IRON CITY HOTEL,
FIFTH STREET,
Next door to the Exchange Bank, Pittsburgh, Pa.
Jacob Boston, Proprietor,
RESPECTFULLY informs his friends and the public generally that he has taken this well known establishment, and has had it thoroughly repaired in all its departments; and it is now fitted up in a style inferior to none in the city. Epicures, and all fond of good eating, will find his larder bounteously supplied with all the necessaries and luxuries the market can afford. It will be the aim and pride of the proprietor to keep his eating department well stored, and in a manner suited to the taste of the most fastidious.
To the lovers of good liquors, too, he can without flattery to himself, offer as good and well furnished a BAR as is kept in the western country. The choicest wines and best of stronger liquors will always be kept in store, for the accommodation of those who may favor him with a call.
His facilities for accommodating the traveling public generally, will be found equal to any in the city. The Stable is airy and capacious, and the best attention will be given to the horses of those putting up at his house.

DENNING'S FIRE PROOF IRON CHESTS.
PITTSBURGH, Oct. 22—1842.
J Denning—On Friday, the 30th of last month, about 9 o'clock at night, the Planing, Grooving, and Sash Manufactory, owned by Guy, Dilworth & Co., with a large quantity of dressed and undressed lumber, was all consumed by fire.
The Iron Safe which I bought of you some time back was in the most exposed situation during the fire, and was entirely red hot. I am pleased to inform you it was opened at the close of the fire, and all books, papers, &c., saved—this is the best recommendation I can give of the utility of your safes.

The Daily Morning Post.

CONDITION OF HAYTI.

Extract of a Letter from a Naval Officer on board the U S ship Vandalia, at Port-au-Prince.

"St Domingo or Hayti, the Island on which exists the Negro Republic of Hayti, so much lauded and boasted of by the Abolitionists, was sixty years ago, at the time the French possessed it, the most beautiful of the West India Islands. It raised more produce, owned more shipping, imported and exported more than all the other Islands combined Sixty years of Negro domination has reduced it to almost a desert; its plantations are destroyed, its sugar fields over-run with brush, its beautiful towns heaps of ruins and miserable huts; its shipping gone, and its inhabitants instead of being wealthy, intelligent planters with healthy, well-fed, well-cared-for Slaves, are a set of lazy, filthy, naked or ragged free negroes. I do not exaggerate when I say that the meanest dressed, most filthy 'Five Points' negro is better clad and more decent looking than the great mass of the population here. It is true, there are some fine-looking, wealthy Blacks upon the Island; it would be very singular indeed if there were not, knowing as we do that the whole property of the Island, (one of the finest in the world) passed into the hands of a few military leaders. Their descendants should certainly still retain a small portion of the wealth.

Remarks.

The capacity of the African race to maintain and profit by Republican institutions is certainly not established by the example of Hayti. Indeed, we may doubt that any race, who but yesterday knocked off the shackles of Slavery, with its necessary accompaniments of ignorance and utter debasement, is fitted to set an example of self government. Neither can we expect that a race who have for generations been driven to labor by the lash can at once appreciate and accept Labor as a proper and healthful condition of Freedom. To the slave of yesterday, as well as to the slave of to-day, idleness and entire exemption from control seems the perfection of happiness, even with scanty and precarious food. The condition of Hayti is a warning against sudden and violent changes in the Social condition of a people. Had the planters of that Island but obeyed the Emancipation Act of the French Convention and at once heartily undertaken to conform to the new state of things thus created, it would have been infinitely better for all parties. THE CANADA OUTRAGES.

The Niagara Chronicle thus speaks of these disgraceful scenes:

We understand that outrages by the laborers on the Welland canal have become so frequent of late, that the inhabitants of Thorold have petitioned the Governor for the appointment of a stipendiary magistrate.

