Evans' Chamomile Pills.

ABRAHAM J. CLEMER, residing at 66, Mott street, New York, was afflicted with Dyspepsia in its most aggravated form. The symptoms were violent headache, great debility, fever, costiveness, cough, heartburn, pain in the chest and stomach always after eating, impaired appetite, sensation of sinking at the stomach, furred tongue, nausea, with frequent vomitings, dizziness towards night and restlessness. These and continued upwards of a twelvemonth, when, on consulting Dr. Wm. Evans, 100 Chatham street, and submitting to his ever successful and agreeable mode of treatment, the patient was completely restored to health in the short space of one month, and grateful for the incalculable benefit derived, gladly came forward and volunteered the above statement. Better Bargains than ever, at the Three Big Doors.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform his customers and the public generally, that notwithstanding the unprecedented sales at the Three Big Doors, during the present season; he has still on hand the largest and most varied assortment of elegant CLOTHING that can be bought west of the mountains.—The public may rest assured that all articles offered at his store are manufactured from FRESH GOODS, purchased in the Eastern markets this spring and made into garments by Pittsburgh workmen.

In consequence of the multiplication of slop shops in our city, filled with pawn brokers clothes and the musty, cast off garments of former seasons, from the eastern cities, the public should be cautious to ascertain the character of the establishments in which they are invited to purchase, before they part with their money. The articles offered at several of the concerns in this city, are the mere offals of New York and Philadelphia slop shops, and sent out here to be palmed off on the Pittsburgh public. Purchasers should be on their guard against these impositions, and they may rely on the fact that no establishment that advertises eastern made Clothing, can give as good an article or as advantageous bargains as can be had at the "Three Big Doors."

The public will please remember that all the subscriber's garments are made in this city, by competent workmen, and not gathered up like the goods now offered by the "birds of passage" from the shreds and patches of eastern slop shops. It will always be his endeavor to maintain the reputation that the "Three Big Doors" have obtained for furnishing a superior style of CLOTHING in every respect, and at prices below those of any other establishment.

He would again return his thanks to his friends and the public for the unprecedented patronage bestowed upon his establishment, and believing that they have found it to their advantage to deal with him, he would repeat his invitation to all those who wish to purchase Clothing of every description at the lowest price, to call at No. 151, LIBERTY ST. JOHN M'CLOSKEY.

Look at This.

THE attention of those who have been somewhat sceptical in reference to the numerous certificates published in favor of Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry, on account of the persons being unknown in this Section of the State, is respectfully directed to the following certificate, the writer of which has been a citizen of this borough for several years, and is known as a gentleman of integrity and responsibility.

To the Agent, Mr. J. KIRBY.

I have used Dr. Swayne's Compound Syrup of Wild Cherry for a Cough, with which I have been severely afflicted for about four months, and I have no hesitation in saying that it is the most effective medicine that I have been able to procure. It composes all uneasiness, and agrees well with my diet,—and maintains a regular and good appetite. I can sincerely recommend it to all others similarly afflicted. J. MINNICK, Borough of Chambersburg.

FOR SAFETY,
Travellers should select Boats provided with Evan's Safety Guards for preventing Explosion of Steam Boilers
IT would be well for the traveling community to bear in mind that their security depends entirely upon their own encouragement of boats that have or may be at the expense of procuring the above apparatus. And that every individual making such selections is contributing towards a general introduction of an invention admitted by all men who understand the principles of the Steam Engine, to be a sure preventative against those dreadful disasters. You have certainly, in the hundreds of explosions that have already taken place, their almost daily occurrence, and the thousands of lives that have already been lost, a sufficient warning, and inducement to make inquiry for a Safety guard Boat, and in every case to give it the preference. They have went to an additional expense to meet them with a corresponding degree of liberality, and by your preference show that you appreciate their laudable endeavors to stop this awful sacrifice of human life. They do not charge more than other boats; their accommodations in other respects are equal, and in many cases superior; and as there is one leaving Pittsburgh every day, why will you run any risk, when it is so completely in your own power to avoid those disasters.
All boats marked thus [*] in the List of Arrivals and Departures, in another part of this paper, are supplied with the Safety Guard.

THE FUNERAL.

Up and down the palaced street,
Shadowed light of evening fell;
Tones of music sadly sweet,
Swung from the cathedral bell,
Whose worm tongue of iron, beat
Chiming dirge, and funeral knell.

Softly the Magellan clouds,
Sisters of the "milky way,"
Hover over earthly crowds,
Like the spirits of the day,
Who, in slumber's dreamy shrouds,
On the sky their white limbs lay.

Stars throw down their golden light
On the winding city walls,
Over every mountain height
Capped with old Brazilian halls;
On the convent's gleaming white,
Ghost-like where a shadow falls.

