TOTTLE has received this day from New York a fresh supply of the above celebrated cure for Coughs, Colds and Consumptions; and is ready to sunners at wholesale or retail, at his Medical Agency, 86 Fourth st. nov 12 Better Bargains than ever, at the Three Big Doors.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform his customers and the public generally, that notwithstad-ing the unprecedented sales at the Three Big Doors, during the present season; he has still on hand the lar gest and most varied assortment of elegant CLO-THING that can be bought west of the mountains.—

The public may rest assured that all articles offered a his store are maufactured from FRESH GOODS, purchased in the Eastern markets this spring and made into garments by Pitttsburgh workmen.

In consequence of the multiplication of slop shops in our city, filled with pawn brokers clothes and the musty, cast of garments of former seasons, from the eastern c ties, the public should be cautious to ascertain the character of the establishments in which they are invited to purchase, before they part with their money. The arti-cles offered at several of the concerns in this city, are the mere offals of New York and Philadelphia slop shops, and sent out here to be palmed off on the Pittsburgh public. Purchasers sheeld be on their guard a gainst these impositions, and they may rely on the fact that no establishment that advertises castern made Clothing, can give as good an article or as advantageou.

Sargains as can be had at the "Three Big Doors." The public will please remember that all the subscri r's garments are made in this city, by competent work men, and not gathered up like the goods now offered by the "birds of passage" from the shreds and patches of eastern slop shops. It will always be his endeavor to maintain the reputation that the "Three Big Doors" have obtained for furnishing a superior style of CLO-THING in every respect, and at prices below those of any other establishment. He would again return his thanks to his friends and the public for the unprecedented patronage bestowed upon his establishment, and believing that they have found it to their advantage to deal with him, he would repeat his invitation to all those who wish to purchase Clothing of every description at the lowest price, to call at No. 151, LIBERTY ST. - JOHN M'CLOSKEY. 10th instant. Should Mr. Wm. Darby be in the city, on the receipt Should Mr. Wm. Darby be in the city, on the receipt of this, I pray you to present to him my thanks for this act of justice to me, and for the scourging he has given that lying, worthless scamp, Brackenridge, whom I found in New Orleans, on my way to Pensacola to receive the Government of Florida, without money and without friends. I took him into my family, bore all his expenses and expensed him alcalde and expense. without triends. I took nim into my lamily, bore all his expenses, and appointed him alcalde and storm translator of the Spanish lunguage; but, finding he translated imperfectly, I made young Mr. Rutledge translator. I had not the least idea of his treachery until after he was charged with having left his bench, in the midst of a cause, (the jury being in the box,) without his hat, and never returned to adjourn the court. In consequence of this, I would not re-appoint him; and he then came out against me with an abusive pamphlet, in which he acknowledged that he had give en a false translation of Governor Callava's address to hese are the tools that my enemies hire to abuse me. I mistake much if their course, in this case, do not injure them greatly. The letter of Mr. Darby is well written, and, with honest men, will have its effect. The gentleman in this city to whom the letter was written, from which the above extract is taken, has been an intimate friend with General Jackson for the last twenty or thirty years, and says that he has often heard him declare that Brackenridge translated falsely, and thathe (Brackenridge) afterwards acknowledged in a pamplilet that he had done so. Breckenridge was in this city, in the spring of the year 1832, and then wrote two long essays against General Jackson, which were published in the weekly United States Telegraph. Those essays show the malignity of Breckenridge, and how unscrupatous he is in making statements. We subjoin an editorial article taken from the Globe of the 11th of May, 1832, which proves that Breckenridge is not to be believed when he is his own witness. In the article there is a letter from William P. Duval, then Governor of Florida, who written by Gov. Daval and published in the Globe. From the Globe of May 11, 1832. AN HONEST JUDGE. II. M. BRACKENRIDGE, late judge of Florida, who was taken up by General Jackson, cherished by his kindness, and promoted through his influence, when without succor or support—after having forfeited the confidence of his benefactor, has very naturally associated himself with Duff Green, in abusing one to whom he owes so many obligations, through the columns of the Telegauph. He evinces all the deadly hatred of a renegade; and every line which his pen gives the public, more truly than the pencil of the most perfect limner, serves to portray the character of one who first

It will be observed that in the first letter he lays stress upon the circumstance that he made publications "which operated in favor of Gen. Jackson's election." We quote his remarks, to show how he puts forth his claims to the President's gratitude, and will contrast them with the feelings be exhibits in his second letter, proving at once his hypocrisy, and how little claim he had on the President's kindness. He says:

"My feelings towards General Jackson were those of the MOST PERFECT GOOD WILL, and I had no reason to suppose he entertained any other towards ine. Infleenced by this impression, I paid my respects to him et Washington last spring. He received me in the most ordial, frank, and friendly manner, invited ma to s family dinner, and after it was over retired with me, smoked his pipe, and exhibited to me his nondmation by the Legislature of New York, as a child exhibits its bauble. Finding him in such excellent humor, I took occasion to mention that my commission would have to be renewed at the next session of Congress. I had considered the renewal as a matter of course, as the term had been always hitherto, practically regarded as fice, where he will be happy to wait upon permanent or being during good behavior. It had been renewed on transient customers. He solicits a share of public patronage.