From the accounts which reach us it would appear that the inhabitants live in constant dread of injury to their property or their persons. Parties of laborers with arms in their hands are continually prowling about, and sometimes they patrol the streets in hundreds; and they indulge in the most violent threats towards all who do not favor their proceedings. It is feared that if some steps are not taken to suppress the "antagonism" which is growing up between the laborers and all other classes residing on the line of the canal, a great deal of mischief will ensue.

Among the outrages of the past week we may mention the following:

On Thursday last a number of canallers, armed with clubs, entered the wheat field of Mr Peter H. Bell, of Grantham, near the village of Thorold, and in the most brutal manner attacked a colored man who was cradling wheat. Having beaten him most cruelly and left him for dead, they proceeded to another part of the field to attack another man, who was also in Mr Bell's employ. He, however, having heard the piteous cries of his more unfortunate comrade, took warning, and being fleet of foot made good his escape. They then proceeded to Mr. Bell's house, and would have committed further violence, had they not been deterred by Mr Bell meeting them with a brace of loaded pistols, and informing the one most in advance that he would shoot him if he persisted in coming nearer.

At mid-day on Sunday, three canallers, armed with guns, broke into the house of an inoffensive colored man named Vance, living near the church at Thorold. They threw out his children, broke his windows, and opened several chests. He entered the house while they were in it, but they refused to answer his inquiries. The only provocation he can imagine himself to have given them is, that, a short time ago, he had lost a cow; on searching for her among the shanties he found her confined in a pen, and released her from durance without asking permission.

HORRORS OF THE SLAVE TRADE.

Some idea of the terrible cruelties of the African slave trade, may be gathered from the following scene on board the "Progresso," a slaver captured on a voyage to Rio Janeiro. It is from a late work by Rev. Pascoe Grenfell Hill, entitled "Fifty Days on board a Slave Vessel in the Mozambique Channel." One tempestuous night, four hundred and forty seven human beings were crowded into a "slave deck" hold, thirty seven feet long, twenty-one feet wide, and three and a half feet in height, speedily began to make an effort to re-issue to the open air. Being thrust back, and striving the more to get out, the after-hatch was forced down on them. Over the other hatchway, in the fore part of the vessel, a wooden grating was fastened. To this, the sole inlet for the air, the suffocating heat of the hold, and perhaps panic from the strange situation, made them press: and thus a greater part of the space below was rendered useless. They crowded to the grating, and clinging to it for air, completely barred its entrance. They strove to force their way through apertures in length fourteen inches, and barely six inches in breadth: and in some instances succeeded. The cries, the heat—I may say, without exaggeration, "the smoke of their torment"—which assailed can be compared to nothing earthly." When the vessel was captured, fifty-four crushed and mangled corpses were lifted up from the slave-deck, brought to the gangway and thrown overboard. "Some were emaciated from disease, many bruised and bloody.—Some were found strangled, their hands still grasping each other's throats, and tongues protruding from their mouths. The bowels of one were crushed out. They had been trampled to death for the most part, the weak under the feet of the stronger, in the madness and torment of suffocation from the heat. It was a horrid sight, as they passed one by one, the stiff, distorted limbs smeared with blood and filth, to be cast into the sea. Some, still quivering, were laid on the deck to die: salt water thrown on them to revive them, and a little fresh water poured into their mouths." An "avenging God" must visit with just retribution barbarity as horrible as this.

Tribute to Genius.—In a debate in the House of Lords, Lord Brougham remarked: Lord Byron has frequently attacked me in his writings, and in the most violent manner; but his injustice shall not restrain me from acknowledging, that if I have any chance of being known to posterity, it is to his immortal verse that I owe this honor.

Canada going for Clay!—At the late coon celebration at Pontiac, a subject of Queen Victoria, who had probably been hired to lead his carcass to swell the sum total of the Detroit delegation, stated to a Democrat confidentially that Canada was unanimous for Clay! "We go for him," said he, "to a man."—Pontiac Jacksonian.
