The Great Convention. THE PEOPLE OF THE WEST HAVE SPOKEN. There was, truly, a great gathering of the Western people in Allegheny city, yesterday. We have heard the number in attendance estimated, as high as twenty five hundred! The most conclusive evidence as to the unanimity, as well as to the excited state of public feeling now existing in Western Pennsylvafact, that the Delegates in attendance from distant counties were numerous beyond all expectation .tion and Venango, there was nearly FOUR HUN- were unanimously adopted.

Mashington, Beaver, Mercer, Butler, Crawford, Erie, Armstrong, Indiana, Cambria, Huntingdon, McKean and Cumberland, were all, and some of them quite numerously represented. We must not forget Allegheny—she too had a great number of Delegates in attendance. Twent-one counties were represented in the Convention. We think we may safely assert that the Convention of yesterday, in point of numbers and respectability, has seldom been expectable. The popule were
