DAILY MORNING POST.

MARCH 23, 1843.

The eastern mail failed yesterday for the fourth time since Saturday. The cause of it may be seen from the following from the Chambersburgh times:

"Great Snow Storm.—On Thursday last, the people of this section of country, were greeted with an old-fashioned snow storm. It commenced on Thursday, near mid-day, and continued to fall uninteruptedly until about 3 o'clock on Friday morning, covering the ground to the depth of about twelve inches. From present appearances, we expect to have sleighing until the 1st of April!"

There was a rumor in town yesterday that a boiler had bursted at Saw Mill Run, night before last; but it is without foundation.

The Chronicle states, on the authority of an anonymous correspondent, that the boilers of a steam saw mill at Braddock's field had exploded without seriously injuring any person. A man named Osborne, the note states, was injured, but will recover; L. Matthews escaped by jumping from the cylinder head. The engine was much injured. We have heard nothing going to confirm the above.

Horrible Deaths.—The residence of Cyrus Millard, near Painesville, Ohio, was consumed by fire on the 7th, while its owner and wife were absent, and his four youngest children and a relative, a youth of 14, were consumed.

There has not been a period within the recollection of our oldest settlers, that the river has remained closed until the 10th of March. On Wednesday night last, the 31st, snow fell at this place.

PHENOMENON IN CHEMISTRY—East India Hair Dye—colors the hair and will not the skin. This Dye is in the form of a Powder which in plain matter of fact may be applied to the hair over night, the first night turning the lightest or grey hair to dark brown; and by repeating a second or third night, to a jet black. Any person may, therefore, with the least possible trouble, keep his hair any dark shade or a perfect black, with the positive assurance that the powder if applied to the skin will not color it. There is no coloring in this statement, as any one may easily test. These facts are warranted to, the citizens of Pittsburgh.

NOTICE to Steam Boat Owners.—The subscriber, in consequence of the difficulty of the times, has reduced the price of the Safety Guard for the prevention of the explosion of steam boilers, to $150 per boat.

It is hoped that all steamboat owners will avail themselves of these reasonable terms, not only on account of the perfect safety they will find in the application of economy. Boilers with the apparatus attached will wear about twice as long as those not provided with them.

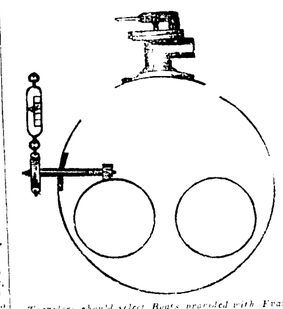
FOR SAFETY.



Travelers should select Boats provided with Evans' Safety Guards, for preventing Explosion of Steam Boilers.

IT would be well for the traveling community to bear in mind that their security depends entirely upon their own encouragement of boats that have or may be at the expense of procuring the above apparatus. And in so every individual making such selection is contributing towards a general introduction of an invention admitted by all men who understand the principles of the Steam Engine, to be a sure preventative against those dreadful disasters You have certainly, in the hundreds of explosions that have already taken place, their almost daily occurrence, and the thousands of lives that have already been lost, a sufficient warning, and inducement to make inquiry for a Safety guard Boat, and in every case to give it the preference. They have went to an additional expense that your lives may be secure. Ought you not therefore to meet them with a corresponding degree of liberality, and by your preference show that you appreciate their laudable endeavors to stop this awful sacrifice of human life. They do not charge more than other boats; their accommodations in other respects are equal, and in many cases superior; and as there is one leaving Pittsburgh every day, why will you run any risk, when it is so completely in your own power to avoid those disasters.

All boats marked thus [*] in the List of Arrivals and Departures, in another part of this paper, are supplied with the Safety Guar

INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION.

Extract from "Wealth and Misery."

It is evident that if each one could produce for himself all the various articles of wealth that he requires, no possible injustice could happen in the distribution; for each producer would retain and consume his own produce. It is also evident that, if such a state of things could exist, labor-saving machines must necessarily either increase man's comfort, or diminish the hours necessary to labor: for instance, if a man's powers of production increase forty-fold, and he was still content with the same quantity of wealth which satisfied his wants previously to that increase, he would only require to labor during 18 minuets each day instead of twelve hours; or else, if he did work twelve hours, he would daily acquire forty times as much wealth.

But this we know to be impossible without giving up the immense advantages attending a division of labor. It would throw us back almost into the savage state. A workman cannot produce with advantage either to himself or the community more than a very few different kinds of wealth; these it is evident cannot supply his wants; he can himself use but a small part of them, and the rest must be exchanged for other articles. Now it is evident that it is the manner in which these necessary exchanges are made that produces want and poverty: for we have just seen, that if no commercial exchanges were made at all, no injustice in distribution could occur; and the producer would increase in wealth, just in proportion as his means of production increased. In other words, it is the present system of commercial exchange that deprives Britain's laborers, in some way or other, of thirty-eight fortieths of produce of their industry, and often starves them altogether because they have already overstocked the market, and are thus become useless as producers. Can no better system of exchange be devised than this?

Let us suppose a large family, the various members of which were of different occupations: some farmers, others carpenters, some bakers, others weavers, and so on. And, suppose this family producing for its own consumption. In what way would its members effect the necessary exchanges of produce?

There are two different and distinct ways in which it might be done.

Either—the farmer might sell his grain and other produce to the bakers, the carpenters and the other members of the family, for money, with which money he would afterwards purchase from them what articles he wanted; while they in their turn, would dispose of their surplus produce in like manner, and for the same purpose. This is the commercial system, in its simplest and least injurious form.

Or else—the farmers might agree to supply the family with the produce of the farm as they were wanted, the carpenters to prepare the necessary wood-work, the bakers to bake as much bread as the family required, and so of the others, each one furnishing his proportion to the family stock, and drawing from it what he required. This plan would supersede individual trading, and may be termed the federative or cooperative system.
