

The Daily Morning Post.

PITTSBURGH, TUESDAY JULY 29, 1845.

The Quebec Fire—The last Montreal Herald contains a report of Quebec abounding in fire. It is full of accounts of the destruction of the city. Nearly three quarters of a fine town are now a blackened heap of ruins.

My interest, like that of other farmers of Allegheny county, consists in having a good market for my corn, wheat and oats, and as Pittsburgh is my market, whatever tends to increase or retard the growth or prosperity, must benefit or injure me.

Examine the quotation closely and its essentialness. He does not pledge himself to vote for a bill giving the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad right way through our State to Pittsburgh, but he pledges by referring to his own interests, as being identical with Pittsburgh, and intimates that if friendly to the Railroad he would not have accepted the nomination.

But there are other reasons, why Mr Brackenridge is just the man that ought not to be sent to Harbinger. To one of us we will now direct the attention of the people. Between Mr Brackenridge and Mr McLean, the President, and we might add the master spirit of this Railroad company, there exists the bitterest hostility.

Mr Brackenridge, to deliver the books in question to his successor, and in his letter, cited the act of Congress of 1837, which declares, "that in case of death, resignation or dismissal from office, all books, &c. shall be delivered to the person appointed to fill the vacancy."

Mr Brackenridge, in reply to the clause that "the law is silent, as to the correct mode of his successor, will not now direct the attention of the people. Between Mr Brackenridge and Mr McLean, the President, and we might add the master spirit of this Railroad company, there exists the bitterest hostility.

Mr Brackenridge, in reply to the clause that "the law is silent, as to the correct mode of his successor, will not now direct the attention of the people. Between Mr Brackenridge and Mr McLean, the President, and we might add the master spirit of this Railroad company, there exists the bitterest hostility.

Mr Brackenridge, in reply to the clause that "the law is silent, as to the correct mode of his successor, will not now direct the attention of the people. Between Mr Brackenridge and Mr McLean, the President, and we might add the master spirit of this Railroad company, there exists the bitterest hostility.

Mr Brackenridge, in reply to the clause that "the law is silent, as to the correct mode of his successor, will not now direct the attention of the people. Between Mr Brackenridge and Mr McLean, the President, and we might add the master spirit of this Railroad company, there exists the bitterest hostility.

Mr Brackenridge, in reply to the clause that "the law is silent, as to the correct mode of his successor, will not now direct the attention of the people. Between Mr Brackenridge and Mr McLean, the President, and we might add the master spirit of this Railroad company, there exists the bitterest hostility.

WOMEN IN THE NINETEENTH CENTURY.—The only way in which any good can be rendered to society, says one of the moderns, is by making woman wofully, and man more manly.

A Western Editor, who is an old bachelor, says: "We never cared a farthing about getting married until we attended an old bachelor's funeral. We thought that our later end may be like his."

A toast drunk at Washington at the celebration of the 4th inst: "Woman—the only sovereign deity that admits to the rights of the declaration of 1776, dearest of our independence."

A savage once said to a white man who was proceeding to the market, "I have a horse for sale. Your whole life is spent in labouring to get things, which you have to sell for nothing."

A distinguished water writer says there is but one passage in the Bible where God is recommended to know the heart of man, and that is in the 12th verse of the 17th chapter of the book of Jeremiah.

A lady writes to her husband, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

A gentleman writes to his friend, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

A gentleman writes to his friend, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

A gentleman writes to his friend, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

A gentleman writes to his friend, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

A gentleman writes to his friend, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

From the N. Y. Evening Post. LETTER FROM MR. BRYANT. London, June 21, 1845.

Nothing can be more striking to one who is accustomed to the little enclosures called parks in our American cities, than the spacious open grounds of London. I doubt, in fact, whether any person fully comprehends the extent, from any of the ordinary descriptions of them, until he has seen them extended to walk over them.

You proceed westwardly in Hyde Park until you are weary, when you find yourself on the verge of Kensington Gardens, a vast extent of ancient woods and increasing lawns, to which the eye sees no limit, and in whose walls it seems as if the population of London might be bred.

A savage once said to a white man who was proceeding to the market, "I have a horse for sale. Your whole life is spent in labouring to get things, which you have to sell for nothing."

A distinguished water writer says there is but one passage in the Bible where God is recommended to know the heart of man, and that is in the 12th verse of the 17th chapter of the book of Jeremiah.

A lady writes to her husband, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

A gentleman writes to his friend, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

A gentleman writes to his friend, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

A gentleman writes to his friend, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

A gentleman writes to his friend, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

A gentleman writes to his friend, "I have just received your letter of the 24th inst. and I am glad to hear that you are well. I have been thinking of you very much since I saw you last."

Married. On Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock, by the Rev. Mr. White, Mr. Henry Johnson, Merchant, to Miss Etta Miller, of this city.

Office of the Spring Garden Mutual Insurance Company. Philadelphia, July 29, 1845.

Notice. D. NICHOLAS CLEIS, has removed his office from Joseph Duhan's, corner of Seventh and Grant streets, to George H. Bell's Spread Eagle Tavern in Liberty street, where he may be found every Wednesday and Saturday, from 10 o'clock, A. M. to 3 P. M.

Auction Sales. By John D. Davis, Auctioneer, corner of West and Fifth sts., at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning the 31st inst., will be sold without reserve, a great quantity of goods, consisting of an extensive assortment of seasonable Dry Goods, Boots, Shoes, and made up Clothing.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

B. S. CONSTABLE, 83 MARKET STREET, PITTSBURGH. OFFERS the remainder of his stock of Summer Goods, to the inspection of all who wish to purchase.

AT EASTERN COST. Fresh Laces, Organdy Gingham, richest styles, at 15 and 31, worth 30 cts.

Notice. D. NICHOLAS CLEIS, has removed his office from Joseph Duhan's, corner of Seventh and Grant streets, to George H. Bell's Spread Eagle Tavern in Liberty street, where he may be found every Wednesday and Saturday, from 10 o'clock, A. M. to 3 P. M.

Auction Sales. By John D. Davis, Auctioneer, corner of West and Fifth sts., at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning the 31st inst., will be sold without reserve, a great quantity of goods, consisting of an extensive assortment of seasonable Dry Goods, Boots, Shoes, and made up Clothing.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice. D. NICHOLAS CLEIS, has removed his office from Joseph Duhan's, corner of Seventh and Grant streets, to George H. Bell's Spread Eagle Tavern in Liberty street, where he may be found every Wednesday and Saturday, from 10 o'clock, A. M. to 3 P. M.

Auction Sales. By John D. Davis, Auctioneer, corner of West and Fifth sts., at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning the 31st inst., will be sold without reserve, a great quantity of goods, consisting of an extensive assortment of seasonable Dry Goods, Boots, Shoes, and made up Clothing.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.

Notice to Contractors. Bureau of Yards and Docks, July 21, 1845.