ARY MORNING POST.

APRIL 11, 1843. A Lidberers' Exchange .- The N. York Sun thinks that as the Merchants and Mechanics have their exchanges, where they and well chosen assortment of make contracts, sell and buy lumber. stone, &c., the Laborers also should have one. It could easily be provided, if the corwhere they could assemble a few hours each day where persons who want hands Books. could go and get them.

It strikes us that such an Exchange (so called) would be of essential benefit to the laboring men of this city. Now, when a man wants a job done he finds it very, difficult to get a man because he does not know where to look for one. If a place was provided for them where they could meet (a 'reading room would be the nost suitable,) it would bauf great aivantage to them, and also a convenience to all classes of citizens.

We seriously ask the attention of the Councils to this, if they feel anxious, as we know many of them do, to confer blessings upon the poor.

To persons out of employment.-The Boston Employment Society at a recent meeting passed the following resolution: "Resolved, That the society earnestly recommend to those who resort in the country not to escort to Biston in hopes of abtaining employment, which there is lit when no chance of procuring."

The same advice we give to those who are now getting along in any way in the country towns surrounding Pittsburgh. We frequently hear of men renting out their farms for a sun which will not more than pay house rent in the city, and comhere to take their chan ce for any job

INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATION

"A Better world could not be get up." "I see by the Morning Post that Thornburgh is making another attempt to immortalize himself by endeavoring to get up an Industrial Association. The object which he has in view is good, in the abstract, but it is impracticable, as the world can ment. It is expected that these boals will be halft in re- not be brought to seek its benefits while man is ference to Bunter or Ericsson's Propeller. Its salutary effect is very questions. 41 Barks Peathers, just received per steamhoats best quality, and is to be painted with two good coats of West Point and Harishurgh, and for sale very low for cash, red lead, (one before the work is put up and the other what good he can under the present order of things, he would live to a better purpose, than in making people discontented with themselves and in endeavoring to overturn the world by broaching so many Utopian schemes. , 'A beiter world can't be got up, no how, and it is going to be wound up on the 23d."

The above is an extract from a letter of an eas teemed friend now in the west to a relative in this city. We attach much importance to it because it is the anprejudiced opinion of one who thinks; and though nothing he has said, has, in the least, shaken our faith in the practicability of the magnificent project of Association, we nevertheless give his suggestions respectful consideration.

As to the impracticability of the scheme we can hardly comprehend his meaning. For our park we cannot see how right can be impracticable.-Our present social system is founded on injustice, society is continually warring against the indi, vidual and the individual against society. Order is Heaven's first law,' but it is unknown in the world at present-there is no harmony, no justice. but all is confusion and fraud. Is there any thing in he laws of 'Nature or Nature's God'that makes such a state of things neces ary? We cannot think
