N Purchasers will find it their interest to call before pur of the most active rioters in bringing the cannon to bear chasing elsewhere, as he will keep constantly on hand a general assortment of furniture, chairs, mattrasses, incent member of the Native American party, and incent member of the Native American party and incent member of the Native Amer answer the charges of treason, morder and riot. It is understood that others of that committee, whose sympathies evidently were with the mob, and who seemed to regard an entrance into the church as only a happy chance for doing what they could not otherwise accomplish, are now charged with active participation in the fray of Sunday. I am happy to say that one of the leaders of the mob who burnt Ponnsylvania Hall in 1838 embolde d by the prevalence of mob rule has lately boasted of his laurels gained in that offuir, and is now snugly three years in this country, charged with disturbing the Native meeting in Kensington in May last, has at length been caught; may he get his descris. The stock of the late Thomas Rafferty, deceased, has troops who have been on duty, buve been in part recommenced business at the old stand of Mr. R., lieved by other detachments from the country, and all be denied that the presence of the troops has been no-cessary to enable the Sheriff and constables to arrest he guilty; even on yesterday a bold attempt to rescue prisoner was made within the limits of the City preoer, but unsuccessful. The right of their procession, the post of honor, was assigned by the Natives on the 4th to the "Farmers;" but although I saw the 3500 men and 600 boys pass before me twice, I did not seen solitary "Farmer." They have reserved their services until unruly Nativism has bid defiance to the laws, and they have distinguished themselves from the moment of their arrival the present by courage and general good conduct. Honour to the "Farmers."

Your occasional correspondent feels it a duty to himself to return the Editor of the Pittsburgh Gazette he honor he did him by noticing his hurried letter of the 7th inst., in the Gazette of the 11th. That Editor goes to the trouble of quoting from half a dozen of Philadelphia papers, to show that my statement, that the arms were placed in St Phillip's church by "the authorities" is false, and that they were placed there by the Catholics themselves, and that that was the sole cause of the riot. Now I can not conceive that the placing arms in that church, (though an im, rudent movement) was just cause of offence to any good citizen. I do not remember ods, considered the presence of arms in the various by WM. THORM, Druggist, 53, Market street, wherea Banks of Pittsburgh as just cause for riot, and for > ed. For if my memory becorrect, arms were so placed, and I venture some of the same kind may be found there to the present day.

> To that Editor's column of quotations, I will only bring two brief extracts, the first of which from the Sun of July 6th, must have been read by that Editor; for I perceive he exchanges with it, or at least copies from that paper of a later date. If he did see the following from the Sun, he should not have charged your correspondent with falsehood. "Quarter to 12 clock-Capt. Hill's Company has just arrived, and he crowd dispersed .- We learn that the fire arms belonged to the State arsenal and had been placed in the church agreeably to the orders of Gov. Por-ter and Gen. Patterson." This agreed with the verbal information I received here. But his particular attention is requested to the following extract from the testimony of Morton M'Michael, High Sheriff, taken on oath before Judge Jones, and published in the Ledger of yesterday:

"On Friday last I received a note from Alderman Hartz, about dusk, requesting me to give some aid in Southwark, as there was a tremeudous excitement opposite the church. Before I had got from my house, received two other messages; had no men at hand, Always on hand, a full and general assortment of RI.
