment of popular vocal and instrumental music published by Charlotte Blume, No. 45 Fifth street. We have just received two beautiful songs—"At Your Feet Behold Me" and "Oh. Tender Dreaming"—and we think that all lovers of music should purchase a copy.

EAR, THROAT,

The first sensation is usually a feeling of dryness and heat in the nose, and a frequent inclination to smearing. There is an inability to breath freely, as the nose becomes stopped up, sometimes on one side and sometimes on the other. Soon a clear, watery, acrid discharge makes its appearance, excoriating the nostrila and edges of the lips, which become red and aomewhat swollen. After a new days the discharge becomes thick, yellowish, extremely frequent, and continues to be a marked feature of the discase, and a source of much danger and the greatest annoyance. After more or less time it becomes purulent, highly offennive, and assumes an extremely fetid odor. It is usually so profuse as to require, when confined to the nose the frequent application of the handkerchief, or if it drops into the throat, which is more particularly the case, while the body is in a horizontal position, constant expectoration and sometimes both. Sleep is frequently disturbed by a sensation of choking, caused by the presence of the discharge in the throat. Owing to the heat in the head, the watery portion of the secretion ofton evaporates, and assuming a condition of solidity is deposited upon the membrane of the nose and upper part of the throat, in the shape of crusts or hardened lumps. The accumulation of these incrustations produces a feeling of discomfort, and narrows the nasal passages so as to embarrase repitration. Therefore, frequent efforts have to be made to remove them, either by forcibly blowing the nose, or by persistent hawking the force required for its dislodgement. During sleep these incrustrations accumulate more raiddy, and the feeling is therefore most uncomfortable in the morning; som times all efforts to clear the throat are fullie until after breakfast, or something ways made and the morning is sometimes at the patient an object of disguist to himself accomet occasionally so revoltingly effensive as to render the patient an object of disguist to himself and the participates in this, and becomes occasionally as charge, together with the thickened condition of the nucous membrane, readers respiration through the nasal passages very difficult, and through the nasal passages very difficult, and offentimes impossible, necessitating respiration principally through the mouth—a method very deleterious to the general health, but more particularly so to the lungs, as will be shown here after. The unpleasant acuse produced during the sleep known as anoring, originates from the same cause. The voice loars its nusical quality, and assumes a digorniant, harsh and nasal character; the sense of smell becomes much impatred or entirely lost, and the same effect, though less frequent, is produced on the sense of taste. (tecasionsily, while blowing the nose, a crack ling or bubbling sound will be heard in the ear, and hearing will be found quite thick and stopped up, tut return auddenly with something like a sanapping sound. This phenomena is usually repeated until, at one time, hearing does not return, and remains permanently injured. Noises in the head of every conclusive description will make their appearance, and add to the distress of the sufferer, and hearing may be lost to gradually that a cousideral le degree of dealers may exist before the person is really sware of the fact. The eyes are apt to become weak, irritable and disposed to water on expassure to cold or wind, or after the slightest exertion. A pain, more or less acute, or a distressir feeling of pressure is experienced over the eyes, and sometimes on the top or back of the head, and also pain in the face, resembling neuralization which it is often mistakeness of disposition. The storisch generally suffer more or less, is weak and irratable; the appetitus is capicious, and is nearly always bad in the moreoness of disposition. NEWAYORK, November 30.—The NEWAYORK, November 30.—The World's Potomac army correspondent, in speaking of the capture of Roger A. Pryor, says: Pryor appears yery sanguine of the ultimate success of the rebellion, and ridicules the idea of our putting faith in the statements of description. putting faith in the statements of deser-ters and refugees. He does appear to be much cast down by his present mis-adventure, but regards the means used to procure his capture as not strictly in accordance with the code of honor, and as more particularly severe in his case, since he had used his influence to secure he release of Burbridge, and preven the recurrence of such captures by the rebels. He has changed but little in appearance aince I last saw him in Washington. He contends that the election of Lincoln is just what the South wishof inicom is just what the pouts wished, and although apprehensive that it may prolong the war another four years declares that it has united their people and rendered the probabilities of their iltimate success much greater.

What the New York World Says Gen. Ewell's Corps gone South New York, Nov. 30 .- There is nothing later from Sherman, no rebel papers having been received within the last twenty-four hours. The very latest rebel intelligence from either column of Gen. Sherman's army placed Gen. Slocum's column at Greensboro, on the Georgia State railroad, 84 miles west of Augusta, on the 20th, and Gen. How ard's column at Toomsboro, on the Georgia Central railroad, 145 miles from Savannah, on the 22d. Both had crossed the Ocmulgee and Ocoree rivers, the two principal streams on the route of march, and were, at the dates menlioned, fully half way to Savannah. The World thinks it is not likely that Lee will send a large force to Georgia, and says that the rebels must rely on the levies called out by Gov. Brown, of Georgia, and Gov. Bonham, of South Carolina, to reinforce the troops which have previously reached Augusta from the garrisons at Savannah, Charleston and Wilmington.
