We have not repudiated our debts-we have used no sponge to wipe them out-we still recognize our obligations to our creditors. But have we paid them? For near two years we have not even paid the interest. We have disposed of a large amount of our means at an enormous sacrifice, diminished our means of paying the balance. We have tried a general tax, and it has nearly failed. Is there not danger that we should now stop, and the columns of a newspaper.
