THURSDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1864. LOCAL INTELLIGENCE

Oil .- The oil fever still continues unabated, and there are no in lications when it will end, or at least be modified a little. There is a greatdesire for purchasing oil stocks in the city. during the present time, than ever before, and everything seems to predict that the excitement pective value of a company is looked upon with as much avidity as that of the safe and sure divipend paying companies, and consequently snear. pend paying companies, and consequently speculation is all aglow. As the existing state of things indicates an increase of prices, holders of stocks are generally loath to part with them stocks are generally loath to part with them the stocks are generally loath to part with the stocks are generally loath t is probably the only reason why sales are comparatively so scarce, while the offerings are unusually brisk. It is easy to find pleaty of buyers in the market, if you ask a reasonable price for your stock, but sellers are not so numerous, are they everywhere to be found. This would seem to predict a very large rise in the price of oil, and which, sooner or later, must necessarily take place. For this reason, holders of stocks are now gloating over the idea of realizing immense sums of money in the space of a few days. If is not at all improbable that a great many will make their fortune by their pres ent mode of speculation. A sudden strike of oil would bring them a large percentage, and may be increase the price of their stocks in a manner that would double the sum originally invested. The larger the amount of oil with which to supply the market, the greater will be the sum realized. There is not the least apprehension that buyers will be found for every drop of oil that can be supplied, and consequently wells are being sunk where there are any indications of oil as fast as steam power can sink them When which were missed soon after she had taken her this boring business is ended, if it ever is, the oil regions will present a sad appearance, and the accused was locked up for a hearing. will remain a lasting monument of what men will do in search of gold or greenbacks. Here in the city where everybody is on the qui vive. and where any news relating to the oil business is heard with great avidity, we are beginning to give our whole attention to this great and important branch of commerce. The stock exchanges are daily crowded with busy speculators. Wherever you ge, that is the one great topic o convergation, and if you desire to give anybody a most desirable bit of information, talk about an oil well, and you will certainly command his attention. It is true that there are a great many other things which interest the community, but there is nothing which interests every individ-

A large quantity of provisions has been forwar ded for a Christmas Dinner to the soldiers in Nashville. Atwood, or left at City Hall, on Friday or Saturday, the 23d and 24th.

The Late Shooting Affair.-The recent shooting affair on St. Clair street created quite an excitement in the community, and consequently the proceedings of the jury empanelied inquire into the causes which led to the death of Thomas Farley, were looked upon with a great deal of interest. The jury re-assembled yesterday at ten o'clock, at Alderman Taylor's ffice, and a large amount of additional evidence was received. The testimony of the witnesses, as a general thing, was by no means favorable to Corporal Cooley. The jury gave a verdict that the deceased came to his death by a pistol shot at the hands of Corporal Cooley, and that the jury believed that the shooting was wilful, malicious and unnecessary. Such shooting affairs are now of frequent occurrence, and we should use some means to put a stop to them.

The Weather .- Quite a change took place in the weather on Tuesday night, and yesterday it was comparatively good. The air, however was dull and heavy, and the streets became so wet that it was decidedly uncomfortable to walk abroad. The ladies, especially, must find it inconvenient to walk any considerable disace during the present time when the streets are covered with snow and slush. It is fashionable with them to wear light gaiters, and they must observe the fashion at the risk of losing their health. We cannot perceive the utility of this strict observance, but it is certain that it will be found everywhere. Light gaiters are extremely unhealthy, but if the ladies desire to wear them, notwithstanding this great objection, of course we have nothing to say in the

The Streets.—The streets again present a miserable appearance, and it would be difficult ·to determine whether our citizens would sooner suffer the cold weather of the beginning of the week or walk thrugh the slush which is now covering all the streets in the city. The snow which had fallen in considerable quantities, is now thawing, and the consequence is that all the streets and sidewalks are covered with wa-. The gutters, especially, are filled to overflowing, and it will be some time ere the streets present a dry appearance. If the citizens could only be prevailed upon to sweep the snow off swalks the city would be immensely b efitted. It would then be possible to waik a considerable distance without getting wet up to the ankles, which, in our opinion, is neither healthy nor comfortable.

Man Shot .- A man named Robert Orr was shot a few days ago near Salina, Vegango county. by his father-in-law, Joseph Hetrick. It appears that the latter had taken some money from Orr. and concealed it, and an altercation ensued between the men, when Hetrick shot Orr, the ball penstrating the abdomen and inflicting a mortal wound. Notwithstanding this fact, Orr sprang upon Hetrick, knocked him down, and would probably have killed him, were it not that the bystanders interfered. Hetrick afterwards conveyed the wounded man to where the money had been concealed, and handed it over to him. Orr died on Saturday from the effects of his
