

The day selected being a strict holiday in the Roman Catholic Church, the festival of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary, the celebration of the feast was observed on the 15th of the month.

The great meeting in point of numbers, character and importance, which ever since the famous hill of O'Connell, has been the most deeply interesting and the most important to the people of this country.

Our vehicle could not get within two miles of the hill, but we were obliged to stop at the foot of the hill, and to walk up the steep ascent.

It was not until we had reached the summit of the hill, that we were able to get a full view of the city.

It would be more prudent to shun the tower than to be exposed to the fire of the soldiers.

It is not to be expected that the people will be able to do more than to express their sympathy for the cause.

He might well say that they were "through to recall to life the Kings and Chiefs of old Ireland."

At a special meeting of the United Association, on Friday, the 4th inst., Mr. O'Connell read a letter which he had received from M. Ledru Rollin.

Mr. O'Connell's speech was a masterpiece of eloquence, and it was well received by the audience.

It is not difficult to discern why the American people are so deeply interested in the cause of Ireland.
