A MORDERESS-PLEA OF ISSARITT .--- A WOMAN mamod Mary Wulker, while in a state of drunkanne a few weeks ago, mardered an old lady, who reside ip South Fifth street, Philadelphia. She was arrested, and after a protracted investigation, was acquitted on "the ground of insanity. This same woman has been living in a very degraded state since her acquittal, getting drunk wherever she could get liquor to drink .---While intuxicated on Thursday last, she attempted to beat a woman, exclaiming at the same time that she had killed one and would kill another. She was arrested, and in default of bail to keep the peace, was com-

A CORRECT SENTIMENT.-Amos Kendall says. "we never brought an action for libel or slander in our life. SUPPOSED MURDER OF A CHILD BY HER GUARDIAN.

The Bath Courier gives the particulars of the probable murder of an orphan girl six or seven years of uge in Hornsby, SteubenCo. by a hag named Henry. It seems that the child came to its death the 11th day of fast January. Nothing was known of the sickness of the girl by the neighbors until the day of her death, when cle residing a few niles distant was sent for, and urrived about an hour before her death. When she had ceased to breathe, he requested that the neighboring women might be called in to lay her out. This was ae, but before any of them had arrived, this office had super states of the second deside of been hurriedly performed by Mrs Henry and her daughter. It was noticed that one of the hands was bandaged, and the woman refused to have it removed .-Subsequently some words were drupped which led to suspicions, and the woman was arrested and the body of the child disinterred, and accroper's jury brought in a verdict that she came to her death by vielence and ill treatment. On removing the bandages from the hands, all the fingers and one of the thumbs were ready to drop off-one of the middle fingers was missing. This the acoused acknowledged dropped off before the child died. Each finger and thinab were done up separately with a bandage and splint. This condition of the hands is said to have been caused by freezing, it being in proof that the child had been tied up and left in an open shop or room in extreme cold weather. Various bruises were found on the body, and from the arance of the stomach and bewels, no nourishment had been received by the child for several days pre-ious to its death. THE IRON AND COAL TARDE OF VIRGINIA. The importance of this trade may be interred from
