THE WATER-LILLY. From the clear water springeth A white and lovely flower, Beholds the sun, and bringeth Its homege to his power.

At once its eye it turneth Aloft in truth and love; An offering pure it burneth To its high God above:

Over the deep it hovers Like angel's prayers to sweet No restless wish discovere-Love is its blass complete.

When howl the tempests chilly, And heavy drench the rains, Still calmly waves the lilly Upon the billowy plains;

Nor from the station flieth Where God its head did faise; Heaven patiently it eyeth

And hopes for better days, Away the storms are winging; The purple evening round

Sheds pearls; and softly singing; The harps of ocean sound

In the sea's silver dwelling The Neck* his song doth raise

"Come and behold all wonder Which fill the deep, deep sea; In meads of rose far under, Pil sing alone to thee.
