An Anecdote of the Far West.-An amusing cor respondent of the New York Tribuno, writing from a town in the West, relates the following circumstance: "Speaking of living, reminds me of an anecdot related to me by a professor in one of our colleges.-Sent here by the State for scientifical purposes, he tool with him, as a companion, a younger brother, who had just graduated, and an old hunter, for a guide, cook, and provider general. Leaving, one day, a clearing in which some fine peas were growing, they took along a small quantity to give relish to a dinner some day in the forest. At length, after a hard forenoon's work, they pitched their encampment one day on the borders of a lake in the heart of the woods. "Come," paid the professor, "let us have those peas to-day." So, while he was taking some observations, the old hunter and the young graduate prepared the dinner.

After a while the professor said he noticed an unu-

Saving ments have been made by us to secure every new style eacthing, he walked to the lake shore, and picking up for goods upon its arrival in the Eastern market, as well one of these large muscle shells, holding more than an ordinary spoon, he fitted a split stick to it for a handle, and clapped them both in his pocket. Then saunter-making our establishment THE FASSIONABLE HEAD ing back, in order to prevent them making very extenaive preparations, he kept around until the peas were by our old patrons, as well as a great many new ones, cooked. His presence rather obstructed their design, whom we shall not fail to please, as we tend our abiliand they were able to finish but very shallow spoons after all. The peas were at length poured into the common dish, and lo! it was all soup.

To prevent the possibility of the professors' getting

After this process had been carried on a while, to the ill-suppres merriment of the student and hunter, they whip ped out their wooden spoons, and, flourishing them over their heads with a loud "Hurrah!" made a dive at the peos. The professor coolly drew forth his scle-shell and stick, and, fitting them together, began to ladle up the soup. The hunter and the grad-ustestopped in utter amazement, and with their spoons suspended half way to their mouths, gazed at the quiet professor, who, without uttering a word or changing a feature, diligently plied his shell. In a few moments every pea had vanished; and the hunter, as he licked empty spoon, confessed he had been fuirly out-ma-neuvred.

A strong and undoubted evidence of its worth, is to be found in the high degree of popular favor which it has received since its introduction into the West.—
Wherever an agency has been opened for its sale, and wherever it has received a fair and honest trial, it has become firmly established as a STANDARD FAMILY MEDICINE.

It is rapidly superseding the use of the many nostrums, which have so long imposed upon the community, which have obtained their name only by puffing and braggadocia, and which are now destined to be thrown side to make way for the best cough medicine of the present age. In this distressing stage of the complaint, I had recourse to Dr Duncan's Expectorant Remedy for con-sumption, which had the effect of checking the disease immediately, and in a few days the pain ceased, the breathing became free and easy, the cough left him, and the expectoration subsided, the consequences of which was that in using six bottles he has recovered

Washington, July 3d, 1836.

Sir... Since I have been in this city I have used some of your Dyspeptic medicine with infinite benefit and satisfaction, and believe it to be a most variable remedy. One of my constituents, Dr. A. Carden, of Casobell county ennessee, wrote to me to send him some, which I did and he has employed it very successfully in his practice and says it is invaluable. Mr. Johnson, your agent at Tennessee. If so, I would recompend Dr. A Carden, as a proper person to officiate for the sale of your celebrated medicine. Should you commission him he is willing to act for you. You can send the medicine by water to the act for you. You can send the medicine by water to the care of Robert King & Sons, Knoxville county, Tennessesee, or by land to Graham & Houston, Tanwell, East Tennessee. I have no doubt but if you had agents in several counties in East Tennessee, a great deal of medicine would be sold. I am going to take some of it home for my own use, and that of my friends, and should like to hear from your whether you would like to hear from you whether you would like an agent at Bluntville, Sullivan County, East Tennessee; I can got ome of the merchants to act for you as I live near there.

Yours respectful ours respectivity, ABRAHAM M*CLELLAN, of Tennesses,