Through the latticed colonnade
Torches shed a lurid glow
On the dark voluptuous maid
Gazing at the scene below,
On her hair, in folded braid
Trifling o'er her bosom's glow.

Slowly the procession nears,
Gilded hearse, with sombre plumes,
Drawn by horses, black as death's,
With gilt bridles, liveried grooms;
Then the priest the cross upreurs
Where the flickering torch-light looms.

Enter now the ancient fane;
Trump and timbrel ring aloud;
While the harp's mysterious strain,
And the organ's, thrill the crowd;
For a nobleman of Spain,
Lies beneath the jeweled shroud.

Solemn thoughts will haunt the soul,
Swelling on the pageant there;
Listening to the anthem's roll,
And the words of chaunted prayer,
And the cell's sepulchral toll,
Beating on the frightened air.

Torches gleam and flicker last,
With the sorrowful "Amen"
Mingled footsteps shuffle past,
While the spectral forms of men,
Hurry from the charnel fast
To the scenes of life again.

A FRENCH AMAZON.

Towards the end of 1806, on a fine autumnal morning, Napoleon was reviewing his troops, decorated with the laurels of Egypt, Germany, and Italy—and he had already passed the fronts of several regiments, whose dangers and fatigues in the field of battle he had so often witnessed and shared, when he arrived at the 6th hussars, so remarkable for its splendid appearance. His eagle eye soon perceiving a volunteer who was caracoling out of his ranks, he immediately exclaimed—

'Why is this hussar not in his place, sir?' added he to the Colonel. 'How is it that, in a regiment which I frequently quote as a model, such a want of discipline is permitted in my presence? Let the soldier be put in arrest for eight days.'

'Sire,' replied the Colonel, 'permit me to appeal against this severe sentence, and to solicit pardon for my volunteer. You would not refuse me, if you would but interrogate him.'

'Very well,' said the Emperor. 'Be it so. Let him approach.'

The hussar came forward at a gallop, and the following dialogue ensued:

'Your name?'

'My Emperor, my name is Dusconde Eab nebo, but the regiment call me Breton Double.'

'For what reason did you presume to quit the ranks?'

'I never entered into them—merely following the regiment as a volunteer, not wishing to form a part, until your Majesty considered me worthy of that honor.'

'How long have you been attached to the regiment?'

'Eight years.'

'What has induced you to join the service?'

'Love of my country and of my husband, from whom I was desirous never to be separated.'

'What! you a woman?'

'Yes sire, and you have never had in your regiment an arm more devoted than mine.'

'What is the name of your husband?'

'Poneet.'

'From what country do you come?'

'Angouleme.'

'Your age?'

'Thirty-three years.'

'Have you any children?'

'Yes, sire—one son.'

'How is he employed?'

'As trumpeter to the 11th dragoons.'

'Very well; do you understand the evolutions of the regiments?'

'Yes, sire, and the sword exercise.'

'I am very anxious to witness this,' said the Emperor, who listened to Breton Double with increased interest. 'Colonel, let a troop advance, and let this brave Breton join the ranks.'

The Colonel directed the movements, which were executed by Breton Double with so much ardor and precision, that the Emperor was delighted and surprised at witnessing a woman manage her horse with the vigor and courage of an old campaigner.

'I am satisfied with your zeal and ability,' said the Emperor, 'and appoint you a regimental quartermaster; take this towards your dress,' at the same time placing a Napoleon in her hand, and ordering 25 additional to be given her. 'Go and rejoin your squadron; we shall meet you again.'

Breton Double expressed her grateful thanks to the Emperor, and lost no time in taking the position to which, by her new rank, she became entitled, amidst the congratulation and cheers of the numerous witnesses of the scene. The 6th hussars shortly afterwards joined the corps of the army of Prussia, and the battle of Eylau afforded Breton Double, who had been sent to the right wing with an order, rejoined her corps, and; perceiving that the troop was surrounded by a large body of Russians, courageously dashed through the enemy, sword in hand, killed the commander, rallied her countrymen, and returned to the camp proudly the playing the sash of the vanquished officer.

The Emperor, having been informed of this gallant feat, directed a golden medal to be presented to her, which was received by our heroine with grateful and religious respect. Subsequently, in Prussia, at the commencement of an action, she had the misfortune to be wounded by a musket ball in the right hip; instead, however, of returning to the camp, she continued to assault the enemy with increased vigor, out of revenge for the pain she was enduring from the wound, but she was again struck by a bullet under the right arm. Notwithstanding this, she refused to quit the field, bound up the wound with her handkerchief to stop the bleeding, hung her arm in a sling, passed the arm of her bridle over her neck, and, changing her sabre from her right to her left hand, rushed like a furious brute into the enemy's ranks. After killing and disabling several men, she finally captured six Prussians, whom she immediately carried in triumph to the Emperor. Napoleon recognizing Breton Double, was affected at such devotion and bravery; he took from his own breast the
