PRICE, TWO CENTS.

Dear Sir-In my letter of the 26th inst., I continued my account of our trip to our last encampment upon the waters of Blue. On the 18th day of June we crossed the main dividing ridge between the waters of Kanzas and the Great Platte. We travelled chasers to call.

Always on hand, a full and general assortment of RIFLE BARRELS AND GUN TRIMMINGS, PLANES, COOPERS, CARPENTERS AND SMITHS' TOOLS. Also, a great variety of LOCKS and LATCHES for building purposes, together with every variety of articles appertaining to side of the river where we were. The river above the island, as far as the Forks, is generally about 2 miles THE subscriber would respectfully invite the at tention of the public to his present stock of White Glazed Ware, a superior article, together with a select miles through a sandy desert. The valley of this stream user ware, a superior article, together with a select miles through a sandy desert. The valley of this stream is from 15 to 20 miles wide, a smooth level plain, and the river generally runs in the middle of it, from west and Tea ware. to east. The course of this stream is more uniform than any I have ever seen. It scattely ever makes a bend. The Platte river was high until after we had passed Fort Larimer. This river has low sandy banks with sandy bottom, and the water muddy, like that of the Missouri. The current is rapid, and the river being very wide, is very shallow, and easily forded, except in high water. It is full of most beautiful islands of all sizes, covered with beautiful trees, contrasting inely with the wild prairie plains and bold sand hills n each side of the river.

The plain on each side of the river extends out to the sand hills, which are about about 3 miles through them, when you ascend up to a wide prairie plain of almost interminable extent. Upon this plain, and some imes in the sand hills, we found the buffalo, and numbers of white wolves. In the plains, near the river, we generally found the antelope. When the season is wet, as was the case this season, the buffalo resort to the plain beyond the sand hills, where they find water in the ponds. As the summer advances, and the ponds dry up, they approach the river, and are found in the n near it. You have, perhaps, often heard of falo paths. As you go from the river out to the wide lain, beyond the sand-hills, through which you must pass, you will find vallies among those hills leading out towards this plain. These vallies are covered with grass, and the buffuloes have made numerous paths, not only in these vallies, but over all the hills, where they could pass at all, (and they can pass almost any where,) leading from this wide plain to the river, where they resort for water, in the dry season. These HE subscriber has just erected a new and exten paths are very narrow, and are sunk in the ground six sive Manufactory on Second street, between or eight inches deep. greatest general scarcity of wood we found on the Platte, before we reached Fort Larimer. We somewams made of willows; but the way in which we gendeep, and two or three feet long. This confines the heat, and prevents the wind from scattering the fire. On the 22d day of June, we saw the first band of buffaloes, which contained about fifty of all ages and sizes. Out of this band two were killed. They were Together with the best brands of Virginia Chewing found in the plain close to the river, and were pursued on horseback. Perhaps no sport in the world is so exciting as a buffulo hunt. The fox chase sinks into insignificance when compared to it. The mode of hunting this noble animal is very simple. They are generally found upon the wide plain beyond the sand ills, as I before stated, and you will almost always find them grazing near the head of some hollow lead-ing up near them. When you approach him, you must let the wind blow from him to you; because if you scent him, you will hardly run off, but if he scents you, he is certain to scamper. The sight of the buffalo is very dull, but their sense of smell is very acute. They had evidently scented us. If you have the wind of them, you can approach within a very short dis tance, near enough to kill them readily with the rifle.
When you fire, if you remain still, and do not show yourself, the buffalo will perhaps bring a bound, and then stop, and remain until you have fired several times. If he is wounded he will lie down. If sevral

When you have fired as often as you can, and the buffalo have retired beyond the reach of your balls, you return down the hollow to your horses, and having mounted, you approach as near as possible before you show yourself to the animal; and, when he sees you in the immediate vicinity of the Banks and Public Offi- your horse ought to be at the very top of his speed ces, offers peculiar advantages to the man of business. so as to get near him before he gets under full speed. At this time you had as well keep at a convenient distance. If you keep off about fifty yards, he will stand, and you may load and fire several times; but you had better not fire at his head, for you will not hurt him much if you hit him, for the ball will never penetrate through the scull bone Whenever you bring one to bey, if the country is not too much broken, and your horse is good, there is no
