PITTSBURGH, PA.

TUESDAY MORNING, NOVEMBER 25.

PITTSBURGH BOARD OF TRADE.

COMMITTEE FOR NOVEMBER.

W. Eichbaum. A. Gordon. James Marshall.

CORRESPONDENTS.

In reference to communications which may appear in this paper, we have one or two remarks to make.—We will insert none without the name of the author being first made known to us, and when inserted, must always be taken as expressive of the views of the writer, and not the editor of this paper, unless the views so expressed are editorially remarked upon and approved.

DEDICATION OF THE SECOND PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.—The Second Presbyterian Church, which has just been completed, will be dedicated to the service of the Almighty, on (Thanksgiving day) Thursday next. The services will commence at half past 10 o'clock. The building is exceedingly beautiful, and reflects great credit upon the architect. It is, we think, the best arranged edifice of the kind, in the city.

POLICE.—Mayor's Office, Nov. 24th, seven cases before his honor on Sunday morning. Six committed to Mount Airy—one paid his fine and aloped. On Monday morning there was two cases, one committed for 24 hours. One case of surety of the peace held to bail in the sum of $200.

THE POST OFFICE.—We have been requested to give notice that on Thursday next, (Thanksgiving day,) the Post Office will be open but three hours from 7 to 10 o'clock in the morning.

DEDICATION NOTICE.

By leave of Divine Providence, the building erected on Fifth street, between Wood and Market sts., by the Second Presbyterian Congregation of this city, will be dedicated to its sacred purpose as a church for the worship of Almighty God, on Thursday next, (Thanksgiving Day.)

Rev. Robert J. Breckenridge, D. D., president of Jefferson College, will preach in the morning; services commencing at 4 past ten o'clock. Rev. L. W. Green, D. D. will preach in the evening; services commencing at 4 past six o'clock. After the close of each Sermon, a collection will be taken up in aid of the expenses incurred by the congregation. The Rev. Clergy, and the public generally, are respectfully invited to attend. By order of session.

LUKE LOOMIS, Clerk.

BY LAST NIGHT'S MAIL.

From the New York Herald.

Highly Important from Europe.
ARRIVAL OF THE STEAM SHIP
BRITANNIA.
13 DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

By the arrival of the steamship Britannia, at Boston, we have later advices from England.

The Railway mania, after a most extraordinary course, has at last received a deadly check; and as the illusions by which all classes have been deceived, fade daily away, the forms of ruin, utter beggary and want, rise up before the deluded victims of the projectors of hundreds of moonshine companies. Now that people are beginning to look at it with unjaundiced eyes, a most enormous system of swindling is beginning to be developed. The revulsion is but just in its commencement, but it already assumes so fearful an aspect, that Sir Robert Peel is holding cabinet councils, to deliberate upon means to alleviate the misery which it will inevitably bring. He has invited Mr. Hudson, the "Railway King," to spend a few days at his Manor, for the purpose of devising together an efficient working plan. Mr. Hudson's influence with the legitimate railway world, it is said, is perhaps, greater than that of any man living, and what he sanctions in the way of check or simplicity will, with the prestige of his name go down. This revulsion has been brought about measurably through the instrumentality of the London Times, but the following paragraph from an English paper, gives a good general idea of the causes.

The Times has been foremost in this work of "flutering the Volcians." It matters little what motives may have prompted the potentates or Printing house Square to sound the tocsin; whether jealousy of their contemporaries, or vexation that they did not participate equally in the spoil, or a determination to destroy the game of those who did all this is beside the question. "We try the act, the motive Heaven can judge." The only regret is, that it was not done sooner. But certain it is, that the Times, true to its character of seizing the right moment for acting upon fears, or controlling the public mind, kicked the beam at the critical instant, and to some extent produced the revulsion which is now witnessed. But without desiring to underrate the power and influence of the poor man in question, it would be weak to attribute the prostration in the shire market solely to its thunder. The Bank of England, the critical state in which the fool of the country has been placed by the harvest, and the state of the potatoe crop above all, and beyond all, the ridiculous experiments which the projectors of the numberless moonshine companies made upon the common sense of mankind—these causes, irrespective of the diurnal monitor, have faced the declension to its present point. The wreck of fortune and of character which this temporary insanity has produced, will be felt long after the causes that produced it have passed away.

The failure of the potatoe crop becomes more and more disastrous, and in Ireland especially it will cause a general and distressing misery. So pressing has the necessity for a remedy, and a supply of other food become, that Cabinet Councils have been held at which the proposition of opening the ports of the Kingdom for the admission of breadstuffs DUTY FREE has been discussed, and it is very probable that it will be carried into effect.

The cotton market was in a depressed condition.

The Irontrade continued brisk, and masters and workmen were well employed. A slight decline had taken place in the price of pig iron, and it was quoted the date of the steamer's sailing, £5 15s. in Glasgow. The rates were still high and remunerative however.

Trade in the manufacturing districts, was in a state of comparative prostration, nearly all descriptions of produce had received a check, but it was hoped it would not be lasting.

