ATTA & PTPORUROHI PAST FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 10, 1844 Mr. W. M. Cooper has an excellent apply of String and Summer Dry Gools. See advortisemen MANLATURE PAINTING .- Yosterday we were show Miniatures, executed by Mr Stevenson, which are A lined by good judges as excellent specimens of the art. The delicacy of the painting, the life like expression gives to the picture and the faithfulness with which every feature and peculiarity of the countenance of the original are drawn, shews that Mr S. is an artist of no ordinary talent. The paintings to which we re fer can be seen at the Frint and Looking Glass store of Mr T. A. Hillierin Wood street, where are also exhibited some beautiful specimens of water colored drawings hy the same artist

THEATRE .- The performances on Wednesday evening ware the best we have had at the Theatre this season, and we only regret that there was not a ful house to witness them. The Hunchback was well cast-the personation of Master Walter by Mr. Ar-Ling has established his character as an actor of the first order, and he will doubtless become a great favorice with our play goers. Young BARRETT, as Sir Thomas Clifford, perfectly astonished us-all things coussidered, he acquitted himself with great credit; though he evidently tacked that confidence in himself so necessary to give effect to acting. Miss CLAREN. mon never performed better than in Julia, and her personation of the character was really elegant. Modus, Fathom and Holen were all well done; and the acting throughout was very creditable.

But decidedly the richest treat we have had for some time was the acting of MRS. ATLING and ANDY BLACK, in the farce of the Pleasant Neighbors. Nothing could have been better; from first to last the house was in, a mar. In such parts as Nancy Stiop, Mrs. A. is said to be unrivalled, and her acting on Wednesday night certainly gave evidence of it.

A RELIC OF THE OLDEN TIME .- Mr. M Kenna, a contractor for grading Grant street, has discovered the remains o' something like a sewer, some distance bolow the present surface of the earth. It has two walls running parallel, partially connected with flags and bricks of a very peculiar construction, being wedge form. It was, doubtless, built anterior to the settlement of this part of the country by the English. The bricks are still sound, and must have been of execulent quality. The discovery has excited some curiosity but we are not yet able to throw any light on the matter. As the excavation progresses, it may be iscortained what it really is, and for what purpose it was interded
