The shallop arrived safely in the Delaware bay, but had no sooner landed than a body of Narragansetts. who were lying in wait for plunder attacked her, murdering the crew and plandering the vessel of everything on board. Nahwista, being a native of comely appearance, was suffered to depart. She wandered or several miles until she came to a Swedish settlement, where she was hospitably received. Her ultirate object in leaving New Amsterdam was to join Catle, and she was much chagrined and vexed in find ing she was left at so great a distance from Hartfor ! She remained here several months, until a marouding party was about to be started against the English, at Red Mount. She embraced the first opportunity of conferring with the Swedish governor, an ed that she might accompany the party. Her desire was granted, and she set out on foot through the great forest with the expedition. She experienced great fatigue and trial during their long marches, and having
