land, or in short any where but in the United States, and who celebrated their triumphs by chaunting that glorious old Native song, the "Boyne Water."-Hurrah for the "Natives" who were born out of the country, and hav'nt any "forefathers."

FALSEHOOD CORRECTED .- There is an old adage. chat Falschood can travel many leagues, while Truth is drawing on his boots, and it is fully verified in the in- Allegheny, they have done nobly. stance of the calumny circulated ugainst Gen. J. K. MODEREAD, by the Gazette, that he had written a letver stating that Col. Polk could not be trusted by the friends of the Tariff. We have already published documents positively contradicting the falsehood the Gazette, and take pleasure in adding the following mote to what we have before given:

MR. D. N. WHITE.—Sir: Having just returned from the east, copies of your paper of the 23rd and 24th inst., containing the above articles were handed to me this morning.

I was surprised that a statement, which if true, mu have been obtained by a betrayal of a private corre pondence, should have appeared in the organ of a re spectable party, and still more surprised that any on hould flave attributed to me opinions so different from those which I have held and expressed. I am and always have been the advocate of the Tu riff policy, and so far from having used the languag you attribute to me; I have never feared that the dection of James K. Polk would unsettle or distur the present tariff. I believe no such thing, but on th contrary believe the election of Polk and Dallas wi Promate the best interests of the country.

The closing paragraph of your remarks, from the connexion in which it stands, is personally insulting but after what I have now said, pethaps most me would rather be the object than the author of you remarks. In your own language, "a discriminating community will adjudge us according to our merits.

J. K. MOORHEAD. Union Cotton Factory, Oct 26, 1844.

TRADE AND BUSINESS .- The trade and business Pittsburgh is now in a most prosperous condition .-Ourrivers are in excellent order for navigation, an severy-day numbers of coal-boats departfor Cincinnate Louisville, New Orleans, and the smaller cities an towns on the Ohio and Mississippi. It will not long till all the fuel consumed in the river towns between here and New Orleans, and including that city, will be drawn from the exhaustless pits around and near our smoky town. In a few days, we may expect to see our friends of Warren county come down on crowds with their rafts of pine and other lumber; *Clarion and Venango, too, will send down their thousand tens of pig-metal, and other products. In all branches of commerce and manufactures, b reiness is active, and seems to be transacted on a safe and profitable basis; and on every side we see undoubt ed signs of prosperity. All those pleasing results, which, we are happy to know, are not confined to Pittsburgh, have been worked out without the agency of a National Bank, that grand whig specific for every disease of the body politic, which Mr. Clay said was as necessary as "National laws."

The want-of a paper-money bank cannot, thank Providence, remove, from our hills, the rich mines of coal they contain, nor dampen the spirit of energy and industrywhich gives force to the miner's arm, a: d works the "sweeps" on the unwieldy coal-boat. The want of a National Bank has not prevented the Lumbermen of Warren, and the Furnaceman of Clarion from bringing to our city the produce of their forests and of their iron mines, to be exchanged for the many useful articles manufactured by our industrious mechanics. Nor has the want of a National Bank, stopped or staid the motion of our hundred engines. which are every day found capable of assisting in some new branch of industry. Let us hope, then, that we shall be permitted to go on without the blighting interference of legislation infavor of money corporations, and that the indemitable energies of our population may be left to develope the rich resources of our counary in the healthy and steady mode in which we have gone on for the last two or three years.
