But it was the general opinion that Greenhalgh was only lying back for a rush, and betting was high in his favor, though eight to five was fixed taken on Gildersleeve.

wely taken on Gildersleeve.

We have now brought our account down to the last half-mile, and then it was the struggle commenced in sarnest up to this time Gildersleeve was about three yards in advance, having continued so from the starr, but the Englishman now put his best foot foremost, and got shead, when he relaxed a little, and Gildersleeve was again with him. Finding that he must try again, Greenhalgh went at it, and, incredible as it may seem, after running so long, he actually beat his adversary nearly one quarter of the last half mile—making the 12 miles in the unprecedented time of fig m 29 s., without exhibiting any marked signs of distress, Some put the time at 69 m. and 42 s., but we derived our information from the most authentic source, and give it as follows:—5, 52; 11, 47; 17, 48; 24, 88; 20, 28; 36; 41, 39; 46, 26; 52, 58; 58, 37; 64, 16; 69, There was something said about Gildersleeve having there was something said soout chiderageeve maying been tripped up on the last half mile, but we think there was not much truth in the rumor; more over it was pretty generally conceded that Greenhalgh could have got away from him at any point in the race if such had been his policy. As it was, the only fault found with him was that he beat him too much.
