chased in the Eastern markets this spring and made into garments by Pitttsburgh workmen. In consequence of the multiplication of slop shops in our city, filled with pawn brokers clothes and the musty, cast off garments of former seasons, from the eastern cities, the public should be cautious to ascertain the character of the establishments in which they are invited to rchase, before they part with their money. The articles offered at several of the concerns in this city, are the mere offals of New York and Philadelphia slop pops, and sent out here to be palmed off on the Pittsburgh public. Purchasers should be on their guard against these impositions, and they may rely on the fact that no establishment that advertises castern made Clothing, can give as good an article or as advantageous barrainess can be had at the "Three Big Doors."

The public will please remember that all the subscri er's garments are made in this city, by competent workand not gathered up like the goods now offered by birds of passage" from the shreds and patches of n slop shops. It will always be his endeavor to reputation that the "Three Big Doors" obtained for furnishing a superior style of CLO-HING in every respect, and at prices below those of any other establishment.

He would again return his thanks to his friends and the public for the unprecedented patronage bestowed upon his establishment, and believing that they have found it to their advantage to deal with him, he would repeat his invitation to all those who wish to purchase Clothing of every description as the control of the con Observe Metal Plate in the pavement. ap 26. the soldier let go her arm, the poor girl fell helpleasly on the pavement, and lay there insensible. Scuderi could bear this no longer. "In Heaven's name, what has happened!" cried shet and ordering the door opened, she stepped out of the carriage. Some compassionate women lifted up the young girl, placed her on the steps, and rubbed her forehead and hands with spirits; while the lady made her way to Desgrais, and eagerly repeated her questions. The official answered bluntly: "Renê Cardillac was this morning found murdered His assistant, Olivier Brusson, is the murderer. He has just been carried to prison."

"And the girl?" inquired M'lle de Seuderi. "She is Madelon, Cardillac's daughter. The prisoner is her lover, and she is protesting his innocence. She has at least a knowledge of the deed, and I must send her also to the Conciergerie." As he spoke he threw a fierce look at the poor girl. Respectively. She was beginning to breathe heavily, but had no power to move or speak; her aims hung motionless, her eyes were closed, and the bystanders seemed at a loss what to do with her.
