

friendly intercourse between Catholics and Protestants, and in direct opposition to the dictates of that peace-loving, and love-begetting religion, established by the meek and lowly Jesus. The great aim of Protestants ought to be to convert their Catholic brethren from the error of their way by showing them in our conduct and intercourse with them, that they are inspired by the same love which animated the breast of the Father of all men towards his wayward and lost children, when he sent his only begotten Son to die for their salvation; and I look upon the effort to get up a 'Protestant Association' as calculated to retard rather than forward the great end of converting our Catholic brethren from their (as we deem) false religion. I feel convinced that the great mass of thinking, intelligent, liberal and pious Protestants are of the same opinion. Let those clergymen who got up and carried through the measure, and what they have done, call meetings of the people, invite Catholics as well as Protestants to meet and fairly discuss the christian propriety of getting up associations of the kind, and then light will be diffused abroad on this very important topic; and truth rather than error and bigotry will prevail.

March 4th, 1843.
Where's Captain Schenley?—This common inquiry, we find at the head of an article in the London Globe, of a recent date, in which the whereabouts of the Captain are satisfactorily stated as follows: "Captain Schenley, who some short time since, eloped with a young lady of fifteen years of age, from the United States, and which affair at the time caused considerable excitement in America, from the circumstances attending it, and a notice of which appeared in the London Journals is at present residing at Sarinam, where he fills the office of Judge of her Majesty's Slave Commission Court; he intends to return, as the American papers state, in consequence of the ill health of his lady and will then take the opportunity to endeavor to bring about an amicable reconciliation between himself and Mrs. Schenley's family.

The property of which the lady is entitled is about $2,000,000, net of $500,000 sterling, and consists of real estate in Pittsburgh—no small fortune for this gallant son of Mars's storm and capture. It is bequeathed to her under the will of her grandfather, the late General O'Hara. The Pennsylvania Legislature, by an act passed in the month of August, 1842, giving the revenues to the trustees. It is most probable, that if this law thus passed be correctly represented, that the lady's ultimate right to the property is fully conceded, and only prevents her claiming it until she becomes of age. At the time of her elopement she resided at Mrs. Inglis's seminary at Staten Island. Captain Schenley, immediately after his nuptials came to England, and was with his lady presented to Her Majesty on his appointment. He has been twice a widower, having first married the niece of Lord Fitzroy, and then the second daughter of Sir W. Pole, Bart.

Amos Kendall.
On the 14th inst. Mr. Davis presented in the House of Representatives, a series of resolutions from the Legislature of N. York, calling upon Congress to liberate Amos Kendall. Resolutions, on the same subject, adopted by the Legislature of Maine were also presented, from which we call the following.

Resolved, That it resting what he deemed to be an unjust and exorbitant claim upon the P. O. Department, for which he is now incarcerated within the jail limits of the city of Washington, Mr. Kendall acted with a single eye to the public good, and with a deep sense of an imperative duty as a public servant, we do not deem it our duty to impeach him.

Resolved, That the rank injustice of offering a public servant, thus meritorious, to be placed in duress, not for any delinquency or misconduct, but on account of his fidelity to the Government, is a stain upon the national honor, which, as far as it can be done by Congress, should be speedily erased.

Resolved, That our Senators in Congress be instructed, and our Representatives requested, to exert all fair and honorable means, to have the judgment, on which the Hon. Amos Kendall is now imprisoned, for failing to give his official sanction to the claim of Stockton & Stokes, on the P. O. Department, cancelled by the Treasurer of the United States; and also to have the said Kendall allowed and paid, from the public Treasury, the costs and expenses incurred by him in defending the suit of said Stockton & Stokes against him, together with such further sum for his damages, by reason of said suit and imprisonment, as may be a full remuneration therefor.

Louisville, March 1, P. M.—There has been but little change in our market the last few days, except in Louisiana funds. In consequence we are unable at present to make any correct quotations. Indiana is 1/2 to 1 discount. Eastern exchange remains abundant at par to 1 percent. Journal. The Crescent City Journal says, that so much pork has been killed in Cincinnati the present season, that most of the literary ladies interlard their conversation with "scraps" from Bacon. "Hog's tales," are quite a favorite work, and efforts are being made to discover the lineal descendants of the patriarchal Ham. Several girls are in the market as "sopore ribs."

