Count Zinzechecoff-One of the most stinguished Admirals in the Russian Na. Ey is Count Zinzechoff, who is a native of Meredith, N H and whose real name is Thomas F Williams. According to an account published of him in the New Hampshire papers, it seems that he went to see before the mast, sailing between Boston and St. Petersburg. At the latter place he was left sick, and on his recovery entered the Russian merchant service. The vessel in which he sailed was attacked by pirates, but the bravery of young Williams saved the ship. He killed the captain and mate of the firste with Lis ting it whonever pride or luxury prompt own hands, carried the Russian vessel into them to an extra decoration of their perrank, by sea and land, he has grown greatand Lord High Admiral of all the Cos- kers, &c., cannot be excelled in the neat-Males.
