The Daily Morning Post. Proscription .- The sentiments of the annexed ex: tract from the Richmond Compiler, (a staunch Whig tached to the Whig party has had the political or the moral virtue to denounce the proscriptive policy now so

"The (Richmond) Whig of yesterday adheres to its advice to the whigs, in all their business relations, and effect, coming from a leading whig paper, must be not only to injure the whig party, but help greatly the already too general country hostility towards the whigs of Richmond. For these reasons we felt called upon to avow a difference of opinion with the Whig, and to express our reprobation of the dangerous and erroneous opinions it had laid down. In this difference with the Whig, we know that almost every man in the city of Richmond concurs; for in the ultra proscriptive sentiments of that paper, we believe it 'stands alone, without a single follower;' and it is but due to the people of Richmond that this should be known."

crime against society. We stated that Americans be-longing to i solvent States would be shut out of the so-cial and other advantages which the clubs afforded to strangers visiting London. The war of aggression has ed, but it is much more stringent in its aplication than we intimated at the time, or had any onception of. It will embrace all Americans, without reference to what part of the Union they come from. The innocent will suffer disgrace equally with the guilty How will any American ever be able to hold up his head after reading the above precious more aul. Only to think, ye men of America, you can no longer get admittance into the fashionable club houses, of ondon-the saloons where titled gamblers most do congregate. Certainly now the Mississippians will pay the money swindled out of them by the United States Bank and its British stock-jobbing gentry.

Certainly the Suckers and the Hoosiers will take the alarm and provide for the State debts; they cannot else be admitted to the English Club Houses. Penn-Merchants and Manufacturers are respectfully invicted to call and examine his stock before purchasing try and unnatural punishments? There certainly ought to be, and then this dreadful intent could not be carelies where. ried out. It ought to be brought before the high courts of England—she "Star Chamber," or the "Queen's Bench," or the Lord Chancellor. It certainly must be contrary to the law of nations. Mr. Everett should immediately bring it to the notice of Lord Aberdeen—it is cause of war—it is war! terrible war-not to the Knife, but to the Club. Mr. Tyler will certainly lay it before Congress.
