We observe by the reports of the legislative proesedings in a late Keystone, that Mr Darsie has introduced an amendment to the Canal Bill which passed the House. The amendment merely dethat at the next October election, and thereby the people.

Mr. Darsle deserves credit for thus stripping the question of electing Canal Commissioners of all extraneous matter which might endanger its succoas, such as giving immediate power to elect a disgute it would be an extension of the democratic principle to give the choice of the Canar Comthat Mr Darsie has bro't the issue before the Legislature. No man who claims to be a democrat, who admits the competency and the right of the blect to the amendment. We hope it may reive every democratic vote in the Legislature.

The renegade mason of the Gazette, who spears to be anxious to rival his master in falsehood, says, in a preface to Craig's letter. "We do not think the editors of the Post themselves believed what they wrote and published." We will satisfy his doubts by stating that we did believe what we wrote and published; we believe it still, and since he has attempted to justify Craig, we ask him to prove to the people of Pittsburgh that Craig was faithfully representing his constituents, or evinced a feeling in favor of our mercantile interest when he asserted that not more than one hundred barrels of salt were shipped from this city annually. We want no skulking of the question, and are determined that Craig and his tool shall have this matter rung in their ears until they can explain it, or acknowledge their baseness in mis representing an important item in the business of Pittsburgh.
