

person and Madison, and that now animates Jackson and Van Buren, will survive the wreck of empire and the wreck of the nation.

But we do not fear the result of the coming campaign. Add the States that have recently redeemed themselves from Federal bondage, to the 13 uncommitted States, and Democracy in 40 braved the tornado of false opinion, and we have a majority that the evil spirit of the world cannot crush.

Who that has read the State papers issued from the office of the Secretary, since the 4th of March, will wonder that their author, the master-spirit of Federalism, was appointed to the office with the unanimous consent of the whole Congress.

Who will wonder that he declared on the floor of Congress that he and his colleagues were ready to march up to the very line of treason in their opposition to Madison's administration? Who will wonder that the State of Ashland on the 27th January '38, characterized the western section as robbers and land pirates and then officiated as high priest of the bacchanals in 1849?

Who will wonder that he who was the author of the "Globe" in 1849, who virtually disclaimed the nationality of the American system, and denounced the history of the protective tariff of 1825 and the circumstances which gave it birth, as highly objectionable to American legislation?

against any interference whatever with our institutions by foreigners. But we would discriminate as to those likely to exert a foreign influence on our institutions, and not condemn every foreigner who has come into the country.

Least of all would we condemn those who, alienated from the tyranny and oppression resulting from foreign institutions of government, under the ties of home, throw off their citizenship, and sorrowfully resign their country, that they may live and prosper under our free institutions, and contribute their aid to uphold them.

Such men as these exert no foreign influence upon the country, for the influences we dread as tending to carry our country back to the subject state of Europe, they hate and condemn more heartily than the poorest native American of us all.

Instead of their exerting a foreign influence upon us as a people or as institutions, we exert an American influence upon them which makes them love free government better and better, the more they are and understand it, and finally qualify them to discharge the duties of citizens.

FOR GOVERNOR, FRS. R. SHUNK: Subject to the decision of THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

THE DAILY MORNING POST. THOMAS PHILLIPS, EDITOR. PITTSBURGH, TUESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1844.

The Canal Commissioners are getting on badly, but surely, with their appointments, and every day a crowd of office-seekers are leaving Harrisburgh, with a remarkably large list in the list of each of them.

It will be seen by the letter of our Harrisburgh correspondent, that Mr. S. J. JAMESON and Mr. DAVID WATSON have been appointed Supervisors on the Western Division in the place of Mr. A. MORRIS. We understand that both gentlemen are experienced officers and well-qualified to attend to the duties entrusted to them.

CONGRESS. The discussion in the House of Representatives on Saturday, the 22nd inst., was terminated on Saturday. The principal subject (that of the government of the western waters) being referred to the Committee on Commerce.

Mr. ROBERTS. The Erie Mail, from DuBois, was stolen on the 14th inst, near Westfield. He also has been discovered as the perpetrator of the robbery. We learn from the Buffalo Gazette, that several attempts have been made to rob the differential in that region.

FACTORY LABOR.—The following is the bill which was introduced by Mr. BRACKENRIDGE a few days since, for the purpose of regulating the labor of children in Cotton Factories:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in Session assembled, That any person who shall employ or cause to be employed any child or female child, in any cotton or woolen mill or factory, within this Commonwealth, to do any work, in any such mill or factory, for more than six hours in any one day, or for more than six hours in any one week, shall be liable for every such offense, to a fine of not more than five dollars, and to imprisonment for not more than six months.

SECTION 2. That no parent, guardian or other person, shall employ or cause to be employed any child or female child, in any such mill or factory, for more than six hours in any one day, or for more than six hours in any one week, unless such parent, guardian or other person, shall first obtain a license from the Board of Health, in and for the county in which such child or female child shall be employed, to the effect that such child or female child is fit to be employed in such mill or factory.

SECTION 3. That no parent, guardian or other person, shall employ or cause to be employed any child or female child, in any such mill or factory, for more than six hours in any one day, or for more than six hours in any one week, unless such parent, guardian or other person, shall first obtain a license from the Board of Health, in and for the county in which such child or female child shall be employed, to the effect that such child or female child is fit to be employed in such mill or factory.

SECTION 4. That no parent, guardian or other person, shall employ or cause to be employed any child or female child, in any such mill or factory, for more than six hours in any one day, or for more than six hours in any one week, unless such parent, guardian or other person, shall first obtain a license from the Board of Health, in and for the county in which such child or female child shall be employed, to the effect that such child or female child is fit to be employed in such mill or factory.

SECTION 5. That no parent, guardian or other person, shall employ or cause to be employed any child or female child, in any such mill or factory, for more than six hours in any one day, or for more than six hours in any one week, unless such parent, guardian or other person, shall first obtain a license from the Board of Health, in and for the county in which such child or female child shall be employed, to the effect that such child or female child is fit to be employed in such mill or factory.

THE SLAVE'S DREAM. BY LONGFELLOW. Beside the open door, he lay, His sickle in his hand, His breast was bare, his mangled hair, Was braced in the sand.

Wide through the landscape of his dreams The dusky Niger flowed; Beneath the palm-trees on the plain, Once more a King he strode, And heard the shouting caravan Descend the mountain road.

He saw once more his dark-eyed queen Among her children stand, They clasp his neck, they kiss his cheek, They hold him by the hand: A tear burst from the slaver's lids, And fell, he said, he said.

And then a furious speed he rode Along the Niger's bank, His bridle reins were golden chains, And with a martial clank, Beside some hidden soldier, He smelt his stallion's flank.

Before him, like a blood-red flag, The bright flammeous bow, From morn till night he followed with his fight; The plain where the tamarisks grew, Till he saw the desert of Caffre pass, And the ocean rose to view.

At night he heard the lion roar, And the hyena scream; And the river horse, as he crashed the reeds Beside some hidden soldier, He smelt his stallion's flank.

THE TEMPERANCE BATTLE. BY H. MOORE. The soldiers of the light— Of temperance in its ring, Of voices all alike, And make the welkin ring.

And temperance proclaim, The world we wage the fight, Our way is clear, our prospects bright, And when the battle's o'er, And victory we gain, We'll sing our song once more.