The state of feeling, which has been induced by the failure of the crops, is well indicated in the following paragraph from an English paper:—

Famine—gaunt, horrible, destroying famine, scenes impending. Fears have seized the public mind In Ireland matters look appalling—in England gloomy. The granaries of the continent are exhausted. The corn fields of the Vistula, the Danube, and the Elbe, are barely sufficient for the local wants of the inhabitants. The nation is in commotion and the cry of "Open the ports and let in corn duty free" is heard on all sides, reverberated from every part of the empire. The "pressure from without" has made itself heard in Downing st and forth in the abiding scale—Peele's sliding scale—is gone for ever. A third of the potatoe crop in Ireland is destroyed. The Government has sent scientific professors to the scene of the mischief, and the awful truth is out! that this large portion of the people's food is unfit for use. What is to be done in this terrible, this unlooked for emergency!—"Open the ports!" is the exclamation; and there stands the shivering Premier, like a reed in the wind paralysed between affection for his sliding scale and the horrors of public famine. But necessity is superior to consistency, superior even to law. The ports must be opened. O'Connell, who assumes to be the tribune of the Irish people, goes beyond this. He demands a grant of public money to the extent of a million and a half, to be expended in the purchase of food—he calls for a tax of fifty per cent, on the absentees, and a tax of ten per cent on the residents—he asks for the prohibition of corn and provisions leaving the island—and the prevention of distilleries consuming grain. Large demands these—will they be conceded? A day or two will solve the question.

Every thing proclaims the speedy extinction of the sliding scale—the tone of the government organs, the language of the professed supporters of the ministry, the feeling in the public mind. It has long been seen and foretold that the first, season of scarcity would fix its doom. Peel is a good actor, his "shivering" is probably stimulated, not real. Placed between cross fires, exposed on his flank and his rear, it is necessary that he should play his part so as not to appear to give a triumph to either party. This he has done—this he is doing. But it is suspected by those who appear to know him best, that his leadings are toward aliberal commercial, in contradiction to a monopolist, policy.

IRELAND.

The accounts from the Sister Island for some days past, as regards the potatoe crop, are of very serious and alarming character. The failure is dreadful in the extreme, and the prospects before the great majority of the lower classes truly horrifying. Commissioners have been employed to visit the different provinces, and to report to his Excellency the result of their examination. Up to the present time these reports are of the most discouraging character.

The agitation of Repeal is still carried on. Since the sailing of the last American steamer a number of monster meetings and repeal banquets have taken place; at all of which the Liberator figured as commander-in chief, and long and elegant orations were made.

The Orange party have issued an address to the Protestants of the British Empire, in which they complain of Government for permanently endowing Maynooth, maintaing the present national system of education, and not advancing money to enable the clergy of the established Church to support their own schools. These form the chief grievances. There are other minor ones—some of them anticipated or expected. The address, which bears the signature of the Earl of Roden, after recommending the discontinuance of secret signs, which system it says, "modern sedition has polluted, and the law has denounced," concludes by calling upon the Protestant party to exert every energy to secure to their utmost a faithful representation of their principles in Parliament. It should be observed that the address has been drawn up in a very moderate tone.

The Meeting at Conciliatory Hall are still carried on, and speeches delivered in advocacy of repeal; whilst the various steps taken by the ministry in conducting the affairs of the government are severely criticized, and generally condemned. The amount of rent has not been so large for the last two weeks.—The rent for the week was £248 15s 11d.

The Dublin Corporation held a meeting on the 29th ult, for considering the best means of avoiding the danger impending the extensive failure of the potatoe crop. Mr O'Connell attended; who, after a long speech, moved that a deputation should wait upon His Excellency the Lord Lieutenant, and call on his lordship and the Government to stop the distilleries and the breweries—to prevent the exportation of provisions to foreign countries; to raise a million and a half on the credit of the Irish Woods and Forests—and to take immediately into their consideration the levying of a very large income tax for the present year, if necessary. The motion was put and exrried.

The Dublin papers state that the custom house authorities in that city have been directed to make arrangements for the admission of corn, duty free, on and after the 1st of November.

FRANCE.

The announcement of the resignation of the brave old veteran Soult appears to be based on truth. It is now said that although he will resign the post of Minister of War, he will still nominally retain the Presidency of the Council. The French telegraph has been busily engaged in transmitting to Paris the story of the war in Algeria. The French forces had left Gran with 5,000 men in quest of Abdel Kader; whether they will take, or overtake him, is another question. Abdle is said to treat his French prisoners well and handsomely,—and, in doing so, he sets an example which it would have been to the credit of the French arms, had they imitated towards his countrymen.

INDIA.

The news which came to hand by the last Overland Mail possesses little interest, either in a political or a commercial sense. Sir Henry Hardinge, was on his way to the Upper Provinces, with an army under his command every way calculated to inflict summary punishment on the treacherous and refractory Sikhs. The cholera, which the previous accounts represented as violent and fatal, was on the decrease.
