

SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY ON THE FINANCES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2, 1915. The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Clegg, today issued the following report on the finances of the United States for the fiscal year ending on the 30th day of September, 1915.

Table with columns: Receipts, Disbursements, Balance. Includes sub-sections for Receipts from Customs, Internal Revenue, and Disbursements for Current Operations, Debt Service, etc.

From the Secretary of the Treasury. The report shows that the total receipts for the fiscal year were $1,447,437,000, and the total disbursements were $1,447,437,000.

Mr. Clegg's report to the House of Representatives. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the Senate. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the President. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the public. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the Congress. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the people. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the world. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the future. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the past. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the present. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

It is not to be understood that it may be collected, and if it is not collected, it cannot be collected, and if it is not collected, it cannot be collected.

The Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Clegg, today issued the following report on the finances of the United States for the fiscal year ending on the 30th day of September, 1915.

From the Secretary of the Treasury. The report shows that the total receipts for the fiscal year were $1,447,437,000, and the total disbursements were $1,447,437,000.

Mr. Clegg's report to the House of Representatives. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the Senate. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the President. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the public. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the Congress. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the people. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the world. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the future. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the past. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the present. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the future. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the past. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the present. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the future. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the past. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the present. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.

Mr. Clegg's report to the future. He stated that the government's financial position is sound and that the revenue is sufficient to meet the government's needs.