The agent of the American Fur Company once imagined the noise to proceed from a ship belonging to the company, in listress, and senta boat to the resone. The Porcu. pine mountains are 50 miles from La Point. It is supposed there must be zinc, and other metals incorporated in the copper, and closed up in the mountains, which give out the sounds. The indians have a tradition that this sound, with which they are familiar, is the agry voice of the great spirit, enraged that the copper should be disturbted, and for this reason, BROKEN FAITH AND BROKEN FORTUNES.

Bap Eggs.—An important point was settled BAD Eggs.—An important point was settled in the Court of Common Please, in New York, lately, ramely, that a vender cannot claim payment for bad eggs. The defendant in the suit purchased seven barrols, which proved to be rotten, and they, therefore, refunds, which proved to be rotten, and they, therefore, refunds to pay for them, because they had received no variety through knowledge of the place and finally returned without being surpected. A HOME BESIDE THE HILLS. BY D. C. COLESWORTHY. I would a farmer's life were mine!

O for a home beside the hills,mong the trees—where flocks recline— And the pure dew of heaven distils; Where grateful bisezes fan the cheek And living blossoms scent the air; Where vale, and hill, and streamlet speak, And the Creator's love declare

For a secluded life I sigh;-My soul detests the noise and strife, The heavy air and dusty sky, The endless cares of city life: To mingle with the busting throng, I feel my spirit was not made,— For when I hear the wild-wood song, Grandeur and love my soul pervade

I feel at home when I can stray In sunny glens and dreamy woods,
And see the rippling streams that play
Amid the lonely solitudes:— I love to linger all alone, And list the music of the breeze;-Sometimes a sweet and mournful tone It plays among the whispering trees. A life among the hills, I ask;-

Tis all I ask, O God! of thee,...

That I may in thy sunshine back With skies so puro, and winds so free: Where, night and morning, I can feet A peace within-alove to all,-With not a care my joys to steal, From Neal's Saturday Gazette
