Childe Harold's Pilgrimage.

Upon one evening, a party of collegians and young bloods of the town had met together at my room to play and carouse. In fact it was a regular meeting of the Sud-hunters, who assembled twice in every week. We kept it up juyfully until near midnight, having in that time managed to get full of Bacchus, when Somers proposed that we should sally forth and actonish the phis or Pittsburgh.

Cionas consigned to either our house at l'ittsburgh or occurred to me what sport it would be to capture young Brain, and place him in the chemical lecture room, to astonish, on the next day, the professor nd the class. No sooner had I made a proposition to this effect, than it was adopted, and all volunteered their assistance in carrying it into execution. The tent or pavil-lion which covered the beasts, was erected in the great aid of the principal tavern. The cages, each containing one or more animals, were iron grated boxes, standing on wheels, by means of which they had been dragged into the town. These were ranged around the interior of the tent, forming a circular aimy of wood and iron. Not imagining that any one would disturb the animals the showmen and keepers had retired to restalong with the inmates of the tavern, leaving the tents entirely unwatched. Thus we were afforded a clear field in which to execute our scheme.

The next difficulty that occurred to us was the mode.

Line, pledge themselves, that nothing that experience ter plan was, after much scheming, devised, and one In the tavern-yard stood a water-hogshead, with a sliding lid fastened by means of a hasp and staple. We had only to roil this in, slide down the box from the wheels, open the door immediately in front of the hogshead, and drive the animal in. We could then push down the lid of the cask, secure it by means of a rope passed through the staples, and roll our prisoner and prison-house to the college.

No sooner was this suggested than we bastened to Pittsburgh, March 1, 1945.

As soon as quiet was restored, we slit a hole in the canvass, for we were afraid to emerge by the apenure which faced the tavern, rolled our hogsbead through the yard to the back gate, which we unfastened, and then passing into the road, started at a quick rate for our spot of destination. Over and over went the hogs-heed, the animal within growling at the rough treatment he experienced, and we nearly convulsed with laughter at the uncouthness of the noise which he made.

At length we reached the back part of the college, as they are determined to sell cheaper than has ever before been offered to the public.

We joined our strength, and, upon our shoulders, up went the hogshead. A light young fellow, the smallest of the party, climbed up, hoisted the window, and slided up the end of the cask We shook the hogshead violent, but at first to no purpose. The animal was thoroughly trightered, and lay pose. The animal was thoroughly frightened, and lay perfectly will, or with an occasional growl. We shook a again, and he started. There was but one peasible mode of a progression, which was straight forwardand the brute gave a spring through the window.—
There was a crash of glass, a howl, and the terrified animal, crouching in the corner, remained silent. Our little companion closed the sash and leaped down. We rolled the hogshead into a corner of the yard, and reurning to our rooms, continued our revelry till near

It was about noon when I awoke. I hurried on my cloths, passed a wet towel round my head, swalsubject. The class were all wrapt in attention-for the lecturer was an able man, and treating upon "Light," a matter of interest, and capable of heastiful illustration. He had scarcely finished his short and eloquent exordium, before we beard a crash of bottles, and a low, startling growl in the next room. The duration—and then the professor proceeded.
I began to feel alarmed. I remembered what hed een done the night before. Under ordinary circumstances, there was no danger to be apprehended. The bear was tame enough, and had been whipped until he had imbibed a proper sense of the superiority of Chairs, just received and for sale at man. But from the sounds, I judged that Bruin had Z KINZEY'S Fancy Store,
