PITTSBURGH, PA. TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 10, 1845. PITTSBURGH BOARD OF TRADE.

COMMITTEE FOR JUNE. M. Robertson, W. B. Scaife, R. E. Sellers

Fire

A fire was discovered this morning, about half past three o'clock, issuing from a small stable in Brewry Alley, nearly opposite the Pittsburgh Brewry, and before it could be subdued 3 or 9 houses were destroyed. They were chiefly frame, and of but little value. The great exertions of the firemen prevented it spreading, although they did not appear to be well furnished with water. We cannot give particulars as our paper has gone to press.

THE WEATHER .- For thelast four or five doys the weather has been more oppressively hot in this neighborhood than has ever been experienced heretofore by the "oldest inhabitant." The sun is literally parching up every thing like vegetation, and if we are not soon relieved by copious rains, the most of the crops will be destroyed. The effects of this drought, added to the injuries done by the frosts a couple of weeks since, will be of incalculable loss to the farmers.

Escargo.-Yesterday a person seized a young negro man, under the pretext that he was a runaway slave, and with the help of some others had him almost to the head of the stairs leading to the Mayor's Office. But at this juncture, a rush was made by the FOR BALTIMORE AND FHILADELI'HIA crowd that followed and the negro was quickly rescuel from the hands of his captor. He was taken out to the street as speedily as possible, and a mement after we saw him tunning up 5th street, accompanied by two friends, "like all possessed." He darted into one of the little side alleys between Wood and Smithfield, and "dat was de last of dat poor nigga"-further pursuit was useless, and somewhat unsafe, as it would not be prudent for slavecatchers to invado that precinct in search of run- the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road at Cumberland, at aways.
