And then her tight auburn, bair, which hang in lease, and easy ourls, and settled on each check like a soft golden cloud cause I have never since seen any woman that I thought qualled her, and because her beauty was the cause of whet I am about to relate. She rivited the attention of all our party except my young host, Lord who adhered all the evening to a sweet creature he had j24. selected on first entering the room. I observed, how-ever, one of our party, a dashing young captain in the Guards, highly connected, and of handsome and prepussessing person and manners, and a gentleman o early equal personal pretensons who had been invi--Hall, his father's scat, to exceed every one present in their attentions to sweet, Mary ----and as she occasionally smiled on one or the other of pring mattrasses, curtains, carpets; all sorts of uphol-the rivals, I saw the countenance of either alternately clouded with displeasure. "Captain-, she has promised me tho last set; I beg, therefore, you will resign her. I am right, Miss?" he inquired of the girl, who blushingly replied, "I think I did promise Mr. Trevor, but I would dance with you both if I could Captain, you are not angry with me, are you?" sho smiled, appealingly. "Certain'y not, madam," he replied, with a peculiar emphasis; and after directing an eye which kindled. ke a star to his more successful rival, retired haughtily a few paces, and soon afterwards left the room. A strong conviction scized me that even this small and wifting meident would be attended with mischief between those two haughty and undisciplined spirits, for I occasionally saw Mr. Trevor turn a moment from his beautiful partner, and a stern, inquiring glance, round the room, as if in search of Captain-, I saw he had noticed the haughty frown with which the cap-min had retired. Most of the gentlemen why had accompanied Lord to this hall were engrged to dine with him on the next Sunday evening. Mr Trevor and the captain. (who, I think I mentioned was staying a few days with his lordship) would meet at this party, and I dor termined to watch their demeanor. They saluted each other with civility-rather coldly thought-but there was nothing particularly marked n the manner of oither. About twenty sat down to dinner. All promised to go off. well; the cooking was admirable, the wines first rate, and conversation bisk and various. Captain ---- and Mr Trevor were seated at some distance from each other, the former was, my next neighbor. The cloth was not removed till $ few minutes after eight, when a dessert and a fresh and large supply of wine were introduced.
