DR. LEIDY'S Sarsaparilla Blood Pills are applica ble in all cases, whether for Purgatives or Pu rification, They possess all the boasted virtues of other pills, and are additionally efficacious, containing Sursaparilla in their composition, which is not contain-I in any other pills in existence. They are also difterent from other pills in composition, being purely vegetable, and can be employed at all times, without any danger, and requiring no restraint from occupation usual course of living. Notwithstanding Dr. Leidy never pretended his Blood Pills would care all diseases, yet it is not saying too much of them, from the innumerable cares performed by them in every variety and form of diser tificates of many of which have been published from persons of all denominations, physicians, clergymen, and others) that they seem to be almost universal their effect; and persons using them for whatever sickness or disease, may rest assured that they will befound more efficacious than any other pills in existence. From the known reputation of Dr. Leidy's Blood Pill, it is necessary to remind the public where the an at all times procure the genuine, as it is attempted to impose other pills, called the 'Blood Pills' upon the public on the reputation of Dr. Leidy's. The Daily Morning Post, CONFESSIONS OF

"My good fellow," said my school-fellow, George Gordon, to me one morning in the play ground of Somerton Academy, "why do you not pay a little atsomerton Academy, "why do you not pay a little attention to your hand-writing? Your characters appear to be traced rather with a skewer than a pen; your i's are guiltless of a dot, and I only wish I may go through the world as free from from a your t's. Your capital M's are a dreadful failure, your H's are below critcism, and no one away with the sid of a misanceane gould and no one, even with the aid of a microscope, could detect the difference between your a's and your u's." Now I considered this speech of Georgo Gordon's to be rather vain glorious, inasmuch as he had just completed that elaborate and inborious performance denominated 'a shool piece,' which had not only gain-ed him the prize for writing, but had elicited a sovereign from his maiden aunt, accompanied by an observation that 'one could hardly tell it from copperplate;' in fact, Miss Roanda Gordon evidently considered it the finest work of art that had ever astonished the world since the completion of her own school sampler, forty years ago.

"Perhaps, Gordon," I replied, "you will remember who carried off the prize for classics and mathematics; I am not without a few laurels to rest upon, and need not much covet that skill in penmanship in which I may be rivalled by a charity bo

"True," he replied mildly; "I submit to your su-perior genius, Seyton; but remember the elephant, which can lift a heavy weight with its trunk, does not which can lift a neavy weight with its trunk, does not disduin to pick up a pin. I do not want you to excel in penmanship, but only to write a legible hand; depend upon it, if you do not improve your scrawl will involve you in scrious difficulties all through your "What kind of difficulties?"

"Suppose you write for the press; how curiously our effusions may be misrepresented." O, I can correct the press."
"Would it not be better to correct your own bad

abit while you have yet time to do it?" "It is a mark of a little mind to affix so much imortance to the hand writing." "Such opinions are not confined to little lunnah More snys 'that to speak so that nobody can ear, and to write a hand that nobady can read, may be assed among the minor immoralities." "Now you come to questation, I must put an end to he conversation; it is had enough to listen to your own wisdom, but I cannot be overwhelmed with lect res at second hand." George Gordan, although only a school-boy, had at-mined a command over himself which many men pass brough life without acquiring; he could occasion allow an antagonist to have the last word; he did s to me in the present instance, and the conversation ropped. I was fifteen at that time, I am now thirty, and had George Gordon possessed the power of pre-dicting future events boasted by some of his second-sighted countrymen, he could not have more correctly rophesicd the evils in store for me from my atrocio

Lmight fill a novel, containing the prescribed allowance of a thousand pages, were I to recount all new disasters:—but ala-! why de I talk of writing a newel of a thousand pages—how should I ever get it brought before the public? Even if the bookseller's 'reader' were in so peculiarly beneficent and amiable a mood as recommend what he was unable to decypher, it could never go through the press—there would be a general strike and mutiny in the printing effect! I will therefore confine myself to three lending events of my life, and as I know that every body likes love stories, especially when they have an unfortunate termination, will relate the manner in which I thrice lost the lady slight predilection for my sister's drawing mistress, but ne patronage of the public.

Every attention will be paid to furnishing COFFINS, it seem passed off, and my first real love was chosen with such prudence, that admiring fathers held me REAL ESTATE AGENCY, CONVEYANCING up as an example to their sone, and wary uncles told their nephews to follow in my steps. Miss Hartopp was an orphun heiress, very pretty, good will of the abigail; a year, at all events, would soon pass away, and I had already settled how delight-

The guardian, Mr Crofton, had a country house at Richmond, and removed thither with his ward in the middle of May. The day of their departure, I reell, S. W. side of Smithfield st., (near 5th) at either ceived a note from a friend residing at the same place, Street, Pittsburgh, Pa.,

J. J. Mitchell will continue to attend to the to Davison, the abigail, imploring her, at ten o'clock on the ensuing Thursday evening, to contrive to meet me on a smooth grass walk upon which the garden gate of her guardian opened. She returned a favorale answer to me, assuring me that she would meet me on the appointed evening, and I considered my fortune made for life. Now, one of the atracities of my hand-writing was, that I always wrote Thursday in a way that looked exactly like Tuesday, and this nistako led to the events afterwards detailed to me by Davison, and which I will immediately lay before my readers. At ten o'clock on Tuesday night, Miss Hastopp, acdewy. Poets are accused of telling many untruths; they never tell more than when they write about the delightful month of May. Its bright, warm mornings, imagination. Mayie, no doubt, very charming in-Italy; but in England, I constantly associate an evening ramble in that month with a tooth-ache and a flannel wrapper!

The wind blew coldly, Miss Hartopp was pictursquely arrayed after the tashion of Lucy Bertram, n the opera of Guy Mannering, in a hat and feathers, and a floating scarf; she arrived at the spot just two minutes after the clock had struck ten, and fully expected to find me in waiting for her. She was do assortment of White French China, comprising all the necessary pieces to constitute complete sets of Dining and Tea ware.

Also, a general stock of articles suitable for the supply of country merchants, to which their attention is ply of country merchants, to which their attention is included at his old stand, corner of France 1 West. the grass saturated more thoroughly the sole of her delicate satin slipper. It was now a quarter past tem, and a small drizzling rain began to fall: neither Miss: Hartopp nor Davison had thought of providing against, such a casualty, nobody requires parasals at ten o'clock, at night, and who would think of conveying an unique to an assignation? The feathers in Miss Hart brella to an assignation? The feathers in Miss Hare topp's hat began gradually to droop and bend, and the J Denning: On Friday, the 30th of last month, about 9 o'clock at night, the Planing, Grooving, and Sash Mamfactory, owned by Gay, Dilworth & Co., with a large quantity of dressed and undressed lumber, was all consumed by fire.

The Iron Safe which I bought of you some time back was in the most exposed situation during the fire, and was entirely red hot. I am pleased to inform you it was opened at the close of the fire, and all books, papers, &c., saved;—this is the best recommendation I can give of the utility of your safes.

THOMAS SCOTT.

The next morning Miss Hartspy had a severe cold, and was not able to leave kee hed till the middle of the day; she found her guardise's son, who had just arrived from London, alooe in the drawing regiment. Her first impulse was to shrink from him in horrer; water st., Pittsburgh question, or at all events to entrap him in some sort, of demonstration of his guilt; she entered the reem.