The Hard.
The Advocate of yesterday states that in some parts of Mexico, their currency is in such a wretched condition, that cakes of soap constitute their only small change, and that it is the legal currency of the town. This is certainly a bad state of affairs, but we think it infinitely preferable to the system of worthless, irredeemable shillings, which the 'Advocate's' party would establish in this country if it had the power. The cakes of soap possess some intrinsic value; they are valuable for other purposes than small change, and those who possess them can always give a satisfactory answer to the important question, "how are you off for soap?" But shillings, dirty, greasy, ragged shillings—what are they good for! In nine cases out of ten, they are worth nothing. Some, indeed, that are issued by doggeries, may be 'good for a check,' or 'refreshments at the bar,' i. e. the smallest quantity of the newest kind of whiskey, but the majority of corporation shillings, the people have long since found out, are worth but little more than a sip of brown paper. We would, then, much prefer the cakes of soap for small change, and if the Solons who make laws for our city, should resolve on another issue of certificates, we hope they will give the soap currency a respectful consideration before the year and days are called.

The Gazette and its correspondents are laboring hard to destroy the confidence of Western shippers in the management of our public works, and thus divert from our city, a large portion of the trade and travel which would certainly flow to it, if the excellence, cheapness and the many facilities of our line of improvements were properly understood.

There is something like a coincidence in the conduct of the Gazette at home, and that of its late editor N. B. Craig, in the Legislature. While our cotemporary's correspondents are trying to injure the business of the Canal by misrepresentations and false constructions, Neville B. Craig is laboring in the Legislature to effect the passage of a measure that would inevitably transfer a large portion of the business of the Pennsylvania improvement into the hands of our New York rivals, and turn all the benefits that must ultimately accrue from the expenditures on the Erie extension to a band of yankee stock-gamblers. In combining some of the arguments made against his project, he had the impudence to disregard everything like truth, and declare that not over 100 barrels of Salt were shipped from this city annually. Every one knows how far this is from the truth, and that no one possessing less effrontery than Neville B. Craig would dare to utter such an unfounded calumny against a branch of business that is of much importance to our city.

It cannot be supposed that Mr. Craig committed this error from ignorance, for while at home he always effords to take great interest in the business of Pittsburgh and assume a leading part in advancing all her commercial projects. He could not but know that salt forms a large item of the business of our city, and to fix our shipments at a hundred thousand barrels, would be nearer the truth than the statement he made. If the salt merchants do not submit down for this, they are less sensitive to slander than we have heretofore considered.

Canal Transportation.
We understand that some of the enemies of our public works are circulating a report that the Trucks will not be ready for the railroad at the opening of navigation. This is untrue, as we are informed by a gentleman who has just returned from Johnstown. He tells us that there are ten sets of Trucks at that place, intended for the Columbus Railroad, and they will be placed on the road as soon as the business commences. There are also six sets at Hollidaysburg, for the Portage Road, and two more sets at Blairsville. With these facilities, no interruption can be given to the section boat system, and those who go into the transportation business, on their own hook, will have a fair start with the large lines. We anticipate that our public improvements will do a slashing business this season, in as much as the reduction of tolls and the adoption of a system that will enable individuals with a single boat to embark in the business, will cause such a reduction on the freight, as will draw business to our public works, that, under the old arrangements, they could never get.

Harburg Correspondence.
HARRISBURG, March 5, 1843.
Gentlemen—In the course of the present session, several petitions have been presented to the House asking that Articles of Impeachment might be preferred against the Executive of the Commonwealth, for bribery and corruption. These petitions were signed by seventy-nine persons in all, and came from the city and county of Philadelphia. They were referred to a select committee, and that committee on Thursday last made two reports:—The report of the majority was presented by the Chairman of the Committee, (Mr. Howell) and the report of the minority by Mr. Parke of Chester.

The report of the majority is short, concise, and states that the most prominent of the petitioners had been notified to attend; and produce evidence to sustain the charges preferred. None of them attended, nor was there any proof forthcoming. The committee were referred to the evidence produced last winter, before the investigating committee of which Mr. Shawwood was chairman. Extracts from one or two letters from these petitioners were incorporated in the report, which state that the writer "knew nothing, nor could know any thing in relation to the subject."

The minority report is very lengthy. It is carefully drawn up, and has been the result of much labor. There is no new light, no fresh evidence advanced, but much false reasoning. Garbled extracts are made, and new conclusions drawn from the same testimony upon which the Governor was last year acquitted by a committee, a majority of whom were composed of his political and personal enemies.

Mr. Morris made a motion to print one thousand copies of these two reports.—Upon this motion was moved to postpone the subject for the present, and another proposition indefinitely. Previous to this however, a certain portion of the report was declared to be out of order by the Speaker, inasmuch as it mentioned in disrespectful terms a member of the House.—Mr. Lowry of Crawford. An appeal was taken, and the decision of the Chair sustained. The hour of one o'clock arrived before any vote was taken—The subject will come up to-day again, and the question will be on the motion to postpone the whole subject indefinitely.

