THE TRUE WAY TO RECOVER HEALTH.

☞ An individual only wishes to know the right way to pursue it: and there are none, were it surely made known how LIFE might be prolonged and Health recovered, who would not doubt the plan.—Evidence is required that the right way is discovered This is what those suffering from sickness want to be satisfied about. For who is so foolish as not to enjoy all the health that his body is capable of? Who is there that would not live when his experience can so much benefit himself and family? It is a melancholy fact that a very large proportion of the most useful members of society die between the ages of thirty and forty. How many widows and helpless orphans have been the consequence of manykind not having in their own power the means of restoring health when lost.

Now all these dangers and difficulties can be prevented and the long and certain sickness, and by assisting nature in the outset, with a good dose of Brandreth's Pills. This is a fact, well understood to be so by thousands of our citizens. This medicine, if taken so as to purge freely, will surely cure any curable disease.—There is no form or kind of sickness that it does not exert a curative influence upon. Thus, by their power in resisting putrefaction, they cure measles, small pox, worms and all contagious fevers. There is not a medicine in the world so able to purify the mass of blood, and restore it to a healthy condition, as the Brandreth Pills.

The Brandreth Pills are purely vegetable, and so innocent that the infant of a month old may use them, if medicine is required, not only with safety but with a certainty of receiving all the benefit medicine is capable of imparting. Females may use them in all the critical periods of their lives. The Brandreth Pills will insure their health, and produce regularity in all the functions of life.

The same may be said of Brandreth's external remedy, as an out ward application to all external pains or swellings, or sores, it greatly assists the cure.—When used where the skin is very tender or broken, it should be mixed with one or two pints of water.

A sure test of genuine Brandreth Pills.—Examine the box of Pills. Then look at the certificate of agency, whose engraved date must be within the year, which every authorised agent must possess: if the three labels on the box agree with the three labels on the certificate, the Pills are true—if not, they are false.

Principal office, 241 Broadway, New York.

IMPORTANT FACTS.

DR. LEIDY'S Sarsaparilla Blood Pills are applicable in all cases, whether for Purgatives or Purification. They possess all the boasted virtues of other pills, and are additionally efficacious, containing Sarsaparilla in their composition, which is not contained in any other pills in existence. They are also different from other pills in composition, being purely vegetable, and can be employed at all times, without any danger, and requiring no restraint from occupation or usual course of living.

Notwithstanding Dr. Leidy never pretended his Blood Pills would cure all diseases, yet it is not saying too much of them, from the innumerable cures performed by them in every variety and form of disease (certificates of many of which have been published from persons of all denominations, physicians, clergymen, and others) that they seem to be almost universal in their effect; and persons using them for whatever sickness or disease, may rest assured that they will be found more efficacious than any other pills in existence.

From the known reputation of Dr. Leidy's Blood Pill, it is necessary to remind the public where they can at all times procure the genuine, as it is attempted to impose other pills, called the 'Blood Pills' upon the public on the reputation of Dr. Leidy's. ☞ Be particular and ask for Dr. Leidy's Sarsaparilla Blood Pills and see that the name of N. B. Leidy is contained on two sides of each box, (the boxes being of paper, and oblong, square shape, surrounded by a yellow and black label.

PRICE—25 cents a Box.

The Daily Morning Post.

LETTER

OF

HON. R. J. WALKER,

OF MISSISSIPPI,

RELATIVE TO THE

ANNEXATION OF TEXAS,

In reply to the call of the People of Carrol County, Kentucky, to communicate his views on that subject.

