The Daily Morning Post, Convention of Journeymen Hatters, To be held at New York City, on the 10th day of July, 1844.

The Journeymen Hatters of the United States, and particularly those who reside in the States of Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware and Maryland.

This wages of labor, in that department of trade to which you belong, have been declining for the last two years, as appears, and whatever the cause of this decline, it is but an act of justice to yourselves, and to your families, that you should seek a remedy, and if practicable, a stop to it.

This decline in wages is attributable, in a great measure, to the importation and manufacture of foreign goods, and to the competition of the same with the domestic product of the article referred to by the Convention in its Resolutions, and to the fact that the workman with a family dependent upon his labor for support, is a single man, and is obliged to work for wages not commensurate with his support, or else abandon the trade and endeavor to seek an honest livelihood in some other way. Others, again, who have families dependent upon their wages, are so situated that they are obliged to work for wages not commensurate with their support, or else abandon the trade and endeavor to seek an honest livelihood in some other way. Others, again, who have families dependent upon their wages, are so situated that they are obliged to work for wages not commensurate with their support, or else abandon the trade and endeavor to seek an honest livelihood in some other way.
