Startling Developments - The Bristol (Rhode Island) Phanix, of last week, has the following thrilling story, which will prove interesting to our readers:

A large, rough wooden box was landed here from the steamer Bradford Durfee, on Wedner day last, directed to "Mrs Alice Rogers, Bristol, Rhode Island" The box was taken to a house on the new street, north of the Catholic Church, to a family who received it, supposing it to be sent to a friend of theirs, an Irish girl by me of Alice Rogers, who, we learn, has been in this country but a short time, and who is employed in a family living on the Ferry road. Miss Rogers on the afternoon of the same day, being informed that a box had been received, directed to her, went to the house alluded to above, and caused the box to be opened, and was very much surprised to find that it contained remains of a full grown man, without clothes or robe, the rest of the box being filled with shavings and hay. On the inside of the kid was written the following: "Mr. John Mc-Keon, Grant street, Pittsburgh, Pa." The President of the Town Council, Samuel Sparks, Esq., took charge of the box and its contents on Thursday morning and deposited them in the

It cannot be denied that the shows is horrible in the extreme, and one cannot but imagine the feelings of the young girl on opening the box above mentioned. Nevertheless, when we learn the true circumstances of the affair our feelings will be a little quieted, and the suspicions o some foul murder which the above horrible sto ry would lead us to entertain will be entirely persed. It appears that several years ago, lady named Rogers died in Ohio, and her reains were brought by her relatives to this city and interred in the Catholic burying ground, in the Eighth Ward. Some years later the family removed to Rhode Island, to which place it was determined they should remove the remains of the lady. A daughter of the deceased came to this city for the above purpose, had the body dis-interred, and having found upon examina-tion that only a few bones and a little dust remained, she decided to transfer them to a smaller box. The work of removal was entrusted to McKeon, and the remains were shipped by express to Rhode Island. They, however, fell into the wrong hands, and from this the above story originated. Under this view it has lost a great deal of its romance, but as truth is just as acceptable to our matter-of-fact community as the horrors of fiction, they will, no doubt, be gratified to learn the true circumstances con

Launch of the Manayunk.-The gunboat Manayunk, built in the yard of Snowden & Mason, was yesterday successfully launched Notwithstanding the very unfavorable state of the weather, large crowds of people turned out at an early hour to witness the launching. The street; on this side of the river was utterly crowded, and the bridge was laden with specta tors. The yard also, was filled with as many as could gain admittance, but owing to its lim ited capacity and the great number of workmen who were employed in launching the boat, a great many were refused admittance. The men commenced work at an early hour in the morning, and about one o'clock had everything it readiness. Everything was conducted so successfully that but little impetus was necessary to start her. As soon as the impetus was given, she glided into the river with the utmost veloc ity. Those on deck joyously cheered and waved their hats, and the crowd on shore responded with a hearty good will. The iron-clad monate then glided down the river, and was spon envel oped in the dense fog. She was conveyed by two tug-boats to the foot of Liberty street, where she is at present. The specific dimen sions of the Manayunk are as follows: Extreme length, 235 feet; extreme length at water line, 209 fest; extreme length of beam, inside, 42 feet; ditto over armor, 48 feet ; depth of hold, 11 feet 10 inches. The pilot house will be six feet high and five feet in diameter. The turret will be covered with iron plates nine feet long, four feet in breadth, and of one inch in thickness. Ten of these will form the strength of the turret, making it in all nearly one foot thick of solid iron. She will only carry two guns in her turet, of fifteen inch bore. Her engines will be of a power capable of rendering her one of the fastest gunbowts in our fleet. The turret, and other appurtenances, will be placed on her as soon as possible, and she will soon be performing active service. The cost of this gunboat will be immense, and the raw material alone will cos the government a large sum of money

The Girard House.-Several facts have recently come to light in relation to the state of ine in the Girard House. These facts, to say the least, are not very gratifying to the pubiic generally, and, of course, are contradicte by the military authorities at the Girard House. We are of opinion that the matter should b thoroughly ventuated, and strict discipline be restored, in case the rules of discipline are so flagrantly violated as the facts slicited would lead us to think.

Petrifaction .- A remarkable petrifaction of an entire tree, it is said, was lately discovered in the Baltimore mine on the Monongahela river, by the miners, while blasting for coal. The piece of the trunk taken out weight nearly four thousand pounds, and still there remains root of the tree imbedded in the coal. There are also to be found in the same mine petrifaction of the cactus and other plants pesuliar to Coal Barges Sunk .- On Saturday, two coal barges, laden with coal, were sunk in the Monongahela river, near the Point. We have not ascertained the cause of the accident.

MArm Broken-A lady named Tately, residing on Beaver street, Allegheny, had her arm broken on Thursday, by being knocked down by a sled, on which a boy was riding. It is thought that she also sustained severe internal injuries.

His address was both eloquent and instructive and he spoke of the mission of teachers and of their duties, in a manner highly impressive. After showing the power that the teacher wields a shaping the mind of youth, he urged them to remitting zeal in their high calling, in view of its importance. Rev. Samuel Williams was alled upon and made a few remarks, after which, miscellaneous business was attended to then the meeting adjourged

Raffles.—There are more raffles going on in the city now than we have noticed for some time. Everything is bein; raffled off, from a silk handkerchief to a horse and carriage .ebody must be making a "good thing" out of this at the expense of those who invest their ney in such speculations, as they can easily obtain double the value of the article by raffling it off. As a general thing, raffling is not a very ucrative business to those who lay down then oney in the expectation of winning an object, when the chances are a hundred to one that he will neither win the object nor get the worth o his money in any manner whatsoever.

