Miscellaucous.

From Tait's Magazine for December. THE SHORTEST DAY. Why, how is this, past nine o'clock! I fear I'm very late; I really thought, it is so dark, That it was only eight. I shall be scolded terribly, And nothing can I say

Except, what every body knows It is the shortest day! "it's very dark I cannot see At all what I'm abour Ah, there-I knew it would be so-My stockings wrong-side out. It is not worth while getting up; I care not what you say; But really we should stay in bed

All through the shortest day. I cannot see to dress myself: I shall he such a fright; But to be sure it matters not, The day is more like night. The air is thick as thick as pea-soup

You scarce can see your way; I'm half afraid to gropa about Upon the shortest day. 4 wonder what blind people do, Of optics quite bereft-I've made a blunder with my shoe,

My right foot's in my left, Misfortunes never single come, I've heard old sages say, And thus I'm bother'd on all hands Upon the shortest day. I wish the sun would show his face

Alas! I must show mine-He's shrouded quite in murkiness And wos't come forth to shine. He's really very stingy now, And won't bestow a ray, To save our noses from lamp-post Upon the shortest day.

The men who make the Almanacks Are very waggish folks, But there's no renson why the world Should suffer for their jokes; For though it 's dull, it 's very clear, No matter what they say, That there is not a day at all Upon their shortest duy. The morning star won't lend his light To lead me to the latch, Moorhead & Co., Atwood, Jones & Co., Dr. Wm. H. Denny, Cash., Thos. M. Howe, Cash., N. Holmes & Son Pittsburght, S. M. Howe, Cash., N. Holmes & I must find my own lucifer-

Give me a patent match! But were I fairly in the street, A wagon or a dray Might pulverize me in the fog, And end my shortest day. And thus all thro' this doleful time We risk both life and limb.

One cannot stir an inch in peace When all is dark and dir There is no antidote against Such sorrows in array, Except. that nothing can last long Upon the shortest day.