The first article of the next treaty declares: "There shall be reciprocal liberty of commerce and navigation between and amongst the citizens of the republic of Texas, and the subjects of her Britannic Majesty."—The third article authorizes British merchants to carry on their business in Texas, and British vessels of war to enter freely all her ports. Next comes a treaty between Great Britain and Texas, which grants to England the right of search as fully and effectually, and in terms more obnoxious, than the celebrated quintuple treaty to which it refers, and adopts. It grants to vessels of war of both parties, the right of searching merchant vessels by either party, and expressly provides for the exercise of this right, "IN THE GULF OF MEXICO." It provides also for the exercise of this right, whenever either of the parties shall have reason to suspect that the vessel is or has been engaged in the slave trade, or has been fitted out for the said trade; and all this is to be done, whether the vessel carries the flag of Texas or not. For saving us from the consequence of the quintuple treaty, and the right of search which it granted, by inducing France to refuse to ratify that treaty, General Cass, our minister there, has received and deserved the thanks of the whole American people. He demonstrated that such right of search would be fatal to the free navigation of the ocean, and subject the commerce of the world to the supervision of British cruisers. But here is a treaty, containing all the obnoxious provisions of the quintuple treaty, in regard to the right of search, and others that are still more dangerous. That treaty was made, too, with nations differing in language, and in many other respects, from our own; and therefore more easily distinguishable than the people or vessels of Texas. As the flag is not to designate the national character of the vessel, how can these vessels of Texas, that are thus to be searched on suspicion, be distinguishable; and what is to prevent American vessels and American crews from being carried for condemnation within the ports of England? Recollect, also, that under this treaty, the cruisers of England and, indeed, the whole British navy, or any party of it, may be brought into the Gulf of Mexico, and stationed in the narrow pass commanding the whole outlet of the gulph, and all the commerce to and from the Mississippi. To the right of search, under whatever name or form especially within our own seas, and upon our own coasts, we never have as sacred, and never can assent; but here, under pretext of searching the vessels of Texas, the navy of England, or any part of it, may occupy the only outlet of the Gulf of Mexico, and all our vessels entering the gulf or returning from the mouth of the Mississippi, must pass by under the surveillance of British cruisers, subject to seizure and detention, on suspicion of being Texas vessels, concerned in the slave-trade. The British navy may thus also be quartered on the southern coast of Florida, and along the coasts of Cuba and Mexico, to seize upon Cuba whenever an opportunity presents. Such is the influence which it is thus proved, by official documents, Great Britain has already obtained in Texas. It is here proved that Great Britain "offered her mediation," to Texas to obtain peace with Mexico, and that she has already induced Texas to assume conditionally, one million pounds sterling of the debt which Mexico owes in England, with all the accumulating interest from the 1st of January, 1835. A nation so feeble as Texas, which should owe so heavy a debt in England, with the payments secured by treaty, would be as completely within British influence as though already a British colony, especially when we consider the other most extraordinary privileges which she has already granted to England, including the right of search. In the official proclamation of June 15, 1843, President Houston says: "An official communication has been received at the department of State, from her Britannic Majesty's charge d'affaires near this government, founded upon a despatch he had received from her Majesty's charge d'affaires in Mexico, announcing to this government the fact that the President of Mexico would forthwith order a cessation of hostilities on his part; therefore, I, Sam. Houston, President of the Republic of Texas, do hereby declare and proclaim that an armistice is established, to continue during the pendency of negotiations between the two countries, and until due notice of an intention to resume hostilities (should such an intention hereafter be entertained by either party) shall have been formally announced through her Britannic Majesty's charge d'affaires at the respective governments." Is not Texas already dependent upon England, when England obtains for her an armistice, and the President of Texas announces that this will continue until its termination be announced by England?

In the message of the President of Texas of the 12th of December, 1843, he speaks of the "generous and friendly disposition, and active and friendly offices of England." He speaks, also, of "injuries and indignities inflicted" by this government upon Texas, and declares "that reparation has been demanded." Such is the wonderful advance in Texas of the influence of England, that she has succeeded in having it announced in an executive message to the people of Texas that England is their friend, and that we are their enemies. If all this had been predicted three years since, it would have been deemed incredible; and if Texas is not re-annexed, she is certain, within a few years more, to become first a commercial dependency, and then a colony, in fact, if not in name, of England. When we regard the consequences which have already followed the mere apprehension of the refusal of re-annexation, what will be the result in Texas when re-annexation is positively and forever rejected! When this is done, and Texas is repulsed with contempt or indifference, when her people are told, The flag of the Union shall never wave over you, go!—go where you may, to England, if you please,—who can doubt the result? To doubt is wilful blindness; and while we will have lost a most important territory, and an indispensable portion of the valley of the West, England will have gained a dependency first, and then a colony; and we shall awake from our slumbers when, amid British rejoicings and the sound of British cannon, the flag of England shall wave upon the coast and throughout the limits of Texas, and a monarchy rises up on our own continent and on our own borders, upon the grave of a republic. Yes, this is not a question merely between us and Texas, but a question between the advance of British or American powers; and that, too, within the very heart of the valley of the West. It is a question also between the advance of monarch and republicanism throughout the fairest and most fertile portion of the American continent, and is one of the mighty movements in deciding the great question between monarchy and republicanism, which of the two forms of government shall preponderate throughout the world. In the North, the flag of England waves from the Atlantic to the Pacific over a region much more extensive than our own; and if it must float also for several thousand miles upon the banks of the tributaries of the great Mississippi, and along the gulf, from the Sabine to the Del Norte, we will be surrounded on all sides by England in America. In the gulf, her supremacy would be clear and absolute; and in the great interior, she would hang on the rear of Louisiana and Arkansas, and within two days' march of the Mississippi, while her fleets would sail, and her flag would wave, for more than a thousand miles, on the banks of the Arkansas, the
