(From the Morning Express, Saturday July 19) ANOTHER GREAT FIRE!! HALF-PAST THREE. CONFLAGRATION, EXPLOSION, AND PROB-ABLE LOSS OF LIFE!

(From our Reporter.) Just after our paper went to press, a fire broke out in a sperm oil and candle factory, in New street, near Exchange street, and communicated to the adja cent buildings. In a very short time it was hoped the fire had been got under, when a quantity of combusible matter stored in one of the New street stores, exploded with a tremendous crash, tazing some of the one quarter of the amount lost in the great fire ten adjoining stores to the ground, spreading the flames years ago.

brough to, and across Broad street.
The explosion was felt at a great distance; the warehouses in the vicinity of the seat of the explosion vibrated fenrfully—so that their motions wer plainly discernable at a considerable distance; while the sidewalks for whole blocks around the scene of conflagration are literally strewn with the fragments of shattered windows and roofs. The concussion was