Ferry-Boat Sunk -On Friday night the est startling rumors were spread around thecit to the effect that Jones' ferry-boat had sunk in the Monongahela river, and a large number of passengers had been drowned. Only a part of this rumor was true. The ferry-boat, while crossing the river, was snagged, and sank after a few minutes, but three women, who were the only passengers, and all the employees were saved with difficulty.

Committed .- John Gaster, Martin Wolf, and Springer were committed to jail on Friday evening, by the Mayor, to await the result of which they had inflicted on the person of a man named Eichner, at the Pennsylvania Railroad Depot. Eichner is now in a very low ondition, and his attending physician informed he Mayor that he believed he would not recovr, his skull being fractured.

new employment. On being touched, the fish uickened into life, and if not captured immeditely, disappeared under the water.

Promoted.-Oaptain Wm. W. Sanders has een promoted to the rank of Brevet Major in he regular army, for meritorious conduct in the field. This gentleman, who has served all through the war, is a son of Mayor John Sanders, deceased, and grandson of Hon. Wm. Wil-

A Splendid Show.—We would direct the attention of our readers to the National Combination and Variety show, a notice of which will be found in another column. This is one of the best shows in the country, and the community may expect to have a grand treat during the holidays. This troupe is unsurpassed in its performances, and has several distinguished gymnasts, acrobats, equilibrists, &c., who are unsurpassed in some of their feats of agriity. They have, likewise, a superb troupe of performing dogs and monkeys, whose performances exceed anything ever seen in America.

Thentre.—The new and original drama of "Waiting for the Verdict" will be produced at the theatre for the first time this evening. This is one of those great plays which cannot fail to produce the greatest effects on a mixed assemblage, and as such has been receiventhusiastically in every theatre where it has been performed It will, no doubt, attract a large crowd. The total number of were concentrating the 16th and 23d prisoners will not fall short of twelve our right. The results were, when the bugles sounded and we advanced our right, the enemy advanced rapidly be-tween the rebel left and the Cumber-land river, completely dividing up the rebel division which the rebels had pos-ted there to blockade the river. A battery was taken by our forces and sent o the rear. The rebels had by this time discovered that our attack on their right was a feint, and Hood scon at tempted to atone for his first fail ure, but it was too late. Our right had established themselves on the main boat, and were steadily advancing the whole. The 23d corps had taken position on the extreme and Smith's corps were executing a half wheel, driving the columns of easily and rapidly, and afterwards the hill was taken with little loss and without much difficulty. In an hour or so the rebels presented a strong front Our progress was, for the moment, checked. It was now visible that th contest was about to commence. Anoth er division on the left was made, in order to enable our men on the right to get nto position and strengthen themselves so as to be ready for a charge. In front of the 4th corps, and about one mile be yond Ocklin, the rebels had a strong line of works, defended by a heavy line of skirmishers, and Gen. Wood gave the order to charge upon it. When the word "forward" was shouted by the brigade, division and regimental com-manders, it was executed with promptness and decision, and the men over the breastworks and advanced. In less than twenty minutes our men had posession of the rebel works, and the banners of the 4th corps were planted upon them. Our men, flushed with vic ory, without orders, rushed forward, and had nearly reached the second line of rebel works, and they were only reached by the most strenuous exertion, when hey captured sixty prisoners, which, with those taken in the rebel entrench ments, amounted to over one hundred. The second line of rebel entrenchments were now in sight, and located on the verge of the hill, one mile from our skir. mish line, and had been built with great skill. Some time elapsed before our men were got into position. Our cavalry had advanced, meanwhile, until its right rested on the hills some miles beyond Nashville, from the river. It had now to manoeuvre without difficulty. Instead of facing to the west it now faced directly to the south, and the second corps of Schofield and Smith's commands were in position directly in parallel an the left, and the skirmishers along the line having been advanced to the Hillsboro Pike, sheltering themselves behind the fences on the north side, while the Fourth Corps was formed at right angles in front of the division ly-og directly across the Hillsboro Pike, he remainder being to the left of that. While these movements were going ou, and our lines were forming, batteries were being placed in position, the reb els could be distinctly seen moving to the left flank from toward the Hillsboro lke with a view to prevent our turning heir left flank. As far as could be ascertained by observation their entire reserve was thus threwn to the front of our right and centre. In the meantime, our commanders sent re enforcements equally strong to our posts that were menaced by the rebels.

At half past three, all was ready for a charge on the second line of rebel works. The position was a strong one and to reach it our forces had to ascend the hills to an elevation of 15 degrees, Mr. Lincoln's Election in Europe without any protection. Our lines were four columns deep, with ample reserves. Our forces were massed against the rebel lines, and the veteran columns were hurled against the rebels with irresistable force, and at five minutes be-fore 5 P. M. the charge commenced.—

at right angles with it. Moving south, on its right, was a corps of A. J. Smith's command. The 1st and 2d divisions had the hardest task to perform and their front the rebel works were stronger than elsewhere, and more formidable. Under a heavy fire of grape, canister and musketry our men moved steadily forward, but owing to the rebels firing too high, it mostly passed over them otherwise the slaughter would have been terrible. Some of our men were killed, but the list of casualties is less than could have been expected. After advancing to within 150 yards of their works their fire was severest. Our troops never wavered, but with a shout along the lines ranging along the Hillsboro Pike, they again advanced, and were almost immediately upon the entrenchments. The distance yet to be passed did not exceed one hundred yards, and re-enforcements were in sight, coming up. Yet the rebels evined no signs of retiring, but discharged volley after volley into our ranks at a distance of twenty five yards. A few of our men had reached the works and were using the bayonet. Some few of the rebels fled who were followed by others, when soon all broke and fled in the wildest confusion. Four 12 pounder Napoleon guns their artillerists attempt. ed to secure, but got only one off the field. We secured three and two cas-