The committee of the Senate to whom was referred the appropriation Bill which passed the House, have not yet reported. It is supposed that they will report to the House Bill with some slight amendments.

New Orleans.—The Tropic says, the excitement with regard to the Banks, we are glad to hear, has almost wholly subsided. There was no run upon any of them yesterday. The notes of the Commercial were purchased, in the afternoon, at 20 to 25 per cent. discount.

Hudson, of the Byron Range Gazette, deliberately expressed the opinion of the most tenacious subjects that ever employed the pen of a poet, in an old ad.

Mr. Clay's Reply.—I have been from the Lexington, Ohio, that the dwelling of Cassius M. Clay, Esq. was entered on Monday night last, and robbed of a plate to the value of about $300. The robbers entered the house in some way unknown, as neither door or window was injured, consumed their purpose without molesting, and went out one of the back doors of the dwelling, leaving it open.—They did not take from Mr. Clay any plate, which they could have done without any difficulty.

Mr. Clay offers $100 for the recovery of the plate, and $100 for the arrest of the robber or robbers.

Relief.—The Louisville Journal says that the bill before the Senate of Kentucky, making the arrangement with the present banks to loan an additional million (one hundred thousand dollars in each Congressional district) passed on Tuesday by a vote of 27 to 10.

What would Cincinnati be were it not for her hogs, pigs, pork, hams, bacon, lard oil, &c? We pause for a reply.

A Washington Trol.—Dr. a lady—"Revolutionary armies and cold water armies.—The one drove the red coats from the land; the other the red noses."

About three millions of people in Great Britain are anxious to migrate to this country or Australia during the approaching summer. Distress is driving them from their homes.

The estate of Elmore Williams late of Cincinnati is valued at half a million.

It is stated that the value of the jewelry worn by the ladies of Pennsylvania amounts to eight millions! This would pay off the State debt if the State could be bought for 50 per cent, which is probable.

A Preacher on the Stage.—On the fall of the curtain at the Theatre at Rochester last Saturday evening, one of the actors came forward and announced that the following would be divine services there on the following Sunday evening. The house was filled, the curtain rose upon a library scene, and a clergyman went through with the customary exercises.

The yellow fever rages to a frightful extent in Guyana.

They are exhibiting a negro boy in Mobile, who was cut loose from the apron strings a little too soon. He has all the marks and developments of a full grown man, with whiskers, beard, and large muscles, and is, moreover, quite intelligent.

A rare chance for the Girls.—The people of Iowa earnestly invite young ladies to "take boat for Iowa" and find husbands who will receive them with "open arms." The paper says:—There is a special and earnest call for about five thousand good looking, industrious and sweet tempered young women. We have an excess of about five thousand bachelors, or rather it should be said a deficit of so many unmarried women. This state of things causes dreadful work among the married part of the community. Notwithstanding we have a very liberal divorce law, allowing a dissolution of the bonds for slight causes, yet our legislature is flooded with petitions for divorce. All young ladies who are so philanthropic as to desire to put an end to these family difficulties, are particularly requested to take boat for Iowa, and they will be welcomed with open arms."

Arresting Slaves.—Some slaves in Richmond, Virginia, stole butter from a country farmer on the 25th ult., and when he arrested one of them, the others attempted a rescue without success. Nineteen slaves were also arrested there on the night of the 29th for gambling in a grocery.

The Oregon Fever breaking out anew.—The agent of the Oregon Emigrants urges those who had resolved to migrate to the Oregon territory not to abandon their determination of locating in that El Dorado, merely because the bill making the grant of land has been lost in the House. Mr. Shively says:—"The bill will no doubt become a law in all its force; and as those who have made up their minds to locate in that country have nothing to gain here and nothing to lose there, the company will rendezvous at Fort Leavenworth on the 20th of April. Mr. Fitzpatrick will be in readiness to conduct us across the mountains. Let us occupy this only key to the Pacific, and never yield one foot of it to foreign power, and my fingers of national scorn follow to the grave that negotiation which would be to any portion of it to the British Queen or any other potentate."

Like old Times.—The stile walks of our business streets present a business like appearance rather unusual these times. Boxes, bales, &c. are strewed around in large lots, as they used to be when times were good. We think the predictions of those who promise a "renewal of business" this spring will be fulfilled.

A contemporary says, "from Congress we have nothing of interest"—the N. Y. Union asks "how there can be any interest where there is no principle."
