These feelings, I am sure, will be shared by the President am sare, will be shared by the President. I concur with you in protesting against the doctrine that a state which has pledged its faith and resources, can release itself from the obligation, however, burdensome in any way but that of honorable payment. Fatal delusions, in times of great distress, occasionally come over the minds of communities as well as individuals, but I re-New York and Liverpool Line.

worthy and immortal. The memorialists are pleased to give me credit for sympathy with their sufferings. There is, perhaps, no person, not directly a sufferer, who has had so much reason as myself to feel deeply all the evil effects—the sacrifice not merely of material prosperity, but what is of infinitely greater consequence, of public honor-resulting from this disastrous failure. The reproach which it has brought upon the American name has been the only circumcumstance which has prevented a resi-The line has at a heavy expense taken a Potter of Insugarace from one of the most substantial and prompt

The position, gentlemen, of some at least of the indebted states is as singular as it is deplorable. They have in the themselves most enadvisably in engagements which would be onerous to much larger and richer communities; and yet they possess, under an almost present embarrsament, the undoubted means of eventual recovery. I will take the state of IIlinois for instance, and what I say of that state will hold for others, making allowance for difference of lucal circumstances. The state of Illinois undertook a few years Ware, No. 17, Fifth st., between Wood and Mar- about 100 mil s in length, to unite the way ters of Lake Michigan with those of the Reeps constantly on hand a good assortment of wares, and solicits a share of public patronage.
