The Daily Morning Post.

THOMAS PHILLIPS, EDITOR.

PITTSBURGH, THURSDAY, MAY 9, 1844.

FOR GOVERNOR,

H. A. MUHLENBERG.

☞ The Gazette of Wednesday morning says:

—5 Feet of oysters, two supra, yesterday afternoon, at the corner of Penn and Wood streets.

We are unable to account for Mr. Denny declining to run for Governor. The people, with a unanimous voice, were anxious to have him, and we cannot imagine any reason, and all we know is the fact, that he declined. We have no doubt, however, that the people will rally to the support of Muhlenberg, and elect him by a triumphant majority.

Mr. Denny did not "sacrifice the long cherished principles," as the Gazette says, but he did not "sacrifice his principles." We cannot imagine why the editor of the Gazette—meaning that Mr. D. had no long cherished principles. We cannot imagine any reason against Mr. Denny, unless it is that he is too honest and capable a man to suit the office-seekers and wire-pullers, who are now managing the Democratic party. Mr. Denny is a gentleman of the old school, and would not descend to the low arts of electioneering, which are now practised by the leaders of the party. He is a man of talents, and would fill the office with honor to himself and the country. He is a man of the people, and would have given general satisfaction to the people of the State. But he is not the man for the times, and we are glad he declined.

Mr. Muhlenberg is a gentleman of talents, and will fill the office with honor to himself and the country. He is a man of the people, and will receive the support of the people. He is a gentleman of the old school, and will receive the support of the old school men. He is a man of talents, and will receive the support of the talented men of the State. He is a man of the times, and will receive the support of the men of the times. He is a man of the people, and will receive the support of the people
