

PROSPECTS OF THE UNITED STATES. In 1840, the United States had a population of 17,068,888. Allowing its future increase to be at the rate of 33 1/3 per cent. for each of the next 60 years, it will number in 1900, 303,101,641—ten years more than the population of the world.

THE PEOPLE AND THE CORN LAWS. The average increase of population in England is said to be 300,000 per annum. But about 300,000 persons are emigrated every year, which leaves an annual increase of 100,000. By the last census, says a writer in the London Dispatch, it appears that in spite of the high immigration, which during the preceding ten years, was applied to emigration, there had been an increase of 1,000,000. It is evident that nothing less than emigration to the extent of about 500,000 per annum would be sufficient to keep the country in a fair supply of food under the present Corn Laws.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

FOR PRESIDENT. JAS. BUCHANAN, Subject to the decision of THE DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTION. The Daily Morning Post. PHILADELPHIA, FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1854.

THE NEW PLAN OF UNION BETWEEN THE WHIGS AND THE BEEF NOSHES.—As the election approaches, both branches of the federal party begin to see that the vote for the Democratic ticket will be greater than that polled by the factions on both tickets, and they are busily engaged in devising some method of averting the consummate disgrace of such a defeat. There is too much pride, ill-will and jealousy among the heads of the contending factions, to permit them to think of coming together, were there a possibility that the aggregate vote for their candidates would exceed the Democratic vote—that that case they could assure their allies abroad, of the fact, that they still maintained a federal majority, which was dividing upon certain points. But now that this result is before them, they are endeavoring, though with evident reluctance, to compose their differences, and bring out a single set of candidates, that will make a respectable show of opposition to the triumphant progress which the democracy are making towards a complete victory in this country. These leaders are well aware, that if they keep both tickets in the field, they will be blamed by their partisans out of the country with having willfully brought defeat on the party—while, if they can arrange a single ticket, and withdraw one now in the field, they can charge their inevitable defeat on "General Apolly" or any other of the intangible "generals" who have done so much mischief.

AN EXILES WARFARE.—A late meeting of the friends of Clay in Lancaster County they came to the fearful determination of retaining on until Pennsylvania, as they surely will have, a Whig Governor, and the President and until properly and happily shall thus be again re-elected to the State and the Nation. When the everlasting fight that will be some time since the editor of this paper, Henry Clay was elected. The poor man is walking on his head as he can, and every day the prospect of being relieved from his rash vow appears more gloomy. He will, in all probability have to walk for the term of his natural life, and then drop off without having his wishes consummated. We fear the vigorous patriots of Lancaster are in a similar predicament, and the present generation will be turned to clay—not for Clay—before they stop fighting.

THE FOLLOWING IS AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT OF THE CONDITION OF THE DEBT OF THE UNITED STATES: STATEMENT OF THE U. S. DEPT. OF TREASURY, JULY 5, 1854. Total amount of the public debt, $1,123,000,000.00. Interest on the same, $1,123,000,000.00. Total amount of the public debt, $2,246,000,000.00.

THE PROCEEDS OF THE SEVEN MILLION LION RECENTLY negotiated, which matures July 1st, 1853, together with balances in Treasury, will reduce the $2,500,000,000 of Treasury notes outstanding on the 1st of August, 1854. The annual charge for interest is $1,123,000,000.

THE FOURTH AT NAUVOO.—The Burlington (Iowa) Gazette says, that the Nauvoo militia, who were sent to Nauvoo. They returned much pleased with their trip. They were escorted by the military from the leading to Temple, whose seats had been reserved for them. Two boats, with five or six hundred soldiers, were sent to Nauvoo, and also a large number of volunteers. They returned much pleased with their trip. They were escorted by the military from the leading to Temple, whose seats had been reserved for them.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

COMMUNICATIONS. Messrs. Editors.—Among the county candidates of the Board of Canal Commissioners, Thos. L. Wilson, Secretary, A. B. Warfield, Principal Engineer of the State, and John Mitchell, Supervisor of the Erie Extension, arrived in this place on Wednesday evening last. While here a considerable amount of business was done—many claims investigated—the unsettled affairs of the Extension arranged for final settlement, and measures adopted to transfer the Canal Line into the hands of the Erie Canal Company. They left town on Friday.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

PITTSBURGH THANKS. The Public are respectfully informed that the above establishment will open on Monday evening, the 14th inst., with an entire new paper, for the fall season, under the management of Wm. F. HAYES, and every thing will be done to render the THEATRE (once more) a place of instruction and amusement. aug 4-1w.

COPPER, TIN AND SHEET IRON WARE. This establishment respectfully informs its friends and former patrons, that he has removed his establishment from No. 61, Liberty to No. 1, Third, nearly opposite the Post Office, where he continues to sell all his various branches. He respectfully solicits a continuance of the patronage so liberally extended to him heretofore, and pledges himself that no pains shall be spared on his part to merit the same. Continually on hand, Manufactured Ware, of all kinds, all of which will be sold low for cash. Spouting, &c., made to order at short notice. R. M. DAWSON. aug 4-1w.

FOR A TERM OF YEARS, my house, store room and work shop, on 3d street, opposite St. Mark's, &c. Co. The shop is brick, 19 feet wide by 30 long, 3 stories high. I have in it a small steam engine, about 5 horse power, which I will also rent, if desired. For further particulars enquire of WM. NEELON. ORRIN NEELON. aug 4-1w.

TO MACHINISTS, ENGINE-BUILDERS AND OWNERS OF MACHINERY. BABBITT'S ANTI-FRICTION METAL.—This excellent invention for the reduction of friction in machinery has at length been introduced into our city. It consists of a metal, suitable for all revolving and sliding motions in the various kinds of machinery, where great weight or speed are applied; these boxes reduce friction in a remarkable degree, requiring but little oil, and are warranted entirely free from the objections found with those now in use. These lines have been introduced in many of the Eastern Rail Roads, and in various manufacturing establishments in that section of the country, which the limits of an advertisement will allow us to mention. It is a metal of great strength, and is not liable to wear, and is used in the most delicate machinery, and is used in the most delicate machinery, and is used in the most delicate machinery.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.

THE PROGRESS OF TEMPERANCE.—The Concord (N. H.) Freeman says, that some young fellows made his appearance a few days ago among the Irish laborers in the city, and opened a shop in their midst. The laborers held a meeting, chose a moderator, and then proceeded to consider the case of the interloper. The conclusion to which they came was, that he had 24 hours given him to decamp from the manor.