SLEEPING AND WAKING DREAMS. BY MRS ABDY. The bright and varied dreams that cheer The darkness of the night, How soon our sorrows disappear Beneath their magic light! Long banished pleasures they renew,

The loved and lost, the good and true.

They yield to us once more. 'Tis true we wake, and sigh to meet The world's returning strife, But coming night shall bid us greet an sleep another life. Age may assert its ruthless power, But still those dreams remain, Giving to us the precious hour Of youth and joy again.

Long absent friends restore;

But there are dreams more bright, more blest, That lull us in the day; How soon in such enchanted reit Life's vigor steals away; We imagine fair and cloudless years Beneath a spell like this, And deem our changeful vale of tears A fairy land of blise:

We wake-we feel our trust betrayed; We moorn in fruitless pain; Alus! when once such visions fade. They charm us not again: A faint sad vestige of the dream But never in its second beam So sunny as its first.

And when in age we sadly sigh O'er blighted hopes of truth, We trace in bitter mockery The day-dreams of our youth; Yet we had view'd this world of woe, Perhaps with kindred glance, Had we ne'er decked it with the glow Of fanciful romance.

Safe are the dreams that night bestows -They come to us unsought, And pass unbid; but wee to those Who dream in daily thought, Who picture friends and lovers true, Glad scrnes, unbroken ties-Oh! how should they endure to vicw Life's rough realities?

Must we then turn from Joy's fair bowers; All lovely as they seem? No hopes of radient light are ours, flopes that are not a dream; They tell us mid our pleasures brief, There is a land more dear. And whispers in the time of grief-"Thy refuge is not here."

The writer is of opinion, that Holland has no alternative but Repudiation or Bankruptcy. It is out of the question to pay. New debts are and nually incurred to pay arrearages of interest. This state of things defies even hope. He adds, "the Dutch have struggled manfully against their increasing difficulties .-The have cut down the perquisites of royalty so low, that their King is not much more than a head Buryomaster; and theyhave pared away their protective duties. till the maximum amount of the revenue has been procured. Go further they cannot. Their government they cannot further change without revolution, and if their tariff should be reduced much more, it will cease to exist altogether." Such is the melancholy picture of the present financial condition of Holland.

The debt of Great Britain is $3,700. 000,000. Population 25,000,000. About $200 of indebtedness to each man, woman and child in that kingdom; but her resources, particularly, in her wide spread colonial possessions, are vast, some have even called them unexhaustible. England yet pays her interest promptly, by annual taxation. And she has not yet tried the great treasury-Retrenchment, which her Dutch neighbors have. This is a resort which would bring millions of dollars into her treasury. Therefore is it not too much to say, that Eucland is on safer ground than Holland. The latter has reached her maximum of debt endurance. The for-

Norway and Prussia are less in debt than is usual in Europe.

The population of the former is 1.060. 000 and her debt is but $3,000,000, which is being gradually and steadily paid, as her finances are so well managed that she MANUFACTURED at Wm. Leysburn's Cabinet Shop has a certain excess of income of $100,000 has a certain excess of income of $100,000 applicable to the payment of the principal of the public debt.
