ARE YOU ASSURED?

To-morrow will be the last day on which persons can be assessed in time to entitle them to a vote at the approaching election. We insert the names of the Assessors in their two cities.

PITTSBURGH.—Jas Ward—T. Perkins, Market st., between 2nd and 3d.
2nd Ward—W. Whitaker, 2nd above Grant.
3rd Ward—H. P. Smith, Washington street, a few doors above the canal.

4th Ward—Joseph O'Brien, Duquesne way, between Hand street and Washington street.
5th Ward—John Wilkins.

ALLEGHENY.—1st Ward—Wm. A. Irwin, Robinson street.
2nd Ward—Thomas Combs, Beaver street, near the Orphan's Asylum.
3rd Ward—Wm. Benson, Franklin street, near the Old Cloth Factory.
4th Ward—Jas. Ribbey, corner of Sandusky and Bank street.
5th Ward—Robert Gallagher, near Fountain Inn.

Col. TROVILLO.—We insert, in this paper, a well written communication embracing testimonials of the heavy and good conduct of Col. Trovillo, in the late war. It is impossible that his distinguished services, so generously and freely rendered, in the period of his country's extremest peril, can ever be effaced from the memory of his fellow citizens. So long as love of country and ardent devotion to her interests are looked upon as virtues so long as it is considered praiseworthy and honorable for men to voluntarily take up arms in her defence—so long as the excellent military talents which inclined the volunteers of the late war to abandon the ease, the pleasures and the comforts of their domestic life, for the toils, the trials and the dangers of the camp and the battle-field—so long will Col. Trovillo, and such as he, stand high in the estimation and affections of their countrymen. It was a noble and a heroic deed, which was paid by Gen. HARRISON, in his speech in this city, when, in alluding to the Pittsburgh Blues, he said that if he should again be called to command an army, he only wished that they might all be as brave and as constant as that noble and devoted countryman. The testimonials alluded to, prove that Col. Trovillo was looked on as among the bravest of our fellow countrymen.

We have no wish to depreciate the claims of the young gentlemen who are competitors with Col. Trovillo for the office of Sheriff. That they are worthy men we shall not deny—but what claim can they make for public support, which can weigh as against the position of the old veteran of Missisquoi? It was a noble and a heroic deed, which was paid by Gen. HARRISON, in his speech in this city, when, in alluding to the Pittsburgh Blues, he said that if he should again be called to command an army, he only wished that they might all be as brave and as constant as that noble and devoted countryman. The testimonials alluded to, prove that Col. Trovillo was looked on as among the bravest of our fellow countrymen.

These considerations cannot fail to have their weight with men who have no partial feelings to gratify, or who are not governed by party nominations in voting for county officers. Aside from party considerations, Morrison and Hays have claims to a tender to the suffrage of the people. A man who raises not whether the Blue Noises or the Clay Whigs pull the largest vote, has but little inducement to vote for either of them.

So much for the claims of Col. Trovillo upon those who are indifferent to party organization and party results in affairs merely executive. It is hardly necessary to say that the claims of the old soldier upon his fellow democrats are undoubted and strong. His measure of the democratic party, will not be called in question, and he was fairly placed on the ticket by a convention in which every township was represented, after the fullest and most thorough canvass for nomination ever witnessed in the county. He has, then, every conceivable reason to expect the undivided support of the party—that he will receive it, we feel every confidence, and that he will elect by a triumphant vote, we have no shadow of doubt.

WILLIAM WILKINS.—The whole power of federalism in this district, seems to be directed against the democratic candidate for Congress, and notwithstanding the bitter animosity that exists among its several factions, they act with perfect harmony and good fellowship in tracing the character of William Wilkins. The great popularity and noble qualifications of the candidate, have convinced them that nothing but the most extraordinary efforts can save them from a disgraceful defeat. They have accordingly dropped all other matters, and have united their efforts in a desperate assault on his political reputation. For weeks they have labored in their course of defamation; they have their pamphlets and handbills covering the city, endeavoring to excite some conversation, or puff some paper, from which they may gather matter to assail the democratic candidate. His antislavery opponent for whom his friends have not ventured to say a word, or point to one act in his long life, that should entitle him to the consideration of his fellow citizens, presides at the head of the movement, infusing the proper portion of malignancy into the attacks, and controls the machine that forges the representations on the public.

It is in any one political question which Judge Morrison is known to be more fully committed than in any other, it is on the propriety of a tariff for the protection of domestic industry. He has always been

MR. EDITOR.—Of all the feelings which predominate in the breasts of American citizens, there is probably none so strong and enduring as that of gratitude to those who bravely peril their lives in the hour of their country's danger. Nor can there be a nobler trait in the character of a people, who it is kept within due bounds, and manifested on proper occasions. In a republic especially, where, from the free exercise of rights and opinions, aspirations to office are universally allowed, the public mind is naturally turned to the consideration of the merits of those who have distinguished themselves by their services to the country. MR. EDITOR.—I do not know that I can present to you a better illustration of the feelings of the people of Pennsylvania, than in a circular, published by the so-called "Pittsburgh Club." It will occur to every one, that if it is a true statement, the publication is entirely unnecessary. It is a mere "trick," a political scheme resorted to for the purpose of creating impressions in the public mind, and of securing a victory for the candidate of the "Pittsburgh Club," during the election of the next year. ELECTRICITY.—There is considerable inquiry as to the effect of the remarkable earthquake of the 25th of September, on the health of the people of this city.

THE STATE OF MISSOURI.—The Michigan papers are filled with advertisements of the sale of the first Monday of next month. Sales take place at each county seat on the day. The cost of advertising the sales amounts to $35,000.

YELLOW FEVER.—The N. O. Tropic of the 18th gives the following report of the Charity Hospital for the forty-eight hours ending at 6 o'clock the previous evening:

Admitted 45
Discharged 26
Deaths 17
Yellow Fever patients remaining in Hospital 63

Those who have paid attention to the report published herewith will observe that the cases of yellow fever have increased.

THE STATEMENT FURNISHED BY THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT OF MISSOURI, shows that the importation of foreign goods into this country, within the last year, has fallen off to the amount of nine millions of dollars.

SALE OF PUBLIC LANDS IN ILLINOIS.—The State Auditor of Illinois has advertised a sale of all the land owned by the State, except the Canal Lands, to take place in April next. It is to be sold to the highest and best bidder, and payment made in the State Bonds and Internal Improvement Scrip of Illinois.

UPON THE RESULT OF THIS SALE, says the Alton Telegraph, will depend as to the probability of our ever relieving ourselves from debt. Large calculations have been made as to the amount these lands will bring in our State securities. But imagined as the sale of the personal property belonging to the State has been, those calculations will not only fail, but the lands will scarcely cover the expenses of sale.

APPOINTMENT.—The Baltimore Sun of the 26th says:—We learn from Washington, that Delany S. Carr, Esq., of this city, has been appointed Minister Resident, Constantinople, vice Gen. David Porter, deceased. This mark of Executive favor will meet the warm approbation of the numerous friends of Mr. Carr. We learn that Mr. Carr is expected to leave for New U. S. brig Lawrence, just built at this port, will take him out.

THE CHARLES ROBERTS AND MURDERERS.—We have verbal information from Jefferson City to St. Louis, that the late Charles Roberts, who was indicted for the murder of the late Governor, was indicted for the murder of the late Governor, was indicted for the murder of the late Governor.
